WITHOUT NOTICE.

Without even coming to the office to give notice, the composing room staff of the Times quit work this morning.

This included the foreman, linotype operators and printers.

These men had no grievance. They had made no complaint to the management. The union scale of wages was paid, and union hours observed.

But the Times is under the same ownership as the Telegraph, and the strike is an attempt to cripple the whole establishment and compel the owner to become a collecting agency for the union.

The Times must crave the forbearance of its readers for a few days until its staff has been brought up to the requisite standard.

The following statement from this morning's Telegraph tells the story:—

The amount of news in The Telegraph is somewhat reduced this morning, although as event of importance is omitted. The cause is a strike involving some of the company's employees who quit work last night in an attempt to make this newspaper a collecting agency for the St. John Typographical Union.

The question in dispute does not in any way relate to wages or to hours of labor. The Telegraph has paid the union scale and observed the union hours. The men who are on strike have been well paid and well used.

The one question is: Shall the owner of this business control it, or shall it be controlled by his employees?

That is a question which every employer of labor and every other self-respecting citizen must apply to his own case in considering this one.

A word more as to the origin of the trouble. Since the strike in The Times office, fifteen months ago, The Telegraph has been run under the open shop principle. That doctrine was clearly laid down at the time of the previous trouble. Attempts have been made to "unionize" the office throughout, but they have been unsuccessful, although union men were employed and treated exactly like the others.

A few weeks ago the management was notified that several employees who had belonged to the union had long neglected to pay their dues. The sums in arrears were considerable. Failing to compel these men to pay, the union asked the Telegraph Publishing Co. to force them to settle the union bills. The company declined to interfere, saying it was not a collecting agency and that the proposal was unreasonable.

The men, so far as the company was concerned, were at liberty to pay their dues or refuse to pay them, as they chose. One or two union employees objected to this attitude, saying the men whose dues were in arrears should be compelled to pay up or get out. The management declined absolutely to interfere. The union agitation continued, and the management, in connection with other changes which were being made, discharged the union man who was most active in promoting the trouble. That was a week ago. Last night several of the union men walked out.

The Telegraph will be issued as usual. It will be somewhat short handed for a day or two, but no longer. The company proposes to conduct its own affairs and to accept no dictation from any of its employees. In this decision it is confident it will have a full measure of public support in view of the simple facts here presented.

HOW CANADA LOSES

Speaking of the loss the Dominion suffers by sending away its pulpwood to build up in the United States industrial centres which should be established here at home, the Pulp & Paper Magazine says:

"Once upon a time, a man settled on some forest land in Pontiac County, Quebec, far from other settlements. He grew a crop of potatoes, and in clearing the land for these he started a fire which destroyed 300,000,000 feet of pine. At present prices this pine would be worth $300,000 to the Government in stumpage fees, $1,800,000 in lumbermen's wages, and probably $1,200,000 in profit to the limit holder; altogether $3,300,000 of good money. The crop of potatoes amounted to five bushels, worth at the outside less than $5, and that country today is a desert worthless for any purpose whatever! *

"Canada today is letting her live neighbor to the South get hundreds of thousands of cords of pulpwood at a price ranging from say five to eight dollars. These same cords of pulpwood bring $30 to $50 in the shape of paper.

"The two great national wastes which these two facts so pointedly exemplify are taking hold of the popular mind in a way that will make the campaign of education proceed at a rapid pace.

"And this it is certainly doing. The movement in favor of restricting the export of pulpwood is growing on all hands—in the press, in Parliament, and in popular estimation."

Many men are looking for good jobs. The men who abandoned good jobs in this office, where they received union wages, enjoyed union hours, and were well treated, have listened to very bad advice. Comfortable employment at from $14 to $29 a week is not always to be had for the asking.

Record Breaker at the Harvey Sale.

"The biggest business I have ever done at an anniversary sale, almost seven times as much business as I did on the opening day, seven years ago," is the way J. N. Harvey described the Saturday rush at the opening day of his big seventh anniversary sale in his newly equipped and enlarged store in the Opera House block. While the establishment was comfortably filled during the forenoon and after dinner the press of business in the evening was beyond clearing capacity, though the number of men behind the counter was doubled for the sale. The response to the Harvey bargain announcement was immediate and generous, and everybody was delighted with the bargains. The great sale of clothing and furnishings will continue all this week. The stores will be open evenings till 9 o'clock for the convenience of those who cannot come during the day.
