TWO RACES, IN- STEAD OF ONE

Made by the Concessions to French Settlers.

VIEWS OF THE LON-DON CHRONICLE.

If Bourassa is a Type of French-Canadian, the Loyalty of the Race Might be Fairly Described as Sincere, but Passive and Critical.

London, Aug. 30.-The Daily Chronicle, commenting on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speeches in France, says that there is something picturesque as well as poignant in Sir Wilfrid assuring the Frenchmen of the contentment of himself and his compatriots under British rule.

The French-Canadian, if Henri Bourassa, the French-Canadian M. P., rightly interprets them, in his article in the Monthly Review, think they have already done enough for the integrity of the Empire, and are dubious about entering into any fresh engagements.

It was doubtless with a view to their susceptibilities, the Chronicle remarks, supposed to be passenger and baggage cars were hurled eighteen feet down the embankment. A brakeman was lighting the car lamps when the crash came, and the wreckage was ignited by oil.
