Yesterday forenoon a fire broke out in the St. Lawrence Suburbs, in a house belonging to the estate of the late Mr. Wwarman. A few outhouses only were burnt, although the building occupied as an Asylum by the Ladies' Benevolent Society was at one time in much danger, and a considerable portion of their stocks of firewood, hay, &c. was destroyed. The fire commenced in the stables of Mr. JURINETER.

The ludicrous effect produced on a body of armed Mexicans who beheld for the first time the movements of a steambout; is thus described by one of their officers:—"At the time of the the movements of a steamboat, is thus described by one of their officers:—"At the time of the Texan campaign, General Goans, from the interior province of Guanajunto, while on the banks of the Brasecs with his troops, ordered seven of his men who could swim, to go into the water and stop a steamboat filled with Texan soldiers, which was approaching at the rate of ten or twelve miles an hour! But as she came rearing on, conding forth columns of smeke, with her eides barriaged with cotton bales, not only did the selected seven retreat, but the whole force—eight hundred men—stoud appalled at the "serpent of fire," as they thought but—When opposite the valient army, the originass let off a terrific blast of steam, and the casalty wheeled and fied. The infantry booke their lines, dropped their muskets, and followed in the retreat, and the steamboat was miles away before the soldiery could be railied to fire a fine. Indeed it was with the utmost difficulty they could be prevailed upon to approach the banks of the river at all, and when they did so it was with four and trembling."

The New York papers of Thursday, which were received yesterday, contain nothing of any importance. The following late inteligence from France and Spain is from the Journal of Commerce :--

By the thip Normandie, Capt. Pell, we have received Paris papers to the evening of September 14th, and Havre to the 15th.

Advices from Madrid to the 6th September, four days later than before received, represent the entre of that capital, and in fact, of all Spain, as wrotched in the extreme. It would not be atrange if Don Carlos should winter in Madrid.
