

REFERENCES

- Almquist, R. G. 1989. Paralytic activity of (des-Glu1)conotoxin GI analogs in the mouse diaphragm. International Journal of Peptide and Protein Research 34(6):455-62.
- Barany, G., Kneib, N. and Mullen-Daniel, G. 1986. Peptide Synthesis, Solid-phase Method. Encyclopedia of Polymer Science and Engineering, Second Edition, Vol. 12, Pages 811-858.
- Dougan, G. and Fairweather, N. 1985. Genetic analysis of Gram-positive toxin determinants: the impact of new technologies. Microbiological Sciences Vol. 2;144-147.
- Feith, D. J. 1986/87. Biological Weapons and the Limits of Arms Control. The National Interest-Winter 1986/87 pp. 80-84.
- Gauthier, J. 1986. Industrial Opportunities for New Proteins and Peptides produced by Biotechnology. New Biotech Vol. 1 p. 13
- Hemsely, J. 1987. The Soviet Biochemical Threat to NATO. St. Martin's Press, New York.
- Kao, C. Y. and Levinson, S. R. (eds.) 1986. Tetrodotoxin, Saxitoxin and the Molecular Biology of the Sodium Channel, Annals of the New York Academy of Sciences, Vol. 479.
- Kloog, Y. et al. 1988. Sarafotoxin, a Novel Vasoconstrictor Peptide: Phosphoinositide Hydrolysis in Rat Heart and Brain. Science (Washington, D.C.) 242:268-270.
- Koob, G. F. et al. 1990. A Decade of Neuropeptides. Annals of the New York Academy of Sciences, Volume 579.
- Lennette, Edwin H. et al. 1985. Manual of Clinical Microbiology Fourth Edition. American Society for Microbiology, Washington DC.
- Meselson, M. et al. 1990. Verification of Biological and Toxin Weapons Disarmament. In, Verification, Monitoring Disarmament edited by F. Calogero, Marvin L. Goldberger and Sergei Kapitza, Westview Press, Boulder and London, pages 149-164.
- Middelbrook, J. and Dorland, R. 1984. Bacterial Toxins: Cellular Mechanism of Action. Microbiological Reviews Vol. 48:199-209.
- Middlebrook, J. 1986. Cellular Mechanism of Action of Botulinum Neurotoxin. Journal of Toxicology and Toxin Reviews Vol. 5:184-185.
- O'Dorisio, M. S. and Panerai, A. 1990. Neuropeptides and Immuno-peptides: Messengers in a Neuroimmune Axis. Annals of the New York Academy of Sciences, Volume 594, 503 pages.