

HOTEL MAID AND MILLIONAIRE WED

Girl Had Aided Man After Having Been Lost in Scotland Storm.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Oct. 24.—Miss Betty Dunlop, a Scottish hotel maid, has just been married to Hugh M. Annatt, a Scottish-American millionaire.

Their romance began when Mr. Annatt, visiting his home in Forfarshire, after making a fortune in Florida, was caught in a storm and lost his way. Night came on, and the proprietor of the hotel at Glenisla, where Mr. Annatt was staying, sent a chauffeur out to search for him. Mr. Annatt was found exhausted and almost unconscious on a rock in a glen.

He was carried back to the hotel, where Miss Dunlop, one of the maids there, wrapped him in blankets and made him lie before a blazing fire in the kitchen. In this way she prevented a serious illness.

Mr. Annatt fell in love with his self-appointed nurse, and their marriage at Glenisla parish church was the sequel.

The honeymoon is to be a six months' tour of the world.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Rev. John Deason, aged 62, was conducting a funeral service at Great Broughton, Cumberland, a few days ago when the wind carried away his clerical cap, which fell on the coffin in the open grave, covering the name plate.

"I think that is a bad omen," he remarked afterwards, much perturbed by the incident. Two nights later he was found dead in his bed.
