Edited by LAURA E. McCULLY, B.A.

On King Street.

The vogue of the brette and jumper suit which the advancing season will not alter, but merely supplement with a coat, renders the fancy separate waist, especially in lace and bead, an indispensable adjunct to the smart afternoon costume.

At Miss Stone's (the Louvre, 111 King-street) some very pretty specimens of the separate fancy waist were seen. Chief among these was a Parisian creation of broad ribbon and lace insertion, with yoke of the same. Very pretty net and yak lace blouses were also seen.

For the fall opening, the Louvre has some notable black hats in picture and Gainsboro styles. One of these, with pleated silk rim and velvet crown, has a large sheet of roses across the front, and a draped scarf of net, edged with silk. Another is in real Gainsboro shape, and the brim is faced with rich brocade, the hat being trimmed with immense plumes. A dainty pearl felt has brown velvet bows and a wreath of softly-tinted panache. Perhaps the most striking hat seen at Miss Stone's opening was of black satin, with facing of poppy-red and mount of three poppy-red plumes. No more effective combination has been seen as yet this season.

Of the other hats seen, quite a majority seemed to be trimmed with rich, shimmering-glorious shades, most effective in velvet. Mouse-colored felts are elegantly trimmed with these flowers, and velvet bows add the right touch of richness.

map, Newburn, Allison and S. Henry, and the bride, Miss Jean Macleod, sister of the bride. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Norman Macleod. The groom was supported by Mr. L. J. Clarke. During the ceremony the choir rendered the bridal hymn, "The Voice That Breathed on Eden." The bride's gown was of white satin, trained, and finished with yoke of lace and chiffon ruffles. A bridal veil, caught with a spray of orange, fell from her hair, and she carried a shower bouquet of roses. The bride's costume was pink embroidered mull over silk, and she wore a pink hat with roses, carrying a bouquet of "bridesmaid" roses with pink streamers. After the ceremony, Mrs. Macleod, the bride's mother, received the throng of guests at her residence. She was dressed in black satin with jet ornaments and yoke and sleeves of tulle. After the usual toasts and speeches, the happy couple left for Victoria, B.C., the bride traveling in a costume of the Macleod train. They will reside in Calgary.

The Misses Mary Adair of Philadelphia, Margaret Sinclair of Wallingford, May Sinclair of Boston, and Millie Spence of Toronto arrived home last night from a two months' tour of Europe. Miss Adair leaves for Philadelphia to-day to resume her duties as head of the Normal Kindergarten College there.

Mrs. Sidney Small gave a tea in honor of some English visitors at her home, Walmer-road.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. A. Reid Muir, 313 Brock-avenue, Toronto, where Miss Isabel Sinclair was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Wilkinson. The bride, who was given away by Mr. A. Reid Muir, has just arrived from North Shields, England. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. McCausland, curate. The bride looked charming attired in beautiful white silk tulle with regulation veil and orange blossoms. The bridesmaid, Miss Jessie Reid Muir, who has also come lately from London, England, wore pretty pale blue voile elaborately trimmed. The groom was attended by Mr. Jack Gardner of this city.

LOCAL FRUIT MARKET.

Commission men generally on the wholesale fruit market in this city are roundly condemning the Canadian Fruit Company for what they claim is an unfair disregard of the wishes of the wholesale section of the market.

It is claimed that a great deal of unfairness is being done in the forwarding of fruit from the Niagara district, but the most serious charge is involved in the handling of the fruit, and that this city and before it is placed in the hands of the commission men.

In many cases the cars are said to have arrived in the city at daybreak, been driven down to the foot of Yonge-street, and then taken to the market before 5 o'clock in the evening. One man will be placed over a car of four or five hundred bushels of fruit, and the fruit is received very often in bad shape, and too late to catch the selling market, entailing loss to the commission men.

"If it were not for the fact that we turn in and get our own stock of the cars," said a leading commission man yesterday, "the fruit would be rotten before we got it. We pay enough for the fruit to get it, and around Queen-street we get some kind of a discount from the express companies."

While the trouble is not a new one, it seems to be becoming more and more serious. Yesterday was one of the "big" days for this year, and a room was at a premium last night, but the fruit, altogether, showed little decline. Plums were a trifle more plentiful, and sold at a fractional advance on the market.

Grapes run all the way from 75c to $1.25 a basket, but in all other lines it looks like the market is a trifle better. Prices as revealed are:

MAJOR MANLEY DIES

WELL-KNOWN TEACHER

Former Principal of Jarvis-Street Collegiate—Had Military Career.

Educationists throughout Ontario, as well as many others in civil and military life, will learn with deep regret of the death of Major Frederick Fitzpatrick Manley, M.A., formerly principal of the Jarvis-street Collegiate Institute.

Mr. Manley was born in Teignmouth, Devonshire, Eng., coming to this country with his parents when quite young. He had years of experience in the home land, gave him a chance to place before thoughtful minds a deduction that Canada was really the first daughter of the nation and the first daughter in the world. The destiny of our Dominion is bright, but with its brightness must come increased and increasing responsibilities in imperial affairs. Once Canada was as unimportant as a country like Portugal or Belgium, its actions could be carried out with thought, not alone with local consideration, but for the British Empire as a whole. The Dominion, a day has emerged from a humble position to a very prominent one. Our ideas must be imperial, not parochial.

Mr. Greenwood next dealt with the Japanese outrages in Vancouver. His utterances contained a note of warning. Canadians who make reckless statements or irresponsible actions should be carried out with thought, not alone with local consideration, but for the British Empire as a whole. BY THROWING BRICK BAT MAY COMMENCE A WAR

Hamar Greenwood Emphasizes the Danger Lurking in the Vancouver Disorders.

"Canada and the Empire" was the theme of Mr. Hamar Greenwood's address to the members of the Empire Club of Canada yesterday at lunch hour at the St. Charles. Mr. Greenwood is an old Whittby boy, who, by his energy and ability, won his seat in the British Parliament as member for York, and has been named parliamentary secretary to Mr. Winston Churchill, M.P., secretary of state for the colonies.

Mr. Greenwood, being introduced to the large gathering by President Stewart, was at once interesting, his clear remarks dealing with solid facts gained thru wide travel and contact with the master minds of the British Empire. Mr. Greenwood is more than an orator; he furnishes brain food; a bountiful supply for his auditors to ponder over in the still hours of serious thought. Mr. Greenwood's message contained many notes of warning, yet they could not be termed pessimistic. His remarks reflected deep thought with far-reaching consequences.

Mr. Greenwood said it was a pleasure to address the Empire Club at its opening meeting after the vicissitudes suffered at the time when he did not know whether he would go up or down. To address a gathering of his countrymen, and with his brightness must come increased and increasing responsibilities in imperial affairs. Once Canada was as unimportant as a country like Portugal or Belgium, its actions could be carried out with thought, not alone with local consideration, but for the British Empire as a whole.
