THE MARKETS

London, Thursday, March 8. The clear weather and the bettered condition of the roads throughout the country probably accounted for an at-tendance at the market this morning that was larger than has been usual recently on Thursday. The supplies, however, except dressed meats, were inadequate, considering the paudity that has characterized the market for some time. There continues to be a carcity of butter, and consequently, famine prices are ruling. Eggs were about the same, with both supplies and prices unvaried. The offerings of poultry remain conspicuously small.

THE QUEEN

Jubilee Day Repeated. London, March 8 .- The Queen reached Paddington station about 12:30 today and proceeded under a cavalry escort to Buckingham Palace, amidst scenes rivaling in enthusiasm those of Jubilee Day. For hours before the Queen started for London, crowds ga-thered in the streets, which had been announced as her route, and which were decorated with flags. It was fog-gy and cold, but no one seemed to care. By and cold, but no one seemed to care. At Paddington the railway station had been cleared of the general public, but outside thousands of people waited pa-tiently. When the train from Windsor arrived a tremendous cheer went up. Her Majesty came down the sloping platform, leaning on the arm of a turbaned Indian attendant, and entered an open landau, in which also sat Princess Henry of Battenburg and Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Hol-

They all wore black, and round her neck the Queen had a sable collarette. From the packed sidewalks and from every available window came a contin-uous roar of cheers, while hundreds of little flags were waved all the way to Buckingham Palace. The side streets were packed, ten, twenty and some-times a hundred deep. But it was around the palace itself that the chief throng gathered. By noon it was estimated that 50,000 PEOPLE WERE GATHERED about the Queen's town residence. There were hundreds of police on hand but they had little difficulty in keeping the crowd in order.

IN THE PALACE COURTYARD. In the spacious courtyard of the palace a gathering of men, represent-ing Great Britain's best blood and brains, walked up and down, chat-ting about the war and politics. The women's dresses were unusually gay, N and served to enliven the scene. Soon after noon, the Duke and Duchess of York drove into the courtyard and received an ovation. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain joined,

UNNOTICED, the distinguished throng in the courtyard. Later the Duke and Duchess of York appeared on a balcony in front of the palace.

As time passed the crowds outside grew more packed, and the peers and members of the House of Commons trooped out of sight into the inner quadrangle, where they waited to re-ceive the Queen.

"SHE IS COMING!"

Then from Constitution Hill came the roar of distant cheers, and the cry of "She is coming!" was passed from mouth to mouth. Among those who sat and shivered on the stone base, outside the ralling, was the Countess Brownlow, a daughter of one of Eng-land's bluest-blooded peers, and be-side her was a frayed old woman, her wizened face almost through the iron bars. Now the roar was taken up by those within the precincts of the palace. Back flew the great gates, and up went the royal standard. A patrol of police went by, followed by a flash of steel, as the Life Guards men and outriders trouted through the starts outriders trotted through the gates, and then all hats flew in the air,

Dublin, March 8.—Commenting on the proposed visit of Queen Victoria to Ireland next month, the Dally Indepen-dent says: "The Nationalists will have no other desire but that her majesty should receive at the hands of the Irish the respectful welcome due to her exalted station and her high personal character."

The Daily Express, after remarking that the visit is intended as a marked and most notable expression of her majesty's indebtedness to the "gallant Irishmen who have served her so nobly in her hour of anxiety," cordially as-sures the Queen that she will receive the heartiest welcome.

Did Not Long Survive His Soldier Son Who Lost His Life at Mo.der River.

Mr. Patrick Donegan died this morning at his home, No. 559 Colborne street. In 1838 he was born at Danneville, Que., where he was educated, and became connected with the Grand Trunk Railway Company. He was a locomotive engineer on this line, but when the Canadian Pacific Rail-road was completed Mr. Donegan became an employe on that road. He had charge of the first engine that ran over it. At various times he lived in Brockville, Perth, and in Smith's Falls, and in 1894 he removed to London to assume the duties of locomotive foreman at the C. P. R. roundhouse. all his positions he proved himself worthy and efficient, gaining the respect and confidence of his employers and the esteem of his fellow-employes. In December, 1898 he first suffered from an internal ailment that forced him to discontinue his work in the early part of January in this year. Mr. Donegan was twice married, and leaves a large family. His son, Pte. John Donegan, was among the Canadians who were killed at the Modder River fight, and this, no doubt, has-tened the father's death. Londoners generally, and many friends through-out the country, will sympathize sincerely with the surviving members of the family in the double affliction that has befallen them.

remain at about the same figure, es-pecially as it was known that nine out every ten deaths are caused by kidney disease in some form. This discovery startled the investi-gators somewhat. For the decrease was traced, in every case, to Dodd's Kidney Pills. It was found that a few years ago, before this medicine was introduced, the recoveries from Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Lumbago, Rheuma-tism Scintica, Neurolato, Beneuraia tism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Urinary and Bladder Diseases, Blood Impurities, Diseases of Women and Heart Disease was very rare. But since Dodd's Kidney Pills have come into general use these diseases never prove fatal, when the pills are used. In proof of this claim Owen Byrne, of Perth, states that he was completely cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. He suffered for a long period, and no other remedy did him any good. His sufferings were very distressing, and he was in a totally hopeless state when he began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cured him in a few weeks. This is only one of hundreds of cures in this county.

Wm. Thayer, aged 40, of Buffalo, a Lehigh conductor, was missed from his train, an east-bound local, at Manchester, N. Y., Tuesday night, and his hor-nibly mutilated body was found lying beside the track.
