THE COURIER.

MONDAY, MARCH 10, 1861.

THE STEAMER "PACIFIC" (Collins Line) brought us the somewhat startling intelligence of the resignation of Lord John Russell and the rest of the Cabinet. It appears that Mr. Locke King asked leave in the House of Commons to bring in a Bill extending the Franchise in Cities, Towns, and Boroughs, to every house paying $10 in rent and taxes, the qualification now being $10 rent. It was opposed by Lord John Russell, and, on a division, Ministers resigned, being left in a minority of forty-eight.

In the absence of our European friends, we are totally ignorant of the combination of parties which has led to this result; it is probable, however, that it was produced by a coalition of all the ultra-Liberals with the moderate Conservatives and the Irish Members, who are annoyed at the Ecclesiastical Titles Bill. The Ministers were virtually defeated on D'Israeli's motion, for to defeat an opponent by a majority of 14, made up of the Ministers and other placemen, is actually to be defeated themselves.

There is also a general feeling that Lord John's Bill for repressing Papal aggression does not go far enough, and petitions are already in progress, praying Her Majesty to dissolve Parliament, and take the sense of the nation on this question. The telegraph reports the rumor that Lord John will remain in office, with Sir James Graham as Premier. This would be a Ministry of compromise, and we must confess that we should regret to see Lord John Russell out of office, believing him to be the only man in England just now fit for the situation. Still less should we, in the present gloomy position of affairs on the Continent, like to see Lord Palmerston succeeded by any man of the Aberdeen school. Palmerston has well spared the honor of our country through the stormiest times since the great War, and that without fighting; we doubt whether Lord Aberdeen would have done as much, at least with honor to the country. It is probable, therefore, that Lord John will still hold on, getting rid of Grey, Wood, Chalmers, and some others, replacing them by Sir James Graham and others of the moderate Conservative party. A compromise will probably take place on the Franchise question, some relief will be given to the depressed agriculturists; and a more satisfactory enactment to restrain the Pope's interference in English affairs will be proposed. Some people seem to think that Lord Stanley will be called on to form an Administration. He may be, but we cannot help apprehending, and we may expect fresh revolutionary outbreaks. The people will not forever put their necks under the heels of despots.

The clerical and caste counterpart of the St. John's gives us the following further particulars of the visit of the returned Marquis de los Carrales to our city. The way in which our ecclesiastical aristocracy were taken in and over by the ecclesiastical people must be certainly ready-made, but in these days, for the sake of the people, we do not doubt but that he had been a Director or travelling Field Agent, which would account for his knowledge of the language.

I found myself readily in "your lines of the 30th inst., respecting the matter in view, with its point of view, and the possibility of its being a double but that he had been a Director or travelling Field Agent, which would account for his knowledge of the language.
