The hotel keepers of Blenheim have instructed the firm of Wilson, Pike & Gundy to take proceedings against the license commissioners of East Kent to compel them to grant licenses to the hotel there. The commissioners refused to grant licenses in view of the refusal of the town council to pass by-law after it was carried by the electors. The hotel men contend that the council is quite within its rights in refusing to pass the by-law and that to make it valid it should have the support of both the electors and the council.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS

St. Joseph's Court, 241, held its regular meeting last evening. After the regular order of business had been transacted, the event so long looked forward to by the members was proceeded with, namely the conferring of the higher order of membership, known as the Adjunct Degree. Seven candidates were initiated last evening, and expressed themselves as highly delighted with its workings.

This is the first instance in the history of the Adjunct Degree has been conferred, and St. Joseph's Court is to be congratulated on taking the initiative in this line, and especially the Degree Team, who were amply rewarded last evening with the satisfaction of seeing that the result of their hard practice during the past month, resulted in a decided success.

The Chief Ranger of the Degree Team is E. J. Peltier, and the other members are, J. R. Gerber, J. P. Dunn, N. P. Pinsonneault, Nelson Emery, E. Dunn, F. E. Gerber, F. A. Schifhart, John Brennan, Earnest Walsh, Jas. Ryan, John Stephen, Andrew Jacques and A. C. Trudell.

Material Used in Making Note Paper.

It is not a pleasant thought that the pulping of waste paper, which your hand rests upon may have in it the fibers from the filthy garment of some Egyptian fellow after it has passed through all the stages of decay until it is saved by a ragpicker from the gutter of an Egyptian town, and yet it is a fact that hundreds of tons of Egyptian rags are exported every year into America to supply our paper mills. At Mannheim, on the Rhine, the American Importers have their ragpicking houses where rags are collected from all over Europe, the disease infected Levant not excepted, and where women and children, too poor to earn a better living, work day after day, with wet sponges tied over their mouths, sorting these filthy scraps for shipment to New York. Our best papers are made of these rags and our common ones of wood pulp, which is obtained by grinding and macerating huge blocks from some of our soft wooded forest trees.—National Geographic Magazine.

The Stage Mirror.

Whenever a looking glass appears in a scene in a play above a fireplace, in a sideboard or a cabinet one is almost sure to hear somebody ask his or her neighbor why the glass has been smeared with whitening or soap or something that dulls its surface completely. All sorts of reasons are hazarded or suggested. Sometimes it is stated that it is done for luck, at others that they did not intend to leave it dirty. The real explanation is, however, a simple one. The glass is dirtied to prevent the illusion of the scene being destroyed, as it certainly would be if the audience saw in it the reflection of themselves or, worse still, the reflection of the people in the wings carrying on the business of the stage.

Onions For Diphtheria.

In cases of diphtheria onions in the form of a poultice and a sirup are said to have an almost magical effect. The poultice in this case is made of the raw onion pounded to a pulp and bandaged around the throat well up to the ears, changing as often as the mass becomes dry. A poultice of the same on the sole of each foot reduces the fever. The mucilaginous properties of onion juice make it especially soothing to the inflamed mucous membrane and therefore acceptable in cases of whooping cough, croup or diphtheria. An excellent way to make the sirup is to cut the onion into slices, sprinkle plentifully with sugar and press between hot plates and a heavy weight until all the juice is extracted.
