

AN AWFUL MISTAKE

Physician Prescribes Nuxvomica for a Kingston Lady with the Result that She is Paralyzed.

A Thrilling Experience Resulting from a Doctor's Blunder—Fortunately She Recovered and Tells the Story of the Whole Incident.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 9.—(Special.)—That Mrs. E. Lake, of 112 Clarence street, this city, is alive to-day, is a matter for wonder. She says:

"My sickness was brought about by overdose of Strychnine prescribed by a physician. It brought on Paralysis affecting my left side, brain, arm and limbs.

"I was perfectly helpless, and it was impossible for me to raise my left hand or open my fingers. I got no sleep and often when I closed my eyes I had not the power to close my eyelids.

"I suffered almost continually with headache.

"My brain felt as though it was too large for the skull. My appetite failed and I became very emaciated. Indeed, I was nothing but skin and bones.

"I was three years under treatment, many physicians having me under their care, but without avail. At last I became discouraged and gave up all treatment.

"While reading a paper one day I noticed a testimonial of one who was cured by Dodd's Pills.

"My sister procured me a box of the pills and I started on three pills three times a day. I soon began to experience a change for the better, which continued in good health the use of my arm, hand and limb. My headache also ceased and my appetite returned.

"From this I soon picked up flesh and strength until I was as well as ever.

"I thank God and Dodd's Kidney Pills for my health, for by prayer and this wonderful remedy, I was cured and have remained in good health ever since, although this was over five years ago."

Wit of a Kind.

A joyous smile adds an hour to one's life—a heartfelt laugh, a day; a grin, not a moment.

How swiftly the fool forsakes his friend.

One of the best tonics for the nerves is a long, brisk walk. Pure air contains every kind of medicine.

After-dinner speaking is the art of saying nothing—briefly.

Spite and revenge is the petty engagement of a fool. No man of sense and religion carries hatred in his heart. It is the creed of cut-throats, gamblers and kindred knaves.

A hearty laugh is the mind's merry physician; furthermore, it aids digestion, shakes up the system and is as good a tonic to the man or woman as the poker is to the fire.

There are men who have hardly tasted liquor—cold, passionless, and yet they would stuff a ballot-box or swindle a widow.

You cannot make a man think if he has not the apparatus to think with.

SECRET SIGNS OF THE HOBOES.

Peter Sands, of Castle Valley, has a mysterious power over tramps. He makes a mark upon a wall—a circle, a diamond, a triangle—and every tramp who happens along regards this mark and does straightaway what Mr. Sands requires of him, taking to his heels in terror, or advancing with manifestations of joy.

Castle Valley is a hamlet near Doylestown, and Mr. Sands is a wealthy widower. He has spent part of his leisure during the last two years to a study of the tramp.

A Doctor Story

The German papers are telling a story about a Berlin lady who was sent by her physician to one of the well-known "cures" in Germany.

He gave her a letter which purported to be a prescription for her treatment and which she presented to the doctor at the "cure."

"It read as follows: 'Rupfens, ledlega, N. S. ord. ent. li, Chhrist, nixal, chen, Sclhrna, berdl, efed, erneit, zel, nann, s. e. h. r. fan gsandaml, L. sohr, gat. tes, weimn, ateru, behatun, dervi, elie, icht, gos, und, te, Versta.—N. D. E. N.'"

The doctor perused the lines again and saw that the letters when put in proper order ran as follows: "Rupfen sie die Gans ordentlich, ihr list nix, Ziehen sie ihr aber die Federn schick aus sehr langsam, damit so ihr grade zwel Monate Ruhe hat und vier-erleicht gesunden. Verstanden?"

In English these words mean: Pluck the old goose thoroughly well. There is nothing the matter with her. Pull out the feathers one by one, very slowly, so that her husband may have a couple of months' rest, by which time she may perhaps be restored to health. Do you understand?"

The doctor shook his head dubiously over her, and ordered two months' of the usual exercise, baths, waters and rest.—New York Tribune.

NO PAY IN IT.

Cost of the Panama Canal May Run Into Half a Billion.

At present the idea is to build a canal with locks, but I have no idea that this will ever be done.

A level canal is the only one that will finally be feasible. The tide at Panama is eighteen feet; the tide at Colon is eighteen inches.

When our engineers get down into the Culabra cut they will doubtless, very reasonably, report that the locks and gates are great improvements.

People here look upon a sea-level canal as a foregone conclusion. By sinking the Culabra cut eighteen feet more than the present surveys call for, this report can be obtained.

This means fifty million dollars at one clip. Before we have mastered the problems of health, rain, wind and tide, mountain cutting and level dredging, this isthmian ditch will probably cost half a billion dollars.

The Colombian Government is another question. I had several long conversations with Dr. Mutis-Barrand, the finest product of Colombian civilization, an able jurist and formerly governor of the Province of Cauca.

He states about passing over to the jurisdiction of Panama and Colon, Panama city is a Spanish community of 25,000 inhabitants—very charming in situation and romantic in history; but just as unsanitary as can be.

As my genial friend, Captain Beers, of the Panama Railroad, expressed it: "Between the heavy rains and the buzzards, the streets of Panama are as clean as a whistle."

These, then, are approximately some of the difficulties involved in the extracting of the canal: 1. Immense problems in sanitation. 2. Great difficulties of climate to be overcome. 3. Critical diplomatic relations with the Colombian Government, which can only be overcome with great patience and toleration.

4. The inevitable increase of expense above the original estimates of cost. The most careful financial observers assure me that the cost of this undertaking with the expenses attached to its operation will be to our Government about $12,000,000 a year, while the profits resulting from the world's trade will on the same estimate give us only $7,000,000; thus leaving a deficit of $5,000,000 a year.—Peter MacQueen in Leslie's Weekly.
