

face of the pool. Tasting the bitterness of perdition in the guilt of conscience, I vowed to end my miserable and worthless life as soon as left alone.