

Ramsay's Paints

The Happy Medium

"Cheap" paint is the kind you DON'T want. "High price" paints cost more than they are worth, because you can buy better for less. Ramsay's Paints are the happy medium. All the goodness of the most expensive kinds—with none of the faults of the "cheap." They are mixed just right—always the same—and hold their surface and their color through zero snows and torrid suns.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Miscellaneous.

RED WATER.

I have a Shorthorn heifer, six months old, which passes bloody urine, but seems to be in good health. What is the cause? What treatment do you recommend?

C. H. W.

Ans.—Bloody urine or red water is sometimes caused by certain weeds in fodder that irritate the kidneys, and may be caused by stones in the bladder, or a severe strain of the back. Give, as a drench, 1 lb. glauher salts, and follow with the following powder: Ground gentian root, $\frac{1}{2}$ pound; sulphate of iron, $\frac{1}{2}$ pound. Mix well, and give a large tablespoonful, night and morning, in feed.

WORKING ON SHARES—CREAMERY CHARGES.

Now that so many of our Ontario young men have gone to the West, it becomes necessary for farmers to arrange in some manner the handling of the crops.

1. In some sections, it is easy to rent; in others help is so deficient that the farms are worked on shares. In this district, the latter method prevails, but I think the shares are not as satisfactory as might be.

2. Take, for example, hay. To merely cut and draw in hay here, a half share is asked, regardless of the season, whether hay is plentiful or not, and I contend that one-third is good value, when no seed has been furnished by the person doing the work. With grain, would you suppose the person putting in the crop and harvesting it, also threshing, was getting good value in receiving two-thirds, and what is the custom or rule in taking off clover seed?

3. What are the usual rates charged by butter factories for hauling the cream from the farmers' homes, and the making and selling of the product?

We enjoy "The Farmer's Advocate" each week, and find each department helpful and practical, and may it continue so is the wish of—

A SATISFIED SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—1. In working farms on shares, the division of expenses and proceeds between the owner of the farm and stock and the man who does the work, varies with circumstances, the latter receiving in some cases we have in mind, about one-third, and in others, 40 per cent. In one particular case, the owner furnishes, besides the land and buildings, all the live stock and implements, buys new ones required, and pays 60 per cent. of the taxes, repairs, etc. (tenant paying 40 per cent.), and receives 60 per cent. of the proceeds. The other party does all the work, including paying for the hired help, and receives 40 per cent. out of the proceeds. In this particular case, a separator is run, and cream and other dairy products are hauled to the nearest town.

2. A practical farmer of extended experience in Middlesex County advises us that, in his judgment, one-third of the hay crop is ample return for the labor of taking it off.

[Note.—We would like the experience of readers on the foregoing questions, especially concise statements as to the most desirable arrangements in working farms on shares.]

3. The usual rates for hauling, making and selling by creameries, which retain the buttermilk, may be put at $3\frac{1}{2}$ c. to 4 c. per pound of butter. Some creameries will make it for 2 c. and the overrun, overrun being the pounds of butter in excess of the pounds of butter-fat received. This system is, however, a pernicious one, lending itself readily to fraud. The maker, who is getting the overrun, has before him a continual temptation to incorporate a large amount of water, thereby increasing the overrun, and, consequently, his wages, but running the risk of injuring the quality and price per pound, which, of course, falls on the patron. Even if the maker is honest and does not incorporate an injuriously large amount of water, he still gets more than most of his patrons surmise. The modern and proper method is for the patron to get the full price of the butter sold, less a stipulated rate per pound for hauling, making and selling.
