

The CONTENTS.

Mr. Tavernier's Travels into India; containing an Account of the Roads from Candabar and Surat to Agra, and from Agra to Dehly and Gehenabat, where the Great Mogul then resided: As also how to travel to the Court of the King of Golconda, and to the King of Vasapour, and many other Places in the Indies, P. 349

C H A P. I.
The Road from Surat to Agra, Ibid.

C H A P. II.
The Road from Candabar to Agra, P. 354

C H A P. III.
The Road from Agra to Patna and Dacca, Cities in the Province of Bengal, P. 357

C H A P. IV.
Of the several Roads from Surat to Golconda, and so to Mallipatan, Gandicot, and Golconda, P. 359

C H A P. V.
Of the Empire and Kings of Indostan, called the Great Mogul's, with their Court and Wars, P. 364

C H A P. VI.
Of the Commodities, which are brought as well out of the Dominions of the Great Mogul, as out of the Kingdoms of Golconda, Visapour, and other Parts of India, P. 373

C H A P. VII.
Of the several Religions practised in the East-Indies, and Things relating to them, P. 376

C H A P. VIII.
Of the Fruits, Beasts, Birds, and other Things remarkable in Mogulistan, P. 383

C H A P. IX.
Of several small Kingdoms in the Indies, which do not depend on the Mogul, P. 385

The Travels of Monsieur Thevenot into the Levant, faithfully abridg'd, with what is further taken Notice of by Du Mont, or Le Brun, P. 394

C H A P. I.
Of the Way to Constantinople, and the Description of the City, Ibid.

C H A P. II.
Of the Shape, Strength, Cloathing, Customs and Manners of the Turks, P. 404

C H A P. III.
Of the Learning and Religion of the Turks, P. 405

C H A P. IV.
Of the Government of the Turks, P. 409

C H A P. V.
Of the Grand Seignior's Forces by Land and Sea, P. 411

C H A P. VI.
Of the Christians and Jews that are subject to the Grand Seignior, P. 412

C H A P. VII.
Of the Author's Voyage from Constantinople to Alexandria, and Grand Cairo in Egypt, P. 384

C H A P. VIII.
The Author's Travels into other Parts of Egypt, and what he observed most remarkable, P. 425

C H A P. IX.
Mr. Thevenot's Travels from Cairo into the Deserts of Arabia, and to the Red-Sea, P. 432

C H A P. X.
Mr. Thevenot's Travels to Jerusalem, and several other Parts of Judæa, from Cairo in Egypt, P. 435

C H A P. XI.
Mr. Thevenot's Travels from Alexandria in Egypt to Leghorn, and so Home, P. 447

An Historical Relation of the Island of Ceilon, in the East-Indies, by R. Knox, a Captain near Twenty Years; improved with all necessary Additions. Taken out of the History of Capt. John Ribeyro, a Portuguese, who lately writ of the said Island, P. 450

C H A P. I.
A general Description of the Island of Ceilon, with the Cities and Towns of greatest Note in it, P. 453

C H A P. II.
Of their Corn, Fruits and Plants, P. 455

C H A P. III.
Of their Roots, Plants, Herbs and Flowers, P. 457

C H A P. IV.
Of their tame and wild Beasts and Insects, P. 458

C H A P. V.
Of their Birds, Fish, Serpents and Commodities, P. 459

C H A P. VI.
Of the King's Person, Power and Government, P. 461

C H A P. VII.
Of the King's Revenues, Treasures, Officers, Governours of Provinces, and Strength in War, P. 465

C H A P. VIII.
A Relation of a Rebellion against their King, P. 467

C H A P. IX.
Of the Inhabitants; their different Ranks and Qualities, P. 468

C H A P. X.
Of their Religion, Gods, Temples, Priests, Worship, Festivals, Doctrines and Practices, P. 471

C H A P. XI.
Of their Houses, Diet, Housewifery, Salutation and Apparel, P. 475

C H A P. XII.
Of their Lodging, Bedding, Whoredom, Marriages and Children, P. 477

C H A P. XIII.
Of their Employments and Recreations, P. 478

C H A P. XIV.
Of their Laws and Languages, P. 480

C H A P. XV.
Of their Learning, Astronomy and Magick, P. 482

C H A P. XVI.
Of their Sickness, Death and Burial, P. 483

An Account of the Kingdom of Siam. Extracted out of the Voyages of Six Jesuits sent into the Indies by the French King, 1685. And the Relation of Monsieur de la Loubere, the French King's Envoy to Siam, 1687, 1688, P. (465)

The Memoirs and Observations, Topographical, Natural, Civil and Ecclesiastical, made by Lewis Le Comte, Jesuit and Confessor to the Dukes of Burgundy, in his Journey thro' the Empire of China; and published in several Letters to Persons of the best Quality in France; Abridged: Together with what is further observable in Father Gabriel Magellan's History of China, p. (486)

BOOK III. Travels, &c. thro' all Parts of Europe.

DR. Edward Brown's Travels into divers Parts of Europe, viz. Hungaria, Bulgaria, Macedonia, Theffaly, Austria, Styria, Carinthia, Carniola, and Friuli: Through a great Part of Germany, and the Low-Countries; through Marca, Trevisana and Lombardy; on both Sides the Po; with Observations on the Mines, Baths and Mineral Waters in all those Parts, &c. P. 501

A general Description of Hungary, Ibid.

A Journey from Vienna in Austria, to Larissa in Theffaly, by Dr. Brown, P. 504

A Description of Larissa in Theffaly, by the Same, P. 508

Some Occurrences and Observations in this Journey, by the Same, P. 511

A Journey from Gomorrhah, to the Mine-Towns in Hungary, and from thence to Vienna, by the Same, P. 513

Travels from Norwich to Cologne, by Dr. Brown, P. 522

From Cologne to Vienna, by the Same, P. 526

From Vienna in Austria, to Hamburg, P. 534

From Cologne in Germany, to London, P. 538

From Venice to Genoa, by the Same, P. 541

Ob.