He strongly arraigned Major-General Miles, commander-in-chief. He read his testimony from a long written statement. He denied the numerous statements of General Miles, and charged that the latter's testimony constituted severe reflections on the commanding general, Nelson A. Miles. Continuing, he said that General Miles, the best furnished of the troops, "unbanned beef" was a "liar, lied in his throat, lied in his heart, lied in every part of the body," and that General Miles, "a man who perpetrated a gross scandal, and who would be drummed out of the service by every honest man and barred by every club." He characterized his interviews as "lith."

QUEBEC LEGISLATURE. Opened To-day—The Speech From the Throne.

Quebec, Jan. 12.—The lieutenant-governor in his speech from the throne at the opening of the legislature to-day said: "High, Gentlemen of the Legislature, Council, Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly, I have come to resume your legislative labors after a year's interruption. Many events have occurred. The departure of Lord Aberdeen is a fresh reminder of the memory of the past. We saw with regret this popular governor-general depart from our midst. The Countess of Aberdeen and he have left a lasting impression in the hearts of the people of this country. Lady Minto may be assured in advance of the sincere affection of all Canada. During the period the Catholic Church in Canada has had to regret the disappearance of its illustrious pastor, His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau, who was remarkable above all for the unalterable calmness of a superior mind. Among the occurrences of the year just ended I must not pass over the meeting in this capital during the month of August last of the international conference charged with the duty of harmonizing the many relations between the population of the United States and ourselves. The presence in our midst of the notable men to whom negotiations of so grave and delicate a nature were confided was a source of satisfaction, and even of pride to the inhabitants of this city, and at the same time a tribute to the oldest province of the confederation. Measures of great importance have been adopted during this session, the object whereof will be to improve the administration of several branches of the public service. Among these measures I wish to call your very particular attention to that which relates to public instruction. Without in any way affecting the principles which form the basis of our school system, this legislation will materially contribute to the improvement of the system of primary education. The decision rendered by the judicial committee of the privy council, the government of Canada and of the provincial governments over the fisheries of this country has not been without importance in this important matter. The accounts for the past fiscal year and the estimates for the year 1899-1900 will be submitted to you without delay. Notwithstanding the extreme difficulties my government has succeeded, if not completely doing

COTTAGE CITY IN PORT

She Brings News of a Tragedy on the White Pass—Gold Found Near Two Alaskan Cities.

Prisoners Brought Down From Juneau—Major Bliss Coming on the Amur—Destination at Dawson.

Steamer Cottage City reached the outer wharf at noon with a large number of passengers, miners and others, from the southeastern coast. There were very few from Dawson, but four or five. Among these was Constable Dunn, of the Northwest Mounted Police, who brought out the documents and correspondence lost by Corp. Richardson near Big Salmon. He also brought out a prisoner, a miner, who in the pellucid statement of the white man, gold fields had lost his reason. He became insane at Tagish and imagines that everyone is trying to rob him of his fortune, but he placed the most implicit faith in the constable. He was turned over to the authorities here. There were four of those convicted at the Juneau assizes and sentenced to jail at Skagway. These were George W. Wilder and Turner Jackson, who were accused of assault with a dangerous weapon on the day Soapy Smith was killed, and Ed. Ray, the murderer of Marshal Bowyer, and C.
