Cap a l'Aigle, Ste. Irene, the objective points for many summer tourists. Murray Bay is one of the most delightful of the many beautiful summer resorts on the River St. Lawrence, but the interest which centres there is not that of beautiful scenery alone. History, tradition, legend and folklore all contribute their full share. Long before Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence, Indian warfare had left its mark of centuries of strife and bloodshed upon the shores. The golf course at Murray Bay has an international reputation.

The summer resorts of the Lower St. Lawrence have so increased in favour as to demand special train arrangements. During the season, the "St. Lawrence Special," a solid train of vestibule sleeping cars, is run from Montreal to Metis Beach, special sleepers being assigned to passengers for Murray Bay, Cacouna and Metis Beach.

that these farms, originally of fair width, have, from time to time, been divided among heirs by the simple process of running the lines from front to rear, so as to give each a share of frontage on the highway. In some instances this has made the strips very narrow. The people of this part of Canada are industrious, peaceful and plain in their tastes. All speak their mother tongue, and are fervent adherents to their mother church. In these particulars they are very much as were their forefathers of early Canada, but evidences are plentiful that they have kept pace with modern methods of farming and conducting business.

- 277.0 Riviere du Loup Alt. 314.5 Population 7,000. Riviere du Loup is an important railway centre, being a divisional point on the line of the Canadian National Railways. The Temiscouata Railway runs from here to Edmundston and Connor's, N.B. Riviere du Loup, which is incorporated as the town of Fraserville, extends to the mighty St. Lawrence, here like a broad sea with all its possibilities—bathing, boating and fishing, with shooting in the proper season. There is good summer hotel accommodation. Apart from its own attractions it is a convenient centre from which one may go to various points, either on the river or in the forest, where fish and game abound. Near the railway the waters of Riviere du Loup have a descent of over 200 feet by a succession of falls making their way over a rocky gorge. The town has several large and important industrial establishments and is a centre where a great deal of business is transacted.

On the opposite side of the St. Lawrence is Tadousac, at the mouth of the wondrous Saguenay River, which has been described as "one of Nature's most remarkable works in a continent where Nature's wonders abound." A regular steamship service is maintained between Fraserville Wharf and Tadousac and other points on the north shore of the St. Lawrence.
