

God's Purposes in this Age. By PROF. E. F. STROETER. Points out the inconsistencies of much of our modern preaching, in an earnest, fearless but courteous manner. We cannot afford to be in the dark as to God's plans. The author has shown wonderful discrimination, and in the four chapters of the book clearly shows God's order, not only as it relates to this dispensation, but also to the age to come, better than some treatises of forty chapters. There is much of value done up in a small parcel. It ought to be read by everyone seeking light on this important but generally misunderstood subject. Price 10c.

TRACTS.

In that Great Day. The author, whose name is unknown, describes in vivid and impressive language some of the wonderful scenes which will be enacted before the Judgment Seat of Christ—how some will be gloriously rewarded for their zeal, self-denial, and holy living, while others will suffer loss, or be only saved as by fire. Profoundly impressive and stirring. 12 pages, 15c. per doz.

The Church Walking with the World. An impressive poem, and calculated to awaken worldly church members to a sense of their sad condition. 8 pages. 10c. per doz.

The Missing Ones. A most striking picture of what is soon to take place when the saints are caught up to meet their Lord. A solemn warning to lukewarm professors of religion. 10c. per doz.

That Blessed Hope. Showing the many blessed effects upon the heart and life which the hope of Christ's return produces. 10c. per doz.
