BOSTON LECTURES

ON

CHRISTIANITY AND SCEPTICISM.

In this book the most important subjects are treated by the ablest minds. The work consists of a course of ten lectures delivered in Boston during the past winter, on the leading questions of the age, by the Professors and Presidents of our different colleges. All the topics are vitally connected with the thought and agitation of the times, and are intended to meet living issues. The idea that runs through them all, like a central nerve,—Is Christianity able to complete what it has begun?

Though only a few days out of press, there have already been ordered between two and three thousand copies.
