WIRELESS TELEGRAPH

Kindly explain how the wireless telegraph is operated. What time c the year is the proper time to cut uttings for spring planting? Would it be all right to cut them in the spring at planting time M. L. P.

Ans.-In general principle, the transmission of messages by wireless telegraphy is the same as is employed in ordinary telegraphing by means of wires. A wireless telegraphing equipment consists of an apparatus for generating electrical waves that will pass through the ether that fills all space, and an instrument that will reserve and register these waves at some distance from the frost. The general difference in the two systems is that in one, waves are employed to carry the electrical waves. and in the other they pass from transmitter to receiver without a visible transmitting medium. These electrical waves are generated by a battery, and passing in brilliant sparks between two brass halls are radiated to space from a wire sus-Have a reputation that we are do pended on a tall pole. It is best to take cuttings when the plants are dormant, but with most varieties, satisfactory results may be procured by cutting them at planting
