

SUFFRAGETTES INVADE LONDON CHURCHES AND INTERRUPT SERVICES

Continued from page 1. Many of the members of the congregation followed the evicted suffragettes to the sidewalk, where a well dressed woman hit a militant sister in the face, causing it to bleed profusely. The crowd cheered the woman who struck the blow. Only two of the suffragettes who caused the disorder were arrested. They also refused to give their names.

Public Indignation Aroused. The growing hostility on the part of the public toward the militant suffragettes was shown by assaults today on several open air meetings. Speakers were mobbed, stands were torn down, and the women were saved by the police from duckings and beatings. A crowd at Hampstead Heath, knocked over the platform, and the women of militant suffragettes to speak and scattered the suffragettes in all directions. They tried to drag two of the women to a pond for a ducking, but the police rescued them.

A similar scene occurred on Clapham Common. When a militant suffragette advocated the use of bombs the speaker and those on the stand were pelted with mud. The police helped the women to escape on a motor bus. A meeting in Hyde Park ended in the same manner. Sylvia Pankhurst, in a speech delivered at a meeting in the East End of London tonight declared that when she went to see Premier Asquith next Wednesday she would ask for a deputation to accompany her, not only to plead with the premier but to threaten him.

A sensational incident of the day was the discovery of a young man, who gave his name as Harry Pike, in Buckingham Palace, where the royal family spend Sunday. In the early hours of the morning Pike entered the palace, as he alleged afterward to prove that entrance could be easily effected. He mounted the wall and walked the corridors for some time. Once he was near the Queen's apartments.

He was finally discovered and overpowered in the servants' quarters. He will be arraigned tomorrow in the Bow street police court on a charge of having been found on enclosed premises for unlawful purposes. This is the only offense provable against him, so far as the evidence shows.

There is nothing to show that Pike is connected with the Women's Suffrage movement. He gave his occupation as an engineer.

Pike was ignorant of the interior of the palace, and had several adventures while wandering about inside. Notwithstanding the heavy guard of soldiers and police, who are supposed to patrol the grounds, Pike managed to scale the palace wall and climb into a basement window on the north side of the building, in which Queen Mary has her apartments. He entered several of the vacant rooms and in one changed his clothing, which was torn and soiled through scaling the wall and crawling along the driveway to reach the palace building. The suit he exchanged for his own belonged to one of the servants.

The discovery of Pike occurred when he opened the door of a room where a servant was sleeping, saying to the servant, who had been awakened by his entry, "excuse me, I was looking for No. 20." The servant suspected the man was a burglar, and aroused other servants, who crowded him into a corner and held him there until the police came and took him away.

The exploit of Pike caused great alarm, and also brought forth a deal of criticism of the system of guarding the palace, and the lack of precautions which permitted a stranger who might have been an assassin to wander for more than an hour through a royal residence.

THE MILITIA ESTIMATES ARE PASSED

Continued from page 1. Thus for example, the commissioner reported that a fictitious person by the name of A. Carr, was carried on the pay sheets as a laborer. "A. Carr," as a matter of fact, was a well-known photographer, and it is stated that he was paid in payment for her services as a stenographer. In the same way Mr. Guthrie complained injustice was done to a man named Hewitt. Hewitt was employed as caretaker of the Hawke Lake dams, and at $1.75 per day and board. He lived in a house provided for him and bought his groceries, charging them to the government. Mr. Ferguson reported that he was living in great luxury, and yet he had been recommended by Col. Huxley himself. It appeared that supplies for boats were often purchased at the same store, and one of the items in dispute was for an inspection tour of Superintendent McClellan's boat, and upon which Mr. Burnham, M. P., and Mr. Sexsmith, M. P. guests. This showed that Superintendent McClellan's "entertainments" had not been confined to the regime of the late government.

Mr. Guthrie next referred to the $2,000 which Commissioner Ferguson said had been diverted to the Liberal campaign fund. It appeared that evidence for this was the statement of Superintendent McClellan and against this Mr. Guthrie quoted affidavits by E. S. Clary, the accountant; Mr. W. S. Davidson, a Liberal agent and Hon. J. R. Stratton. Mr. Guthrie also mentioned the renting of the boat, "Manita" from "William Robinson" at eight dollars a day. As a matter of fact, said Mr. Guthrie, William Robinson was "William H. Robertson," the proprietor of the Peterboro Times and a political friend of Mr. J. H. Burnham. Apparently without realizing that he was criticizing the present government, Commissioner Ferguson had reported that Mr. Robertson had received $300 for twenty-seven days work by this boat, or about $13 per day.

Col. Sam Hughes gave a good character of Hewitt, one of his constituents. He said that undesirable publicity had been given to many reputable people who sold supplies or rendered services to the government in the cause of McClellan. Instead of paying their accounts entered their names on the pay sheets. Personally he saw no reason why refreshments should not be provided when government officials and prominent visitors were being entertained.

Hon. J. D. Reid thought many of Mr. Guthrie's criticisms were entirely unwarranted. By his own statement Mr. Ferguson had proved himself an impartial inquisitor, who pointed out anything that was wrong whether done under the Conservative or the Liberal regime.

Mr. Burnham (Peterboro) took occasion to deny that the trip of inspection he had made in company with Mr. Sexsmith, M. P., the mayor of Peterboro and other officials had been a luxurious picnic. He said it had been to look into conservation matters in respect to the waters of the canal.

If the hon. gentlemen think wading round in mud to one's knees in the pouring rain a picnic then he would like to know why he even had to sleep one night in an automobile.

Mr. Lemieux thought demonstration such as the Corpus Christi procession should be encouraged.

Not Forbidden to Turn Out in Corpus Christi Procession. The minister of militia replied that the 65th had not been prohibited from taking part in the Corpus Christi parade but would be allowed to do so as usual. They would not carry arms but this had never been allowed in the whole history of the militia. Col. Huxley admitted that he had gone to church with the 65th last year, said he had seen a good service and heard a good sermon there and felt none the he said, had been in charge of the campaign waged against him in South Renfrew—was president of the lumber company was responsible, high price given. He thought it was outrageously high. The item was finally allowed to pass, Col. Huxley promising to lay full information on the table. Before the house adjourned at midnight all the militia estimates were passed.

Mr. G. W. Fowler, Kings-Albert, sharply criticized the minister of militia in regard to his purchase of a new military training area from the New Brunswick government. The area consisted of 100,000 acres of burnt forest and swamp near McGivney Junction which had been bought for $2 per acre and which would cost $15 per acre to clear. Mr. Fowler claimed, or two million dollars in all. Premier Fleming of New Brunswick had openly boasted in the manner in which he had palmed off this land on the militia. It was a reckless and foolish piece of extravagance and he was utterly opposed to it. Mr. Fowler represented that the present camp at Sussex fulfilled all requirements. He asked whether the Niagara camp in Ontario would also be abandoned.

Col. Huxley said it would be abandoned for another camp since it somewhat resembled the Sussex camp in being better adapted for picnics than artillery practice. As regards the new camp in New Brunswick, Col. Huxley denied that it would be an expensive one. He said it had been estimated at $8,000 acres of partly cleared land, contained enough timber to pay for its purchase price, and its value was shown by the fact that right of way for the National Transcontinental through it had cost the railways department $15 per acre. At present the artillery from the Maritime provinces had to be transported to Petawawa so that the saving through the provision of the new camp would be enough to pay its cost in five years. Col. Huxley concluded by pointing out how natural it was that Mr. Fowler should feel the change would involve some loss for the people of Sussex in his own constituency.

The last item which caused any discussion was one of $122,000 to satisfy a claim of the Pembroke Lumber Company in regard to the timber damages involved in the conversion of the Petawawa site into a camp ground. The minister of militia explained that he had thought the claim preposterous and had appointed a board of valuers consisting of Mr. Rochester of Ottawa, a well known lumberman, and for the third member had a lumberman from his own county. They had decided on $122,000.

Militia Estimates Passes. Hon. George P. Graham thought that the fact that Mr. E. A. Dunlop—who

When in the middle of last month the heavy commitments of Arthur M. Grenfell were taken over by a strong group, it was hoped that the trouble had been avoided. A fortnight ago, however, rumors were again busy and the renewal of liquidation of certain Canadian and oil securities proved the last straw.

The suspended bank stands on Princess street, opposite to the Bank of England. It has a capital of $1,750,000, with 23 shareholders. The Grenfells have long ranked as financial princes in the city, and have figured prominently in west end circles. One branch of the family is represented by Lord Desborough, chairman of the London Chamber of Commerce. Arthur M. Grenfell married Lady Victoria Grey, daughter of Earl Grey. The first effect of the news on the exchange was to depress prices, but a marked rally subsequently took place. The suspension has caused great regret in the city where the firm had gained the highest esteem.

CREW OF WRECKED SCHOONER ESCAPE. Charlottetown, June 7.—The schooner James Ryan loaded with quahaugs from Egmont Bay to Pt. Du Chene was wrecked off Egmont Bay on Saturday morning. The marine office ordered the Brant to her assistance where she lay on the bar about one and a half miles from shore. No lives were lost as was at first rumored.

PERSONAL. C. H. McLean left Saturday evening for Montreal. Major J. J. Miller, who has been ill in the General Public Hospital, was reported to be improving yesterday. Friends will be glad to learn that his condition is much better than for some time.

TORONTO IN MOURNING FOR EMPRESS' DEAD

Ten Thousand at Funeral Service of Salvationists Who Lost Lives in the Disaster.

Toronto, June 7.—Fully ten thousand people of all ranks and classes attended the funeral service of the seventeen victims of the Empress of Ireland wreck belonging to the Salvation Army in the arena yesterday morning. During the services Commissioners Thomas McKie of London, England, representing General Booth, read messages from the General and Mrs. Booth, Miss Eva Booth, the Canadian delegates at the congress in London, and from branches of the army in various parts of the world.

The procession from the arena to Mount Pleasant cemetery was one of the most imposing ever witnessed in this city. It is estimated that fully 150,000 persons lined the route of the cortege. Four heavily-draped drays bore the caskets with the remains of the victims and two other drays were decked with floral emblems. Thirteen hundred women soldiers and three hundred men of the army marched in the procession and bands playing the funeral march were interspersed at intervals in the cortege. Two hundred and fifty members of the Orange order attended, and no fewer than fifty carriages were in line. Representative delegates were present from the provincial government, the city, the Toronto Ministerial Association, the Canadian Pacific Railway and fraternal and other organizations.
