Were accompanied through the harbor by the steamer Queen City, or board of which boat were a R. Carmichae and a number of our Toronto friends and a numbe

with the cheer they swarmed aboard, giving us a welcome that made our hearts giving us a welcome that made our near swarm and our heads dizzy. Byington and Skinner hadn't been aboard five minutes till the orew were invited to dinner at the Walton house, which was accepted for 7.30 p.m. the time till then was agreeably filled in visiting our many old friends in the town, and in making new acquaintances, our only wisking our many old friends in the town, and in making new acquaintances, or only regret being the absence of our esteemed friend Unde John Fiannagan, of the Utica Observer. At dinner renewed our acquaintance with Mrs. and Miss Byington, and Miss Lines, who were as charming as ever, indeed the meal was like a family re-union, and was most enjoyable to the jolly company assembled. After dinner an imprompru dance and concert was gotten up for our benefit in the parlors of the Walton house, and atten o'clock, Mr. Hubbard kindly extending an invitation to our party to a dance at his hotel, all adjourned there, spending a very pleasant hour, till at 11.30 the crew were taken in charge by Messrs. Byington and Skinner and escorted to a steam yacht in waiting to take us for a moonlight sail through the islands. We start on our ways singing yachting songs, etc., while Skinner lets of irreworks incressantly. We must have broken up a fourth of July party somewhere this summer to get such a supply. The trip was delightful and so unexpected that the enjoyment was greatly enhanced thereby. Arriving back on board our oraft at 2 a. m., we were soon stowed away in our bunks, sleeping soundly till Charlies swab_ng decks in the early morning awoke as to the pleasures of another day.

Visited Crossinon and Thousand Island house, Attended the hop at the latter. 10 p.m.—Yisited by several ladies and gentlemen. Music by our guests and crew, refreshments, etc. Return to the dance, 10.30 p.m.—Mrs. L. J. Cosgrave and daughters extrive from Kingston. 12 p.m.—See crew Wednesday, Aug. 19.—Braskfastand.

Music by our guests and crew, refreshments, etc. Return to the dance, 10.30 p.m.—Mrs. L. J. Cosgrave and daughters exrive from Kingston. 12 p.m.—See crew aboard and turned in for the night.

Wednesday, Aug. 19.—Breakfasted with Messrs. Lines and Skinner at hotel. 11 a.m.—Skinner returns to Clayton, much to our regret. To day the crew take a much needed rest, and occupy the time receiving and returning visits, playing an odd game of billiards or ten pins till evening, when the dance proved too great an attraction, and all participated therein, returning aboard, however, at 11 p.m.

Thursday, Aug. 20.—Go to meet mail boat at 7.30 a.m., which has on board Mrs. Davidson, wives of the owners mentioned. They proved a great acquisition to our little party, and were delighted with the islands and the entertainments we and our triends were able to arrange for their enjoyment. Their presence has been an added and successful feature to cur annual cruise, and will certainly be rep ated next year, when we hope all our owners may be with us, together with their ladies. 9 a.m.—Visited by Mrs. and Mr.
