THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

SOME RADICAL CHANGES. The ferry committee decided yesterday to procure boxes into which passengers by the ferry will drop their fares, and also boxes for the gamemen, into which gamblers will drop their fares. The mates of the boats will also count the number of teams crossing at each trip.

These important changes are expected to increase the speed of the Ludlow, and make more complete, the discipline of the crew, although Admiral Glasgow proudly declared yesterday that the discipline is already as effective as that on a man-of-war. It is understood that some further changes are contemplated. At present no employes of the ferry is permitted to give any information to a citizen. All enquiries are referred to the admiral. It is now proposed to arm each employe with a club, and it will be his duty if any citizen asks a question to knock the offender if he is also understood that to make the ferry service more regular and satisfactory to the patrons, the committee will hang some pictures in the cabins, and provide a library for the use of the patrons.

The rumor that it was the intention of the committee to provide the Ludlow with a crew who would not be afraid of her, but who would put her through on schedule time, is too silly to be believed. The committee will not depart for a moment from the policy which combines the best of the old and the new. It is understood that some further changes are contemplated. At present no employes of the ferry is permitted to give any information to a citizen. All enquiries are referred to the admiral. It is now proposed to arm each employe with a club, and it will be his duty if any citizen asks a question to knock the offender if he is also understood that to make the ferry service more regular and satisfactory to the patrons, the committee will hang some pictures in the cabins, and provide a library for the use of the patrons.

WILL HAVE JURY TO DECIDE THE GAMES

Berlin, June 2.—The most important act of the international council of the Olympic games that has been in session here was the recommendation of the principle of an international jury to decide the events in future Olympiads. The council took under consideration the unfortunate controversies that arose in London in 1908, and finally decided that it was wiser to introduce an international system of judging, rather than leave this to the sole control of the country, whose athletes take place. The Swedish representative accepted this view.

The council, it is said, did not act in a spirit of criticism of anything that has happened in England, its opinion was that the contests could be conducted with greater good will if they were under international control.
