

(From the London Evening Mail.)

The Newfoundland Legislature is up in arms against a Convention... The English and French Government on the subject of the Fisheries. A Report of the Committee of the Legislature is half pathetic, half rebellious.

Now, this being the arrangement, our first impression certainly would be that the English side of the bargain... The Council of Newfoundland proposed to the fact a renunciation that it was the territory of Newfoundland.

EARLY POTATOES.—Take a box or barrel, (a large box is best), and cover the bottom with straw of some nature...

The Chronicle.

St. John, N. E., May 23, 1857.

FROM OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT.

London, May 18, 1857. Parliament met yesterday, and as no opposition was offered to the Ministerial candidate for the Speakership, Mr. E. Denison was elected.

Lord Elgin might as well stay at home. It is evident by the last news from China that the work of specification must be deferred until short and shell, the bygone and the mine, have done their work.

It now appears that the China is essentially to become a great war. May say it is to be a war of subjugation, and that France and England will divide the spoil.

London, May 18th.—The great event of the week, the opening of the Manchester Art Treasures Exhibition, absorbs every thing except the newly and exciting political excitement.

similar piece of temerity. The truth is, however, that his supporters will talk and sneer down any proposition which does not suit their very meagre conservatism.

General Williams, of Calne and Kars, is a shocking obstinate son of Mars, and would give any way to entreaty.

The British Bank revolution has reached their climax in the examination of Mr. Humphrey Brown, the late M. P., and "son" of Tewkesbury, Mr. Edalio, Mr. Apsey Politt, the Hon. Mr. Stapleton, and even the manager (successor to Mr. Cameron).

How far this may accord with the feelings of Messrs. Fisher, Gilbert, Harding and other expectants, who have displayed so much zeal in the overthrow of the present government, we are yet to learn.

Francis lies in the road and made his bed. The old Spanish proverb, and I truly it would appear that New-Drumwick, with all its boasted progress, in this particular, has found it convenient to retain this bit of old fashion.

At the Court of Sessions, on Monday last being the Anniversary of the Landing of the Loyalists, we listened for the usual demonstration of rejoicing from the Sons of those devoted patriots.

The London subscription for Russian Railways is closed, and reported to be very unsuccessful, although the exact amount is not published.

Just the thing we want.—A State of Maine paper says that Governor Chase, of Ohio, as under his prudent and economical administration, reduced the taxes of that State, two millions of dollars.

FORGOTTEN POLICE OFFICE.—On Wednesday last Major Tuck, of Indian Troop, was brought before Mr. Justice Payne, on charge of an assault on Mr. John Davis, and severely punished.

FOR THE CHRONICLE.

Mr. Edalio.—It is an extraordinary circumstance that one who calls loudly for equity, that every species of food, in this city, is at double price, while the wages of the working man has instead of being at a corresponding rate, fallen much below the usual standard, and as a natural consequence much suffering among the poor is experienced.
