Mouse proceeded to the consideration of the Bill, July 26, by Mr. Banks from the Committee Foreign Affairs for effectual laws to preserve eneutral relations of the United States. Mr. anks proceeded to explain the bill, and show changes it proposed. The object of the Committee had been to scale the Neutrality Act of 1818 to the standard of the Foreign Enlistment Att of Great Britain of 1819. There was noding in this bill that was not contained in the glish Foreign Enlistment Act, except the preauthorizing citizens of the United States sell vessels and munitions of war to Governments, or the citizens of Governments with which the United States is not at war. It proposed to Intercolonial Railway from Halifax. tepeal the offensive and oppressive provisions of the Neutrality Act of 1818. Section 4 of Act of 1818 made the Government responsible for the Acts of its citizens outside of its jurisdiction. This repealed that; but provided that citizens who had committed crimes against other Gofernment beyond the jurisdiction of the United States should be on their return prosecuted. This was the same provision as was contained in the Foreign Enlistment Act. It repealed ection 9 of the Act of 1818, requiring owners d consignees of armed vessels departing from intry to give bonds for their good conher hand the bill gave to the Government every
