

Education is a subject that should demand the earnest consideration of every man and woman of our land, and it is generally conceded that Brockville as an educational centre is not surpassed by any other city or town in this Province. Messrs. Gay & McCord, principals and proprietors of

are experts in the line of work they teach, and judging from the large number of graduates going out from the College from time to time, and securing good situations, we would emphatically assert, that as a lever for securing an entrance into the business world, a course under the instruction of these gentlemen and their staff, is the most efficient preparation a young man or woman can have.

This institution is patronized largely by Public School Teachers, who dissatisfied with the small remuneration they receive, take up the work here, and thus enter a sphere where their services are appreciated and paid for accordingly. The course is arranged for all grades of students, the tuition rates are moderate, and the thoroughly practical nature of the work taught at this College, makes it one of the most popular and important educational institutions in our midst.

The principals of the College inform us that the field for competent Shorthand writers is ever widening, and that at the present time there are thousands of good positions going-a-begging for the lack of competent persons to fill them. Young men and women having a good education and who are possessed of enough pluck and grit to attend right to business, are in demand, and will be sure to make their mark in the world.
