

WANT SUGAR KEPT FOR FOOD PURPOSES

Candy Manufacturers Opposed to Turning Sugar Into Alcohol.

TO SEE MR. HANNA

Fear Misuse of Raw Sugar May Result in Reducing Canada's Quota.

Toronto manufacturing associations and wholesale dealers in candies are considerably perturbed by conditions affecting the Canadian sugar industry, particularly as to the agitation now going on to get the food commission to prohibit the making of candy from cane sugar as a war measure, and as a means of conserving the sugar supply of the country.

The agitation to stop candy-making has been taken up by the Ontario Women's Institutes and other women's organizations, who are bringing pressure to bear upon the food controller to accomplish their ends.

Should Stop Distilleries. "Before the controller is moved to interfere with the candy trade," said one of those who attended the conference, "he ought at least to investigate the report that some of the distilleries are still engaged in turning out alcohol, and if he finds it is true, the least he can do is to stop this class of the business before he attempts to touch the candy-makers."

"Candy, it is needless to say, is a food product of great value in the maintenance of health and is in itself a highly concentrated form of physical energy. It has demonstrated its value among our soldiers in the trenches and on long and fatiguing marches. Medical scientists everywhere agree as to its nutritive and body-building value."

"From what we are told, on the one hand, a very considerable quantity of the raw sugar and molasses now being imported into this country finds its way into the production of distilled spirits, for which there is little or no excuse. Not only can alcohol be produced from other and cheaper materials, but there is now held in Canada a great quantity of distilled spirits, sufficient to meet every legitimate need of the country for many months to come, if applied to that purpose. We are decidedly of the opinion that the food controller should stop the making of alcohol from sugar before he listens to those who want to stop the use of cane sugar in the making of candy."

Several other candy manufacturers seen by The World, talked in a similar strain.

No Sugar Famine Feared. "So far as we are aware," said one of them, "there is no sugar famine in Canada, today, and no immediate likelihood of one, although we are experiencing more or less difficulty in getting all the sugar we would like to have. Part of the trouble, we understand, is due to the belated sugar crops from Cuba, which will not be available until the middle of January. Canada is dependent for its supply of raw sugar upon the International Sugar Commission of New York, and we have heard of fear that if the making of alcohol from sugar is allowed to continue here, the price may result in less raw sugar being allotted to Canada than would otherwise be the case. The International Committee will probably take the view that if Canada is to fear that she can afford to devote any part of it to the production of alcohol, she can get along with a good deal less of the raw material. The candy manufacturers are more concerned about this phase of the situation going on here to stop the making of candy."

FOREIGNERS GIVE TRIBUNALS LABOR

All Nationalities Apply for Exemption on All Manner of Claims and Quota Excesses.

One of the most difficult matters that the tribunals of the city have to deal with is the quota question. Yesterday at tribunal 360 there came up for exemption nine foreigners. Not all of these were exempted under the War-time Exemption Act, a great many being still citizens of their native land. Two Rumanians, two Austrians, two Greeks, a Turk, a Russian and an Italian made up the list. Several of them had no papers whatever; had lost their passports could not bring any evidence to back up their statements. One could not speak a word of English and had to be heard thru an interpreter. One man claimed to have been married five years ago in Italy, his wife being still there, but he had no marriage certificate, or any proof of his statement. One of the most glaring cases was that of Jacob Rabinoff, 54 De-foe street. He had lived here with his father, mother, five sisters and three brothers for eleven years, and claimed exemption as a Russian subject.

"You have enjoyed the freedom and protection of this country for eleven years. You have never sought to become naturalized. I think you should be forced to fight for it any way," said Mr. Heazelwood.

Complaints still come into the tribunals about the medical examination. E. H. Hurling appeared with an A category. He was accompanied by his mother, who produced a certificate from the family physician saying the boy had been in poor health most of his life. His heart was very weak, causing him to faint at the least shock.

"If we said 'Disallowed,' would the shock make you faint?" asked the tribunal.

"I don't mean a shock like that," the tribunal agreed to have him re-examined, and he rose to go. Before he could get out of the room he sank to the ground in a faint and caused quite a commotion in the court.

John T. Bruce of 66 Lee avenue came up with a C class certificate. "So you don't serve?" said a member of the tribunal.

"I don't think you should say that, sir, for I've tried to enlist voluntarily three times, I'm no slacker, and it's kind of hard to have to come here," said the applicant.

The tribunal explained that they did not mean it in the way he took it up.

"What are you applying for exemption on?" asked Judge Morison of Sam Rottenberg.

"I am married," was the unexpected answer.

"When?" "Four years ago."

"Where do you live?" asked Captain Patterson. "In Kitchener."

"I am sorry for you," said the captain. As a benedict Rottenberg is exempt.

A. C. Pritchard, 38 Batavia avenue, since putting in his application for exemption, has taken a wife, and tribunal No. 372 desired to know why.

"Here you make application as the sole support of a widowed mother," made that application before I married."

"Then why did you get married and add to your obligations?"

"He did it now I was going to get married."

Silence! Decision deferred.

RADICAL CHANGE FOR TECHNICAL INSTRUCTORS

Department Will Inaugurate Course of Instruction to Better Qualify Them for Their Work.

The industrial advisory committee of the board of education met last night for the first time in the Technical High School, instead of in the administration building. Benson was appointed as assistant manual training instructor for the school.

The Ontario Department of Education is going to bring about a very radical change. Previously the instructors in such subjects as carpentry, painting, mechanics, etc., were not qualified school teachers. The department does not wish to turn these men out on this account, and so it has arranged for a course of 16 lectures to be delivered to them on subjects that will fit them to properly teach the subjects that they know so well themselves. Mr. Rutherford, of the Technical School staff, has been chosen by the department as lecturer and the committee last night decided to allow Mr. Rutherford off from his night classes for two nights a week in order that he may deliver addresses at Toronto, Hamilton and London, but he will have to supply a substitute at his own expense.

After the general business of the evening was over the members of the committee went to visit the various classes through the building, but found they were a little late. There are more than 1000 more pupils this year than last. Over 7500 attend each week. What surprised and pleased the committee was the number of millionaires' daughters who were availing themselves of the opportunities afforded by the night classes in household science, millinery and dressmaking at the school. At the next meeting of the committee the inspection of the classes will take place before the regular business, so the members can see more what is being done.

REPORT CAPTAIN INCORRECTLY

In reporting the remarks of Capt. O. H. Heazelwood in Trinity Methodist Church on Sunday evening, a mistake was unintentionally made. Capt. Heazelwood never said that he was satisfied that among the young men born in Canada of Anglo-Saxon parents, there were few slackers, the majority of whom having good reasons for not having enlisted. The World regrets that it reported Capt. Heazelwood as saying precisely the opposite, and takes this opportunity of correcting the mistake.

BRAZILIAN PIANISTE IS GIFTED MUSICIAN

Guimaraes' Second Appearance in Toronto is Triumphant March to Popularity With Music Lovers.

Guimaraes, the gifted Brazilian pianist, made her second appearance in Toronto at the Convention Hall last night, under the distinguished patronage of the Duchess of Devonshire and the management of the Women's Musical Club, to which organization she is indebted for her introduction to one of the most popular musicians of the day.

The young artist played with an individuality all her own, displaying from start to finish of her exacting program a thorough and scholarly acquaintance with the compositions she interpreted, her technique and versatility being such as to demand all the adjectives to be found in the manual of admiring criticism, and yet to do so with a simplicity and directness that made her playing a pleasure to the audience.

Chopin's Sonata in B minor, Op. 35, was the opening number, in which the introductory allegro maestoso, the beautiful "Presto" of the finale being given with such skill as to leave nothing to be desired. Repeated and hearty applause rewarded the player. In the next group, which included "Melody" (Grieg-Schubert), "Pavane" and "Nocturne in F major" (Schumann), and the Turkish March from the "Rhapsody of Athens," it was the last number that proved the impelling selection of the program, the ringing rhythm and aviv-like notes and chords producing a climax that roused to insistent recalls the artist repeated its first presentation.

"La Soiree Dans Grenade" (Debussy), the two last favorites, "Murmuring Woods," played with velvet touch, and "Dance of the Gnomes," perhaps the most realistic of the evening, concluded the program, at the conclusion of which the player laid to appear to please the audience.

Novalis is an exceptional artist, with a sense of rhythm and an unaffected and girlish manner winning her an abiding place in the memory of her audience, to whom she will always be a welcome visitor.

SCORE'S ESTATE SALE SUGGESTION FOR TODAY.

Our advice to men who have a real appreciation of worth and value in high-class woollens and high-class tailored clothes would be to take fullest advantage of the sale because we never had such values to offer you selection from as today, and the way prices have risen in high-class woollens means that it may be many a day before we could quote such prices for equal values, and that makes it of special interest to mention one very superior range Scotch tweed business suitings and winter overcoatings, regular $38 value, specially discounted to $30. AMAZING POWER OF BON-OPTO TO MAKE WEAK EYES STRONG

Doctor Says It Strengthens Eyesight 50 per cent. in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope and help for many whose eyes are failing say they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable prescription and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see at all. Now I can read every thing without my glasses, and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me."

A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can read even the print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eye strain caused by overworked, tired eyes, which induced fierce headaches. I have worn glasses for several years, both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope of the type-writer on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my four distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what this simple remedy has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them by using this simple time and multitude more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever fitting glasses. Eye troubles of every description may be wonderfully benefited by the use of this prescription at home. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet into a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start, and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent physician, to whom the above article was submitted, said: "The Bon-Opto prescription is truly a wonderful eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own eyes, and I highly recommend it to cases of weak, watery, aching, smarting, itching, burning, red, itchy, inflamed eyes, sun, dust or wind. It is one of the very few preparations (that should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family)." Bon-Opto, referred to above, is not a patent medicine or a secret remedy. It is an ethical preparation, the formula being given in full on the wrapper. The manufacturer guarantees it to strengthen eyesight to per cent. in one week's time in many instances, or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is sold in this city by Dr. Lewis.
