Ballots by the Hundred Tempered With In Several of the Divisions of Ward Six Stunning Evidence of Fraud Unearthed in Board of Education Election.

NEW PHASE OF THE CORRUPTION

Interest in the civic election scandal suddenly shifted to the Board of Education ballots yesterday when five divisions investigated showed gross irregularities. He declared that a most atrocious condition is revealed by the examination of the votes cast in subdivisions 3, 4 and 9, Ward Six. The sensational developments from this source overshadowed in importance the reports of some eight more cases of personation in the votes for controllers discovered by the detectives in the second division of Ward Five. Interest remains keen in view of official intonations of further summonses being issued for at least one councillor and persons who the records show have voted more than once contrary to law.

Those involved by the new summons are:

- COL. JOHN GRAY, polling clerk No. 3, Ward 6, residence 1457 West Queen-st.
- FRANK A. GRAY, D.R.O., No. 3, Ward 6, druggist, 1406 West Queen-st.
- JOHN E. LATON, D.R.O., No. 3, Ward 6, a contractor, residence 1459 West Queen-st.
- ALFRED W. H. GIANNELLI, D.R.O., No. 1, Ward 6, manager Standard Store Service Co., residence 122 Empress-st.
- LOUIS H. GIANNELLI, poll clerk, No. 4, Ward 6, watchmaker, residence 135 Argyle-st.

Blown From Their Beds By a Cyclone in Alabama

Twenty-Eight Persons, Most Negroes, Killed and Over 100 Injured.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jan. 22.—The most disastrous cyclone that ever swept over this section struck Monday, Ala., a town of 500 inhabitants, 15 miles south of Tuscaloosa, this morning, at 1 o'clock, and as a result twenty-eight (mostly negroes) were killed, and more than 100 injured and every business store in town, with the exception of a small drug store, was completely destroyed. The cyclone struck the town from the southwest. Its path was a quarter of a mile wide right thru the town. By the force of the storm, persons were blown hundreds of feet from their beds in the blackness of the night. Three terror, a father, mother and three children fled from their home to seek refuge, and in their excitement left a five-year-old boy in bed. This morning he was pulled from beneath some timber and thus far it is impossible to find the other members of the family. Beds, carpets and wearing apparel scattered for a distance of ten miles thru what was forest, but is now as clear as if it had been cut by the woodman's ax.

Freight cars were torn into strips, the trucks under them being hurled hundreds of feet from the track. The depot, the hotel, warehouse, grain, thirty homes and wearing apparel scattered for a distance of ten miles thru what was forest, but is now as clear as if it had been cut by the woodman's ax.

Independent Phones 'Shun Time to Put in Application

To Have Connection or Communication With or Within a Railway Station. Ottawa, Jan. 22.—(Special.)—The Railway Commission Act comes into force on Feb. 1, and it behooves municipalities that have independent telephone systems which are not desirably connected, to move in the matter and have their desires satisfied. Much interest is being taken in the launching of the Railway Commission, and especially in the possible working along the line of granting independent telephone companies connection with railway stations. The Municipal Telephone Company of Port Arthur has already been given connection with the C.N.R., and will once apply to the Railway Commission for admission to the C.P.R. station. At Locust Hill, the Farmers' Co-Operative Telephone Company is still awaiting the C.P.R. station, but the members of the Co-Operative Company are moving and will immediately apply to the Railway Commission for power to connect their lines with the C.N.R. The section of the act under which application in every instance will be made is inserted on the accompanying page. The member for East York last session, and reads: "Whenever any municipality or corporation has the power to construct, operate and maintain a telephone system in any district, and such municipality or corporation is desirous of connecting such system with the telephone system of any railway company, it shall be the duty of such municipality or corporation to apply to the board for leave therefor, and the board may order a hearing and may, if it sees fit, grant such connection or communication upon such terms as to compensation as the board may deem just and expedient, and may order and direct how, when, where and by whom and upon what terms such connection or communication shall be constructed, operated and maintained."

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

Young Man in London Strikes Woman With Iron Bolt. London, Jan. 22.—A murderous assault was made on Mrs. Parker, an aged lady who keeps a small grocery at the corner of Colborne and Simco streets, this city, today. A young man whose name is thought to be Brooks, stepped into the store and asked for a pound of tobacco, and when Mrs. Parker handed him a tin, he struck her a heavy blow on the back of the head with a large iron bolt. When she turned around and faced him he struck her another blow on the forehead. At this he seemed to become frightened and ran out of the store. His motive for committing the crime was evidently that, as Mrs. Parker lives alone and is thought to have a little money stored away. Mrs. Parker's condition is serious. She was conveyed to the hospital and called for help. The police were notified and have a good prospect of finding the young man, and hope to locate him soon.

STATIC SPARK BROUGHT LIFE.

Interesting and Successful Experiment Tried by Petrolina Physicist. Petrolina, Jan. 22.—A successful experiment was tried by a local medical man the other day. Dr. R. S. Maclean, a little more than a year ago, had the faint that showed no signs of life. Ordinary means of establishing respiration were used with no avail. Dr. Calder, who was called in consultation, had read of a similar case in Essex County, where respiration had been restored by means of the static spark. He resolved to try it in this case. After warmly wrapping the infant in woollen he, with the father, hastily drove to his office, where he placed it under the influence of the static spark. The result was marvellous. The healing and invigorating element immediately gave evidence of working an improvement, and it was not long until the tiny mite was breathing naturally, and has continued to do so since. It is the opinion of those who are acquainted with the case that the child's life was saved by this means.

CANADIANS ON CANADA.

Contributors to Special Edition of Financial News Sound Praised. (Canadian Associated Press Cable.) London, Jan. 22.—The Financial News' twentieth anniversary number contains articles by prominent Canadians. H. S. Scott attributes Canadian trade expansion largely to the natural resources of the Dominion and the prominent position she has taken since the Diamond Jubilee. He finds Canada a little unsettled touching her trade policy, but is hopeful that her political destiny lies along lines advantageous to the Empire and the colony. The Hon. Mr. Blair writes of the great part that will be played by the new transcontinental line. Populating the districts about the Great Lakes would require five or six thru railways. D. R. Wilkie, dwelling on the banking system, says that the magnificent Canadian property has only been possible through the assistance of Canadian chartered banks. It is a remarkable fact that the deposits for the past eight years have more than doubled.

Perfect Mixer.

A mineral water, to be a good mixer, requires a certain peculiar combination. Nature seldom provides so skillfully as she does in her grand old workshop, the Laurentian Mountains, far removed from the crowded haunts of man, and very secretly, 500 feet below the surface. It is there that Nature is made by Dame Nature, and guides forth to the world the most careful hygienic supervision for the use of mankind in general and Canadians in particular. "Drink Radnor, the best of mixers."

END IS NOT YET IN SIGHT
SEVERAL MORE TO SPEAK

Hon. E. J. Davis and Mr. Downey
Held the Floor Yesterday
Till Adjournment.

The end of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne is not yet in sight. It is not likely that there will be a vote on the new member for North Oxford seated. Among the opposition members who are to speak are J. W. St. John, W. J. Hanna, R. G. Ganey and A. A. Mahaffey. Joseph Downey of South Wellington had the floor when the house adjourned at 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon. His vote remains on Monday afternoon, probably taking about an hour, and the Attorney-General will follow him. It has not yet been decided what other government members will speak in this debate.

There were few spectators in the gallery yesterday, when Hon. E. J. Davis took up the debate. He dealt with the home-education and asserted that the attitude of a newspaper must be judged from its general tone, not from a few isolated statements. The Globe had said some things of the opposition which were not complimentary. Mr. Davis dealt with the protest, defending himself from attacks of opposition speakers. Apart from the speeches, which were able, the only matter discussed was the side-tracking of questions addressed to the government. Col. Matheson charged that they were about to set the effect they might have on the vote in North Oxford next Tuesday.

Col. Matheson entered another protest against the questions on the order paper being put aside in favor of the debate with the speaker on the address. The Premier intimated that the address being under discussion and the debate involving what was practically a vote of want of confidence in the government, he thought it should go on and more especially as there are no pressing business on the order paper.

Col. Matheson still objected to the establishing of a practice entirely contrary to the rules. Some of the questions were important and might seriously affect the vote in North Oxford. The Attorney-General defended the procedure. It was very inexpedient and inconvenient that a different course of business should be going on parallel with the debate on the address.

The Speaker read from Bouring page 251, to the effect that the order of Canadian practice to discuss public business, during the consideration of the address, and further that the transaction of all public business should be avoided till the adoption of the address. The debate on the order paper.

Hon. Mr. Davis resumed his speech, but declined to call the attention of the house to the fact that the resolution of the order paper was not a matter of confidence in the government. He stated that the house should not be called into a debate involving what was practically a vote of want of confidence in the government. He stated that the house should not be called into a debate involving what was practically a vote of want of confidence in the government.

He approached with fear and trembling the subject of his speech, but his regard for the sanctity of his cabinet obligations would be sufficient to extricate him from any such predicament. Gladstone making the statement that
