

Location

Fort McMurray is situated at the confluence of the Athabasca and Clearwater Rivers, distance about 250 miles N.E. of Edmonton, is the head of Navigation for the Great North Country, a geographical center of a vast rich but undeveloped district, the position itself being, indisputably, the most beautiful and conveniently-located natural City site in Canada.

