

who will be added to the South Africa

Another Battle. Capetown, Oct. 31. 12.20 p.m.—The South Africa News publishes the following dispatch: "Ladysmith, Oct. 31.—A battle is proceeding at the foot of Lombard's, a few miles from Ladysmith.

London Press Comments. The news of the British reverse was received in Dublin with similar scenes of grief and dismay. The disaster had an immediate effect on the Stock Exchange here, where consols fell 1/2 and South African securities fell heavily.

The afternoon papers made only brief editorial comment on the news from Ladysmith, but their headlines voiced the feeling of general dismay. The tone of the editorials can be summed up by the following of the St. James's Gazette: "It is evident that the patriotism and the feeling of the nation are to be tested in real earnest by these operations in Natal.

Buller Welcomed at Capetown. One announcement to-day was received by the British with unalloyed satisfaction, namely, the arrival of General Buller at Capetown. But it is pointed out that Buller cannot end his journey without an army corps and some of the troops which are to compose it have not even left England for South Africa.

Dispatches from Capetown show that Buller's reception there was most enthusiastic. He was welcomed by General Sir Frederick Forester-Walker, after which both entered a carriage and drove to the government house, escorted by mounted police and mounted volunteers.

THE NEWS IN LONDON. War Office Besieged With Inquiries.—Second Army Corps Ordered to be in Readiness.

London, Oct. 31.—It is learned by the Associated Press that the war office has ordered a second army corps to be in readiness to be called out.

Military officials have not decided whether the consummation of the plan will be necessary, but the staffs are determined to have everything in readiness for a demonstration in Europe of Great Britain's capabilities, or for sending even a larger force to the scene of action.

Particulars Not Yet Published. While minor reverses were not wholly unexpected, no Englishman ever dreamed that anything like the staggering blow that Gen. Joubert delivered to Gen. White's forces yesterday threatened the British army in South Africa, and apparently the full extent of the disaster is not yet acknowledged.

Enquiry at the war office seems to indicate that the military dispatches contain other particulars, which it is deemed inexpedient to publish immediately, but the serious nature of which is not disguised.

The story as already known, however, is sufficiently bad. The loss in effective men must be appalling to a general who is practically surrounded. Two of the finest British regiments and a mule battery deducted from the Ladysmith garrison weakens it about a fifth of its total strength, and alters the whole situation very materially in favor of the Boers.

Its Effect on the Boers. Apart from the immediate loss in effectiveness which will seriously cripple Gen. White's operations, the British defeat must have a depressing effect on the remainder of the Ladysmith forces, while it may be expected to have much weight with Boers who are wavering as to which side to support, and it will immensely raise the morale of the Boer forces and bring crowds of recruits to their standard.

White Accepts Responsibility. Further news must be awaited before it is attempted to stanch blame where it belongs. Gen. White manfully accepts all the discredit attaching to the disaster, which apparently was at least partially due to the stampeding of the mules with the guns.

Scenes in the Street. "Awful British disaster," yelled gowboys to-day, and all London stayed its course, and read the extras containing official acknowledgment of a British reverse.

The announcement appeared about an hour when shopkeepers crowded the Oxford streets, and Biscadilly. Women stopped their carriages in the streets and hailed the boys. Out of fashionable stores women ran for papers. They stood stock still in crowded streets, scanning the pages of the extras.

Having read of the reverse, such as does not exist in memory of living British subjects, the men set their teeth and walked on with hardened troubled faces, while some women cried.

Then there was a rush to the war office, which by noon was surrounded with private carriages and hackmen, while many of the humbler class of people came on foot, all waiting for the possible posting among the lost of dead, the names they held dear.

valled throughout the British metropolis.

Throughout the length and breadth of Great Britain the news, to-day, that about 2,000 men had been killed or captured, for such as the estimate of the best authorities, based on General White's dispatch.

As the day wore on the crowd around the War Office swelled to enormous proportions, and at Gloucester, the home of many of those engaged, the wildest excitement prevailed. Special editions of the local newspapers were speedily exhausted, and the same thing occurred at Bristol and other towns in that county.

It is estimated that the patriot and the feeling of the nation are to be tested in real earnest by these operations in Natal. General White had a difficult task set him, and we must take the disaster with the dogged coolness which Britons know how to display.

It is pointed out that Buller cannot end his journey without an army corps and some of the troops which are to compose it have not even left England for South Africa.

Dispatches from Capetown show that Buller's reception there was most enthusiastic. He was welcomed by General Sir Frederick Forester-Walker, after which both entered a carriage and drove to the government house, escorted by mounted police and mounted volunteers.

THE NEWS IN LONDON. War Office Besieged With Inquiries.—Second Army Corps Ordered to be in Readiness.

London, Oct. 31.—It is learned by the Associated Press that the war office has ordered a second army corps to be in readiness to be called out.

Military officials have not decided whether the consummation of the plan will be necessary, but the staffs are determined to have everything in readiness for a demonstration in Europe of Great Britain's capabilities, or for sending even a larger force to the scene of action.

Particulars Not Yet Published. While minor reverses were not wholly unexpected, no Englishman ever dreamed that anything like the staggering blow that Gen. Joubert delivered to Gen. White's forces yesterday threatened the British army in South Africa, and apparently the full extent of the disaster is not yet acknowledged.

Enquiry at the war office seems to indicate that the military dispatches contain other particulars, which it is deemed inexpedient to publish immediately, but the serious nature of which is not disguised.

The story as already known, however, is sufficiently bad. The loss in effective men must be appalling to a general who is practically surrounded. Two of the finest British regiments and a mule battery deducted from the Ladysmith garrison weakens it about a fifth of its total strength, and alters the whole situation very materially in favor of the Boers.

Its Effect on the Boers. Apart from the immediate loss in effectiveness which will seriously cripple Gen. White's operations, the British defeat must have a depressing effect on the remainder of the Ladysmith forces, while it may be expected to have much weight with Boers who are wavering as to which side to support, and it will immensely raise the morale of the Boer forces and bring crowds of recruits to their standard.

White Accepts Responsibility. Further news must be awaited before it is attempted to stanch blame where it belongs. Gen. White manfully accepts all the discredit attaching to the disaster, which apparently was at least partially due to the stampeding of the mules with the guns.

Scenes in the Street. "Awful British disaster," yelled gowboys to-day, and all London stayed its course, and read the extras containing official acknowledgment of a British reverse.

The announcement appeared about an hour when shopkeepers crowded the Oxford streets, and Biscadilly. Women stopped their carriages in the streets and hailed the boys. Out of fashionable stores women ran for papers. They stood stock still in crowded streets, scanning the pages of the extras.

Having read of the reverse, such as does not exist in memory of living British subjects, the men set their teeth and walked on with hardened troubled faces, while some women cried.

Then there was a rush to the war office, which by noon was surrounded with private carriages and hackmen, while many of the humbler class of people came on foot, all waiting for the possible posting among the lost of dead, the names they held dear.

country and army from the British camp.

Sir George White's honest admission of full responsibility and the terms of his dispatch are regarded in some circles as virtually placing his case in the hands of the British authorities, and it is even rumored this afternoon that the war office has already decided to supersede him.

Six thousand fresh troops will arrive at Capetown on Sunday next and will be available to reinforce Sir George White. Troops will arrive there daily after Sunday until by the end of next week 28,000 troops will have been landed in South Africa.

These men are intended for General Sir Redvers Buller's army, but they will undoubtedly be detached to Natal if the situation there should become perilous. The Boer army is estimated to be about 20,000 men, but excellent colonial troops.

MONDAY'S REVERSE. A General's Opinion.—No Further News From Sir Geo. White.

London, Nov. 1.—An interview is published with a British officer whose name is withheld but who is described as a well known general with a distinguished record during the Indian mutiny. In the interview he passed severe criticism on the conduct of the campaign.

It seems inexcusable that two regiments should have been allowed to separate themselves from the main body of the army, and that a considerable swarm of the enemy should have been permitted to enter the city.

Quebec, Oct. 31.—The Sardinian, with the Canadian troops aboard, sailed shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon amid the cheers of thousands of men and women from the wharves, piers, and steamers, which followed the vessel down the river.

On Board the Troopship. Father Point, Oct. 31.—The troopship Sardinian passed outward at 8.30 a.m. to-day, and your correspondent boarded her and found all the boys in happy trim, awaiting about the decks in a lively manner and laughing and joking as well as to a mournful countenance to be seen.

Killed and Wounded. Among the captured battalions, on this point there is the greatest suspense among the relatives of the prisoners. It is supposed that the stampeding of the mules meant the carrying away of a large amount of ammunition and that the Boer forces captured a large number of rounds which each man carried.

May Be Very Thankful. That things to-day are not more serious than they were yesterday is a fact to be severely noted. It is a hard lot for a nation of farmers beating soldiers at their own game, but the sooner a proper respect is had for Boer strategy and tactics, the better for our fortunes in Natal.

From Kimberley. London, Oct. 31.—Advices from Kimberley, under date of October 27th, received through a dispatch rider at Orange river October 26th, reports that all the wounded are progressing favorably.

It also appears that as they are unable to blow up the piers of the Modder river bridge, the Boers are demolishing up practically every culvert from the Modder river to the Orange river.

Capetown, Oct. 31.—Evening (Delayed in transmission).—The news of the British naval brigade have knocked the Boer heavy-pounder clean off its platform, and have silenced the Boer guns on Heerpoort hill overlooking Ladysmith.

London, Nov. 1.—It is announced to-day in a special dispatch from Ladysmith that the Boers again closed around the place on Monday night, sending shells into the British camp.

To Wipe Out a Disaster. Before, which the memory of Majuba fades away. The Empire is face to face with a repulse comparable only to the surrender of Burgoyne to the embattled farmers of an American colony.

It is added that the Boer's loss must have been heavy. The garrison of Ladysmith is described as being in good spirits and confident, and the troops are said to be full of fight.

stampeding, and the consequent loss of guns and small arm ammunition and the reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

CAPTURE OF BRITISH TROOPS. They Fought Until Their Ammunition Was Exhausted.—General White Sends Details of Monday's Fighting.

London, Nov. 1.—The British war office to-day made public a dispatch received from General White describing the operations of Monday. It was as follows: "Respectful and Sympathetic to the majority were overjoyed.

The Boers Confident. London, Oct. 31.—Capetown advices show that the Boers are gathering in considerable force at Dewdrop south-west of Ladysmith, while large forces of Boers are advancing over the Helder-naer road.

Withdrawal of Troops. The reconnaissance forced the enemy to fully disclose his position, and after a strong counter attack on our right, and the infantry brigade and cavalry had been repulsed, the troops were slowly withdrawing to camp, pickets being left on observation.

Boers Attack the Column. The infantry battalions, however, fixed in their ranks, accompanied by the personnel of artillery, seized a hill on the left of the road two miles from the Nek, with but little opposition.

Foreign Comments. Berlin, Nov. 1.—The Berlin papers have very little to say so far regarding the British disaster at Ladysmith, but they show a disposition to magnify it, and criticize particularly what our papers styles his "endeavor to deceive the British public."

Amunition Exhausted. In reply to a question as to the Boer position, Dr. Leyds said that the combined commands of the Transvaal and Free State aggregated only 50,000, including old men and boys.

From Kimberley. London, Oct. 31.—Advices from Kimberley, under date of October 27th, received through a dispatch rider at Orange river October 26th, reports that all the wounded are progressing favorably.

It also appears that as they are unable to blow up the piers of the Modder river bridge, the Boers are demolishing up practically every culvert from the Modder river to the Orange river.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boers again closed around the place on Monday night, sending shells into the British camp.

To Wipe Out a Disaster. Before, which the memory of Majuba fades away. The Empire is face to face with a repulse comparable only to the surrender of Burgoyne to the embattled farmers of an American colony.

It is added that the Boer's loss must have been heavy. The garrison of Ladysmith is described as being in good spirits and confident, and the troops are said to be full of fight.

Due to Mules Stampeding. "The want of success of the column was due to the mistreatment of the mules stampeding, and the consequent loss of guns and small arm ammunition and the reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

CAPTURE OF BRITISH TROOPS. They Fought Until Their Ammunition Was Exhausted.—General White Sends Details of Monday's Fighting.

London, Nov. 1.—The British war office to-day made public a dispatch received from General White describing the operations of Monday. It was as follows: "Respectful and Sympathetic to the majority were overjoyed.

The Boers Confident. London, Oct. 31.—Capetown advices show that the Boers are gathering in considerable force at Dewdrop south-west of Ladysmith, while large forces of Boers are advancing over the Helder-naer road.

Withdrawal of Troops. The reconnaissance forced the enemy to fully disclose his position, and after a strong counter attack on our right, and the infantry brigade and cavalry had been repulsed, the troops were slowly withdrawing to camp, pickets being left on observation.

Boers Attack the Column. The infantry battalions, however, fixed in their ranks, accompanied by the personnel of artillery, seized a hill on the left of the road two miles from the Nek, with but little opposition.

Foreign Comments. Berlin, Nov. 1.—The Berlin papers have very little to say so far regarding the British disaster at Ladysmith, but they show a disposition to magnify it, and criticize particularly what our papers styles his "endeavor to deceive the British public."

Amunition Exhausted. In reply to a question as to the Boer position, Dr. Leyds said that the combined commands of the Transvaal and Free State aggregated only 50,000, including old men and boys.

From Kimberley. London, Oct. 31.—Advices from Kimberley, under date of October 27th, received through a dispatch rider at Orange river October 26th, reports that all the wounded are progressing favorably.

It also appears that as they are unable to blow up the piers of the Modder river bridge, the Boers are demolishing up practically every culvert from the Modder river to the Orange river.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boers again closed around the place on Monday night, sending shells into the British camp.

To Wipe Out a Disaster. Before, which the memory of Majuba fades away. The Empire is face to face with a repulse comparable only to the surrender of Burgoyne to the embattled farmers of an American colony.

It is added that the Boer's loss must have been heavy. The garrison of Ladysmith is described as being in good spirits and confident, and the troops are said to be full of fight.

Due to Mules Stampeding. "The want of success of the column was due to the mistreatment of the mules stampeding, and the consequent loss of guns and small arm ammunition and the reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

stampeding, and the consequent loss of guns and small arm ammunition and the reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

CAPTURE OF BRITISH TROOPS. They Fought Until Their Ammunition Was Exhausted.—General White Sends Details of Monday's Fighting.

London, Nov. 1.—The British war office to-day made public a dispatch received from General White describing the operations of Monday. It was as follows: "Respectful and Sympathetic to the majority were overjoyed.

The Boers Confident. London, Oct. 31.—Capetown advices show that the Boers are gathering in considerable force at Dewdrop south-west of Ladysmith, while large forces of Boers are advancing over the Helder-naer road.

Withdrawal of Troops. The reconnaissance forced the enemy to fully disclose his position, and after a strong counter attack on our right, and the infantry brigade and cavalry had been repulsed, the troops were slowly withdrawing to camp, pickets being left on observation.

Boers Attack the Column. The infantry battalions, however, fixed in their ranks, accompanied by the personnel of artillery, seized a hill on the left of the road two miles from the Nek, with but little opposition.

Foreign Comments. Berlin, Nov. 1.—The Berlin papers have very little to say so far regarding the British disaster at Ladysmith, but they show a disposition to magnify it, and criticize particularly what our papers styles his "endeavor to deceive the British public."

Amunition Exhausted. In reply to a question as to the Boer position, Dr. Leyds said that the combined commands of the Transvaal and Free State aggregated only 50,000, including old men and boys.

From Kimberley. London, Oct. 31.—Advices from Kimberley, under date of October 27th, received through a dispatch rider at Orange river October 26th, reports that all the wounded are progressing favorably.

It also appears that as they are unable to blow up the piers of the Modder river bridge, the Boers are demolishing up practically every culvert from the Modder river to the Orange river.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boers again closed around the place on Monday night, sending shells into the British camp.

To Wipe Out a Disaster. Before, which the memory of Majuba fades away. The Empire is face to face with a repulse comparable only to the surrender of Burgoyne to the embattled farmers of an American colony.

It is added that the Boer's loss must have been heavy. The garrison of Ladysmith is described as being in good spirits and confident, and the troops are said to be full of fight.

Due to Mules Stampeding. "The want of success of the column was due to the mistreatment of the mules stampeding, and the consequent loss of guns and small arm ammunition and the reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

stampeding, and the consequent loss of guns and small arm ammunition and the reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

CAPTURE OF BRITISH TROOPS. They Fought Until Their Ammunition Was Exhausted.—General White Sends Details of Monday's Fighting.

London, Nov. 1.—The British war office to-day made public a dispatch received from General White describing the operations of Monday. It was as follows: "Respectful and Sympathetic to the majority were overjoyed.

The Boers Confident. London, Oct. 31.—Capetown advices show that the Boers are gathering in considerable force at Dewdrop south-west of Ladysmith, while large forces of Boers are advancing over the Helder-naer road.

Withdrawal of Troops. The reconnaissance forced the enemy to fully disclose his position, and after a strong counter attack on our right, and the infantry brigade and cavalry had been repulsed, the troops were slowly withdrawing to camp, pickets being left on observation.

Boers Attack the Column. The infantry battalions, however, fixed in their ranks, accompanied by the personnel of artillery, seized a hill on the left of the road two miles from the Nek, with but little opposition.

Foreign Comments. Berlin, Nov. 1.—The Berlin papers have very little to say so far regarding the British disaster at Ladysmith, but they show a disposition to magnify it, and criticize particularly what our papers styles his "endeavor to deceive the British public."

Amunition Exhausted. In reply to a question as to the Boer position, Dr. Leyds said that the combined commands of the Transvaal and Free State aggregated only 50,000, including old men and boys.

From Kimberley. London, Oct. 31.—Advices from Kimberley, under date of October 27th, received through a dispatch rider at Orange river October 26th, reports that all the wounded are progressing favorably.

It also appears that as they are unable to blow up the piers of the Modder river bridge, the Boers are demolishing up practically every culvert from the Modder river to the Orange river.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boers again closed around the place on Monday night, sending shells into the British camp.

To Wipe Out a Disaster. Before, which the memory of Majuba fades away. The Empire is face to face with a repulse comparable only to the surrender of Burgoyne to the embattled farmers of an American colony.

It is added that the Boer's loss must have been heavy. The garrison of Ladysmith is described as being in good spirits and confident, and the troops are said to be full of fight.

Due to Mules Stampeding. "The want of success of the column was due to the mistreatment of the mules stampeding, and the consequent loss of guns and small arm ammunition and the reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

"No Eye Like the Master's Eye."

You are master of your health, and if you do not attend to duty, the blame is easily located. If your blood is out of order, Hood's Sarsaparilla will purify it.

It is the specific remedy for troubles of the blood, kidneys, bowels or liver. Headache, dizziness, indigestion, and all the troubles that attend impure blood, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla and three bottles completely restore you to health. Mas. C. A. Frazar, Wallace Bridge, N. S.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Expert bicyclists have already succeeded in riding a single wheel, or bicycle, for short distances. In years to come the bicycle will become as common a mode of locomotion as the horse. Only a few years ago people would have laughed at the idea that all the world would be on wheels.

It is not in mechanics alone that the world is making rapid progress. Not many years ago all physicians pronounced consumption an incurable disease. To-day a large proportion of people recognize that it is a distinctly curable disease. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent of all cases of consumption. It has stood the test for thirty years. Thousands of people who were given up by their doctors, and had lost all hope over their lives to this marvelous remedy. It acts directly on the lungs, driving out all impurities and disease germs. It restores the appetite, corrects all disorders of the digestion, strengthens the weak stomach, makes the blood pure, invigorates the nerves, purifies the blood and cleanses the bowels. It does not make baby flesh like cod liver oil, but the firm, muscular tissue of absolute health. An honest dealer will not offer you an inferior substitute for the make of a little added profit.

Miss Mary Whitman, of East Dickinson, Franklin Co., N. H., writes: "For nearly ten months I have had a bad cough and intense getting better, it grew worse. I was said to have consumption. I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and when the second bottle was empty I had no cough and was cured."

Good temper is largely a matter of good health, and good health is largely a matter of healthy action. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a safe, sure and speedy, and once taken, does not have to be taken again. One little "Pellet" is a gentle cathartic. It is a mild and healthy laxative. Druggists sell them.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets.

London, Nov. 1.—It was reported at Aldershot to-day that another company of the British army will be formed for service in South Africa. The division consists of 10,000 men and 51 guns.

This is possibly a preliminary step towards the calling of a second army corps.

AGAINST OVERWHELMING ODDS. London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela.

London, Nov. 1.—The Boer army, which was reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela, is now reported to have been defeated at the Battle of the Tugela. The Boer army, which was reported to