

EMMETT'S GRAVE.

"There is a grave in Dublin, whose sad and silent stone, No name of him who sleeps beneath; no eulogy makes known; No prayer for the departed soul, no monumental bust; Arose the careless sepulchre that shrouds a martyr's dust."

HOUSE AND HOUSEHOLD.

When Oscar Wilde, at the suggestion of Whistler, the artist, undertook a crusade against the ugliness then prevailing in painting, and preached the gospel of beauty in art, he had a good deal to say to the artist, but he said nothing to the household.

may be lifted up with a skimmer on to brown paper, and will be found firm and thoroughly delicious. Cooked in this way they may be served as a garnish to a daintily broiled beefsteak, to a dish of fried chops or beefsteaks.

Practical House-keeping. Never give your children anything because they cry for it.

A bowl of quinine kept in a cupboard will soon absorb the moisture, and there being no washing of silk in beer is said to give it a lustre almost equal to that possessed when new.

Twelve pounds of peaches, six pounds of sugar and one pint of vinegar is a good proportion for pickled peaches.

Decorating rooms for reception use one kind of flowers for each room, as roses for one, carnations for another, violets in another, etc.

Break cake—Two cups of sugar, two cups of bread-crumbs, two eggs, one cup of butter or dripping, one teaspoonful of cloves, cinnamon, nutmeg and soda, one cup of raisins.

In making up flowers avoid stiff, set forms and let them be artistic in grace and simplicity, as pure to nature as possible, with plenty of the pretty foliage which surrounds them when growing.

In bottling cut-up pickles, boil the corks, and while hot you can press them into the bottles, and when cold they are tightly sealed. Use the tin lid from compressed yeast to cover the corks.

If you can give your noses a window in some room that has no stove in it, yet which does not freeze, they will do them less injury than continual dry heat.

The wild red plum is not a favorite fruit in many households because of the bitter taste which it develops in cooking. This bitterness may be entirely overcome by first parboiling the fruit in saleratus water.

A good way to make fritters is to take three eggs, three cups of buttermilk, one rounding teaspoonful of soda, and a little salt; stir in flour to make stiff batter. Have the fat hot, and fry, dipping in a spoonful at a time.

"In cooking fruit," an expert house-keeper says, "it is wise to use a great deal of sugar, and as sugar is so cheap this year everybody can have it. Plain-canned fruit is apt to turn, and does not retain its flavor as well as when a little rich."

How to Study Music. You may never learn to play readily in company; you may never acquire manual dexterity sufficient to rattle off a piece with facility; you may never be able to weave an accompaniment once fully grasped the idea of a perfect chord, and the study of music will not be in vain.

The Emperor of Russia visited, not many years ago, a needle factory in his dominions in order to see what machinery with the human hand could produce. A number of very fine needles were shown to him, thousands of which, together did not weigh half an ounce, and he wondered that such minute objects could be pierced with an eye. But he was to see a still greater wonder. The worker, who is the workman whose business it is to bore the eyes in these needles, asked for a hair from the monarch's head. It was given to him readily, and with a smile. He placed it at once under the boring machine, made a hole in it with the greatest ease, furnished it with a thread, and then handed the singular needle to the astonished czar. The second curious needle is in the possession of Queen Victoria. It was made at the celebrated needle manufactory at Redditch, and represents the column of Trajan in miniature, a well-known Roman column, which is adorned with numerous scenes in sculpture, showing Trajan's heroism in war. On the needles, too are represented scenes in Victoria's life, but they are done in such minute pattern that it takes a magnifying glass to see them. And more than this, the Victoria needle can be opened. Within it are several needles of a smaller size, upon all of which are traced scenes in relief.

Choice Breakfast Dishes. Chicken Omelet.—Four eggs, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of milk, one tablespoonful of butter. Beat the eggs with an egg beater, add the salt and milk, put one spoonful of butter in the spider, and when melted pour in the eggs. Have ready a cupful of melted chicken, warmed in sweet cream. When the omelet has been in the spider two or three minutes, pour in the chicken, shake the spider a little, then run a knife under to see if it is browned, lift out, fold over half-way and remove to hot platter. Serve immediately.

That Little Tickling. In your throat, which makes you cough once in a while and keeps you constantly clearing your throat, arises from catarrh, and as catarrh is a constitutional disease the ordinary cough medicines all fail to hit the spot. What you need is a constitutional remedy like Food's Sarsaparilla. Many people who have taken this medicine for scrofula, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, and other troubles, have been surprised that it should cure this troublesome cough, but to know the actual cause of the cough is to solve the mystery. Many cases of consumption can be traced back to the neglect of some such slight affection as this. Consumption can be controlled in its early stages, and the effect of Food's Sarsaparilla in purifying the blood, building up the general health, and expelling the germs which are the cause of catarrh and consumption, has restored to perfect health many persons on whom this dreaded disease seemed to have a firm hold.

Henry G. James, of Wrentham, Mass., writes: "For several years I was troubled with pimples and irritations of the skin. After other remedies failed I used four bottles of Burdock Blood Purifiers and since then I have been quite free from my complaint. H. G. J. will always occupy a place in my house."

Materal love is an instinct; but there are no instincts of Divine origin. Popularly called the king of medicines—Food's Sarsaparilla. It conquers scrofula, salt rheum and all other blood diseases. Success has sometimes to be paid for, after having been fairly earned.

Clean as a whistle—everything that is cleaned with Pearline. It takes away all that you want taken, and leaves fresh and pure all that you want left. It cleans house with half the work; it does your washing while you wait. Pearline is a harmless powder. It is hard to waste it, easy to use it, but difficult to do without it.

BROCKVILLE.

Presentations to the Very Rev. Vicar-General Gauthier by School Teachers and Pupils. The fourth of November is always looked forward to by the people of St. Francis Xavier congregation of Brockville as a day of joy, being the Patronal feast of their beloved and esteemed pastor, Very Rev. Vicar-General Gauthier. When the happy day came round this year the pupils and teachers of St. Francis Separate School took occasion to testify their love and esteem for their Very Rev. pastor and to congratulate him on his recent high honor conferred upon him and on the parish of Brockville through his elevation, by the Most Rev. Dr. Cleary, Archbishop of Kingston, to the Vicar-Generalship of the archdiocese.

Very Rev. Vicar-General Gauthier, in the happy recurrence of your patronal feast, suffer the little boys of your flock to gather about you, to greet you on this your festival day. A year has winged its rapid flight since last we assembled here to render you our greetings on the feast of your illustrious and glorious patron the holy St. Borromeo, and in that year we have witnessed two events which will remain fresh in our memories as long as we live—the creation of our new and magnificent school and the promotion of yourself, very rev. dear father, to the Vicar-Generalship of the tallest and most precious Archdiocese in our country—the archdiocese of Kingston.

Your little boys are proud, dear Vicar, to see their pastor so highly honored and so happily promoted. In fact, it is not only our Holy Church in Ontario—the Most Rev. Dr. Cleary, who we think from the fullness of our childish hearts, and we earnestly intend by our conduct and our industry in the future to try to be worthy of the honor which he has conferred, not only on our parish of Brockville, but on each and every one of ourselves in raising a friend and every one, so dear to us, to such an eminent position. Of your efforts in bringing about the creation of our magnificent school we would like to say a few words. We have watched you, dear Vicar, pursuing daily your onerous and exhausting labors; we have seen you at the altar in the morning offering up the most holy Sacrifice of the Mass for the members of your dear flock, each and every one; we have seen you hurrying to the Church to pour the regenerating waters of Baptism on the little infant, thereby making another soul eligible to the glorious inheritance of our Father in Heaven; we have seen you at the bedside of the dying, giving consolation to the poor soul so soon to leave this earth for the great unknown, whence no traveller ever returns; we have seen you everywhere, in fact, where God's holy minister should be; and all this time we have wondered how you could snatch a moment to think of us and our schools; but we not, even for a moment, lost sight of us; you have visited us in our classes; you have cheered us by your kindly word on the streets, and greater than all, you have superintended the erection of one of the largest and most beautiful schools in our fair young Dominion. And now, dear Vicar, we will ask you to accept this little gift, as a slight token of the love which fills our hearts for you, and we earnestly pray that your glorious patron, will smile on you from heaven during the coming year, so when your festival day again comes round you will still be at our post, the good shepherd watching his flock. Begging your blessing, dear Vicar, we are, as ever, Your boys of St. Francis Xavier School.

Signed on behalf of the pupils of St. Francis Xavier School, JAS. T. NOONAN, JOHN A. MAJOR, NEREA SMITH, JOHN KEHO, EDWARD BOYD, LAWRENCE BOYD, JOHN BARAK, JOHN GRAHAM, JOHN MULDOON.

The very rev. Vicar replied in his usual eloquent and happy manner, complimenting both pupils and teachers on the excellent standing of their schools and on the beautiful sentiments of Catholic piety contained in their address. Rev. J. J. Kelly, pastor of Yonge, who was also present, made one of these beautiful addresses for which he is so distinguished, in which he pointed out to the pupils the grand privilege of having a good sound Catholic education, after which the pupils retired to their homes, delighted with having performed an act worthy of the Catholic youth of the "Thousand Island City."

WEBER or STEINWAY? When the late Mr. HENRY PRINCE, who in his lifetime was admitted to be a marvellous judge of TONE, was asked to give his opinion of the merits of the two leading Pianos, he gave the following criticism, which was published at the time: "IS IT WEBER OR STEINWAY?" "In speaking of these two pianos, I do not ignore the claims of other makers. There are many good commercial pianos, in the sense in which we speak of commercial pictures, as distinct from those that are genuine works of art. They are generally well made, and being sold at a moderate price, give satisfaction to the ordinary purchaser. But the musician, the artist or the connoisseur, who wishes to obtain from the piano the grandest results of which this noble instrument is capable, will have to seek these results from either of the two great makers, Weber or Steinway.
