plum is the cultivated plum the garden, whose parent is a native of Asia and southern Europe, but which has taken so kindly to the conditions of almost spontaneously produced here, rarieties surpassing in beauty and flavor he most noted plums of France or Eng-

The most important form of the plum in commerce is that of prunes, as they are exported from France, Turkey, and cur own California to every part of the world. The finer class of prunes passes through a very careful coarse of treatment before being put into the market. The pluma are cathered when just income plums are gathered when just ripe enough to fall from the trees on being alightly shaken. They are all picked by hand, care being taken not to gather them until the sun has entirely dried off the dew. They are then spread in shallow baskets, and kept in a cool place until

She Can Do Anything.

Women have met with success as representatives of the advertising department of papers and magazines, and as solicitors of advertising. I have in mind one paper whose business affairs, as fare as Avertising went, were ontirely in a woman's hands, and she brought it by her unaided efforts to a paying basis. She was a thorough business woman, fully understanding what she was about and she was also one of the cherch, in and on the stove, on the line of the New York and New Eugland ration, clother—saturated with the sixteen and manner; and with all her cherchill ness and joility ashe had a certain dignity which commanded intant respect. I knew a woman, a year or two since, who controlled all the advertising on the line of the New York and New Eugland ration, clother—saturated with complete the picture.

Decline of Profanity.

The habit of swaring is dying out. It was within the memory of those who do not think themselves old very common. I have heard on what I am and I have heard on what I am

It was within the memory of those who do not think themselves clot very common. I have heard on what I am sure is trustworthy authority, of a clergyman of last generation, who summoned to breakfast while at his morning devotions, turned upon the unforunate messenger with the exclamation; "D—D you! How dare you interrupt my prayers!"

Much less extreme cases are known to many of us which would now be simply impossible. Are we becoming more pious 1 That is not the general impression. Is the fibre of the race softening! That is often maintained, but I do not think successfully. The civil war is there to disprove it for Americans at jeast. Or sre we, as the Frenchmen and women did long ago, learning more adequately to master the resources of our own tongue, and becoming independant of this crude and rather stupid—to call it nothing worse—device?

A Newspaper Sensation.

Collingwood, Sept. 25. A hig sensation was created in this vicinity a couple of weeks ago by the Collingwood Bulletin's account of the case of Mr Valentine Fisher, who has been cured of selatics of nearly thirteen years' standing, by Dodd's kidney pills. Everyone who talks with Mr Fisher is speedily convinced that his was a marvellous cure. The general conclusion is, that there may be many more like him, who are using remedies for rheumatism, scistics, dropsy or other diseases, but fall to obtain relief, because they do not attack the seat of the disease, which is in many of such cases, the kidney. Anyene who doubts the efficacy of Dodd's kidney pills, may soon be convinced by writing te Mr Fisher himself, er William Williams Eag. Frincipal of the Collingwood Collegiate Institute, Capt. F. A. Basesty or A. H. Johnson, Eag., all of whom are well acquainted with Mr Fisher, and know the history of his illness.

He Died Happy.

Human nature is a queer thing. A man died in New Jersey not far from here who was worth $100,000 and hed no near relative. About an hour before he died he acted for a workman who occupied a little house on the place. The physician and nurse surmised that now dying, Dives was about to give tha little home to the workman who had served him so faithful for so many years.
