One of the Sensible Sert.

She can peel and hoil potatoes,
Make a saiad of tomatoes,
But she doesn't know a Latin noun from Greek;
And so well she cooks a chicken
That your appetite 'twould quicken,
But she cannot tell what's modern from antique.
She knows how to set a table
And make order out of Babel,
But she doesn't know Euripides from Kant;
Once at making pies i caught her,
A real expert must have taught her,
She has quite a firm conviction,
She onght only to read fiction,
And she doesn't care for science, not a bit;
She likes a plot that thickens,
And she's very fond of Dickens,
From Copperfield to Martin Chuzzlewit.
She can make her hate and dresses,
Till a fellow fair contesses
That there's not another maiden half so sweet;
She's immersed in home completely,
Where she keeps all things so nearly,
But from Browning not a line can she repeat.
(Thank goodness.)
Well, in fact, she's just a madden
That whatever she's arrayed in
Makes her look just like the heroine of a play;
Twould be useless to have tarried,
So to-morrow we'll be marvied.
And I'm certain I shall ne'er regret the day.

Forestry in Ontario.

In his annual report for 1891 Mr. R. W. Phipps, Clerk of Forestry for Ontario, describes the important step in the direction of I seat preservation now being made by the Ontario Government, in reserving for that purpose a large tract of land, twenty or more townships, principally in the Nipissing territory. It is largely interspersed with small lakes and numerous streams, forming reserveirs of water to feed the forming reservoirs of water to feed the rivers flowing into the greater lakes to the south and north, giving moisture and fertility to the lands through which they pass. Mr. Phipps explains that the passage of water, or rather the vapor of water, through the ground is the means of which all food is conveyed. to plants. The rain falling to the earth, assisted by numerous little rivulets under the surface, is perpetually drawn into the the surface, is perpetually drawn into the atmosphere by the heat of the sun, and in its passage among the plant roots carries their necessary food to them. This again points out the value of lines of trees, especially evergreens, which prevent the too rapid progress of the wind over the earth, and keep the ground after a shower much longer in a moist and growing condition. The proposed park contains many ranges of lofty hills, broad and pleasant valleys and rapid streams contains many ranges of lofty hills, broad and pleasant valleys and rapid streams and stretches of barren and rocky land, now covered with trees which with a little care can be preserved. The ground is generally unfit for agriculture, owing to the quality of the soil, which is light, poor and often of a peaty nature. It will, if well cared for, yield good crops of grass, but it is not needed for that purpose, there being vast areas yet unsettled adjoining, equally well adapted for the purpose. The reservation will form a resting-place for many wild animals and birds which it is desirable to preserve. For instance, there mimerons crecks and ponds are the favorite resort, in fact the very home of the beaver, one of our most valuable fur-bearing animals. Such a place will in time form a mals. Such a place will in time form a most agreeable resort for those who go to the country, not to destroy life but to enjoy pattern.

Inside Facts About Mosquitoes,

The term "no mosquitoes" in the Summer resort advertisement is merely an abbreviation and means "number of mosquitoes."

While the ant has a picnic, the 1 squito While the ant has a picule, the resquite gees in for a moonlight screenic.
You never know much about the unattainable until you get up in the middle of the night and reach for the mosquite with the wet end of a towel.

The microscope discloses the fact that the mosquite's sting is full of teeth. This no doubt explains the origin of the buzzaw.

saw.

It seems strange that it should be any where respected, yet gyer in Jersey the mosquito is a big bug.

It has been said that the mosquito has some of the best blood of the country in its yeins, and yet it is only the presumpits veins, and yet it is only the presump-tuous insect that gets mashed on the pretty girl.

How strange that it should continue to do such terrible execution when it is always leaving its sting behind.

leaving its sting behind.

The mosquito knows enough to first sing you to sleep so that it can sting you with impunity, and even when you murder it the poor thing is dead stuck on you.

The mosquito is a sucker and will stick you whenever it can.

In all of its battles it always draws first blood.

Thanks to the mosquito, the angler can never complain of not zetting a bite.
