LIBERALS CARRY NORTH BRUCE BY OVER THREE HUNDRED

Mr. Tolmie Elected and Incidentally Cuts Into the Strong Opposition Divisions.

Port Elgin, Oct. 30.—After a keen contest the electors of North Bruce, by a majority of about 350, today returned Mr. John Tolmie, the Liberal candidate, as their representative. The towns made a splendid showing. Port Elgin leading with a majority of 113, Kincardine following close with 112, and Southampton 106. Warton gave McLellan 25. The farmers of Bruce Township swelled up 275 of a majority for the Liberal candidate, and Saugeen 112, while the Conservative townships showed a marked decrease in their voting strength. The Conservative organization was under the direction of Hugh Clark, M.P.P., who marshaled the campaign especially in the southern municipalities. The result in the rural municipalities most reassuring, showing the adherence of the farmers to the policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in spite of the fact that the Opposition candidate was a respectable and highly-esteemed farmer. The combined forces of Mr. Borden and Mr. W. F. Maclean, both of whom put up strenuous exertions, are tonight defeated and crestfallen. The appearance of Hon. A. B. Aylesworth at two meetings resulted in stirring up the enthusiasm of the Liberal workers to a remarkable degree.

The results by municipalities, some of them approximately correct, are given below. The riding is more than one hundred miles in length, and four or five divisions will not be heard from tonight. The figures are as follows:

Looks Prosperous

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 31.—The customs receipts of the Dominion show another large increase this month. The revenue from this source was $4,656,631, compared with $3,966,158, an increase of $690,473 over the same time last year. Receipts for the first four months of the fiscal year show an increase of $2,176,445 over 1905.

FRANCE TO ABOLISH THE DEATH PENALTY

New Ministry Decides to Put an End to Capital Punishment.

Paris, Oct. 31.—The cabinet held a meeting yesterday and approved a measure providing for the abolition of the death penalty. This means that Parliament, at its coming session, will enact a law to that effect.

Such action has been expected since the office of "Monsieur de Paris," or public executioner, was suppressed a few months ago by the abolition of the guillotine. The new Prime Minister, M. Clemenceau, the new Minister of Justice, has decided on taking a definite step to that end.

"ABSOLUTE ROT"

Senator Cox Specifically Denies Yarn of the Toronto World.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—The World story of Senator Cox buying a large interest in the Tretheway mine is absolute rot. The senator gives the yarn a specific denial.

GAS TUBE IN HIS MOUTH

Bell Telephone Manager at Port Hope Thought to Have Suicided.

Port Hope, Oct. 31.—J. F. Jackson, manager of the Bell Telephone Company here, is supposed to have committed suicide this morning by inhaling coal gas. He was found early this morning in the kitchen with the gas tube of the kitchen stove in his mouth. Drs. Forrest and Clemens were called in, but nothing could be done. An inquest will be held by Dr. McKimley, the coroner. Mr. Jackson came to Port Hope about a year ago from Peterboro. He leaves a widow and three small children.

THE CHAMPION TYPEWRITER

Chicago Girl Writes 2,467 Words in Half Hour, With Five Errors.

New York, Oct. 31.—Rose L. Fritz, of this city, who won the world's typewriting championship in Chicago last June, came out ahead in the contest at the National Business Show in Madison Square Garden last night. She wrote 2,467 words from dictation in half an hour, making five errors. Of the other thirteen entrants, Paul Munter, who defeated Miss F. L. Fritz last fall, came nearest to her record. He wrote 2,466 words, but made 61 errors.

HEARST NOMINEES GO

Courts Say His Choice May Stand On the Ticket.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30.—The court of appeals tonight handed down a decision affirming the right of the Independence League of New York City to make nominations by multiple petitions. The court also decided that in the judicial nominations the judicial certificate filed first had prior claim, and that the Independence League has the right to designate their own candidates.

POLICE RAID ANARCHISTS

Women Lead Attack on Squad of New York Police.

New York, Oct. 30.—A meeting of Anarchists was raided and broken up by a large force of police about 10 o'clock tonight at the Manhattan Lyceum, 68 East Fourth street. The wildest kind of riot followed when the police stormed the hall. Women screamed "Down with the police!" "Kill the oppressors!" and a few other such things.

When the men quailed the women themselves led a charge in the police. The officers were badly scratched and punched.

Ten of the Reds were arrested, among them Emma Goldman, who tackled a policeman, and was making good until other officers rescued their battered fellow-raider.

BACK TO WORK.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—The Jewelry Workers' Union, which had been waging a four-weeks' fight for an eight-hour day, voted yesterday to call the contest off, and the 800 strikers will return to work today.

EX-MAYOR JARVIS BURIED.

Stratford, Oct. 30.—The funeral of the late Ex-Mayor P. R. Jarvis took place this afternoon from his late residence, corner Nile and Cobourg streets, and the cortege was one of the largest seen in the city for many a day. After leaving the house the funeral proceeded to St. James' Church, where an impressive service was conducted by Rev. W. T. Cluff thence to Avondale cemetery, where interment took place.

London Election Investigation Resumed; Crown Switches to Brockville Contest

A Witness Swears the Ballots Were Illegally Marked at $10 Apiece.

Wm. Spence, West London, Denies Any Wrongdoing.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Oct. 31.—The investigation into the London election case was resumed today.

Messrs. George M. Reid, Dan Wiley, W. J. Mulloy and John O'Gorman, defendants, were all present.

Tom Lewis was also in court, having been subpoenaed by the prosecution.

The witnesses included Mr. Geo. C. Gibbons, K.C., Mr. H. C. McBride and other Londoners.

Antoine Wendling, of Brockville, was the first witness examined. He asked if he would be protected against any prosecution if he answered all questions, and the court replied in the affirmative. He then swore that one J. H. McNab had asked him to handle a couple of men in the Brockville election. He was told to give each man a duplicate ballot, marked for Comstock. The voters went into the booths, placed the marked ballots in the box and brought out the blank ballots to the witness, who paid $10 for each vote thus cast. This was in the election of 1899. When the blank ballots were brought out they were marked for Comstock and Wick. He asked again, "Was Tom Lewis there?"

"I never saw him,"

"Did Pritchett and Lewis stop at your hotel before the election?" Pritchett swears they did.

"No; it is not true, as far as I know,"

Showered Elliott lived six miles from Brockville. He remembered the White-Hay-Comstock election. He told of having been directed by a man at Mile Station's hotel to get a ballot marked for Comstock, put it in the box and bring back the blank ballot, and he would be given $10. Witness took a ballot, but he voted for White on the right ballot, and kept the crooked one. Later a stranger called on him and offered him $10 for the crooked paper, but witness refused it.

George Weatherhead, of Brockville, identified J. G. Pritchett, of London, as having been with the deputy returning officer in a subdivision in the White-Comstock election, where a row had occurred.

Wm. Stewart was a scrutineer at the polling booth referred to No. 1 of the east ward, and that all had gone right at the booths until a man named James dropped a ballot on the floor, and the Conservative scrutineers attempted to get it. This is what caused the row.

Showered Elliott was recalled and produced the ballot for which he claimed he was offered $50. It was put in by the prosecution as an exhibit. Mr. DuVernet said the paper was a little thinner. Mr. Wikkie objected, but was overruled.

Mr. Spence Called

William Spence, of West London, was next called.

"You have been away?"

"Yes."

"Why did you go away? You were subpoenaed?"

"No; I was out of the country when the paper was left at my house."

"Where did you go?"

"To Detroit, to see my sons."

"You knew you were wanted?"

"Not when I went away."

"Who spoke to you about going away?"

"Nobody."

"You had been deputy returning officer in the past?"

"Yes."

"Who asked you to step down?"

"The first I heard of it was from my brother."

WITNESS WOULD NOT SWEAR THAT O'MEARA WAS THE BRANTFORD MAN

Crown Calls Number of Witnesses, But Much of the Evidence Conflicts.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Oct. 31.—John O'Meara, of London, charged with perjury in connection with alleged impersonation committed in the Heyd-Henry election in Brantford ten years ago, was again arraigned in police court this morning. O'Meara looked well, and was neatly dressed. He was represented by Mr. J. W. Curry, formerly crown attorney, of Toronto. Amongst the witnesses from London who was subpoenaed on the case was Major Beattie, ex-M. P. P. The conspiracy investigation was also resumed today.

The O'Meara case was taken up at 11 o'clock, Richard Taylor, of Brantford, was the first witness called.

Mr. Curry asked that all other witnesses in the case leave the room while Taylor was being examined.

Taylor lives in Brantford. At the time of the election he was outside scrutineer at polling subdivision No. 21. He recognised O'Meara as having been in Brantford at the election. O'Meara had appeared at the poll and stated that his name was Brown, and voted, although Brown had been dead a year.

"You are positive as to O'Meara being the man?" Mr. DuVernet said.

Mr. Curry then took the witness in hand.

"How old are you?" Mr. Curry asked.

Witness—Forty-nine.

"You were 39 when you saw the prisoner in Brantford?"

"Yes."

"You only saw O'Meara a minute at the polling subdivision, and you have not seen him until now—not until today. You ask the court to believe that you can recognize a man after ten years that you only saw a minute ten years ago?"

"Yes."

"Are you a detective?"

"No."

"You should have been. You have missed your calling."

The witness said O'Meara was a little grayer, and his mustache was a little darker.

"Did O'Meara have his hat on when you saw him?" asked the magistrate.

"Yes," replied the witness.

"How can you say his hair is grayer and thinner now than ten years ago?"

"You say positively O'Meara is the man?"

"I have no doubt of it," said the witness.

"How was he dressed when you saw him in Brantford?"

The witness did not know.

"Did he have an overcoat on?"

"Yes."

"How do you remember?"

"It was a cold day."

"That sort of evidence will not do," Mr. Curry said.

Witness said he had pointed out O'Meara in Brantford to Major Westbrooke. He had not talked over the case with anybody in ten years.

Says O'Meara Impersonated.

Wm. Bremner, of Brantford, swore to having seen O'Meara in Brantford at the election. Bremner was driving a carriage for Mr. Henry at the time. O'Meara had voted in Bremner's name, the witness said.

"How did you know he voted for you?"

"They told me in the booth he did."

"That's all you know about it?"

"I know he did."

Witness had seen O'Meara twice in Brantford that day, once after he had been let out on bail.

Cross-examined by Mr. Curry, witness said the first time he saw O'Meara he had no particular reason to mark the London man.

"You swore that O'Meara is the man who went into the polling booth ahead of you?"

"Yes."

"You didn't notice him particularly at the time?"

"I did."

"You just swore you didn't."

"I told him the time of day."

"Was there any reason why you should have noticed him?"

"Yes."

"You have contradicted yourself again."

"Well, I did notice him."

"You are ready to swear to anything, aren't you?"

"I'm ready to swear to what I know."

"Who did O'Meara go away with?"

"A man named O'Connell."

A Remarkable Memory.

"When did you see him again?"

"In the evening, driving with Jerry Dunn."

The witness then got badly tangled, and Mr. Curry said: "A man who could remember some things for ten years should be able to remember what he had sworn to two minutes before."

"How was O'Meara dressed?"

"He had a dark fawn overcoat."

"What kind of a hat?"

"A dark fedora."

"What color was his hair?"

"Light gray."

"That could be no mistake?"

BIG PLANS OF CANADA NORTHERN AS INSIDE STAFF

Road Applies for Right-of-Way in Many Points in Ontario and Quebec.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—The Canadian Northern Railway appeared before the Minister of Railways this forenoon with a batch of applications covering Ontario and Quebec. The first application was for an entrance to the city of Ottawa. Another application was for a line from Toronto to Ottawa and the French River line. The Quebec Province application was made for a line from the boundary of Champlain County to the St. Lawrence River, thence to Quebec Bridge. There was also the entrance to Quebec City near the Quebec Bridge. Mr. Ruel made all the applications and was assisted by Engineers White and Wickstead. The C. P. R. and G. T. R. of the Ottawa and New York, and other interests were all represented.

BUFFALO BILL SAFE

Famous Scout and Party Not Victims of Blizzard.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—A dispatch from Butte says the Buffalo Bill party, which was thought to have perished during a blizzard in the Big Horn Mountains has turned up all right.

THE KLEINGBEIL CASE

Belleville, Oct. 31.—The Kleingbeil wife-murder case was this morning submitted to the grand jury of the present assizes, in spite of the fact that a true bill was found against Kleingbeil last spring. Apparently it will be a conflict of medical experts. The case grew out of an assault committed by the prisoner on his aged and decrepit wife last March, when Kleingbeil, according to his own story, pounded the woman so badly with his fists that she died next morning. The grand jury brought in a true bill, and the trial will go on this afternoon.

GROPING IN DARK OVER NEW YORK

No One Able to Estimate the Strength of Candidates.

PARTY LINES ARE BROKEN UP

Both Sides Are Equally Confident and Afraid of What the Voters Will Do Next Tuesday.

New York, Oct. 30.—With the beginning of the last week of the campaign the mystery as to the outcome in New York state is quite as deep as ever. Betting people continue to give odds on Hughes, and the Republican state committee is pervaded by an air of confidence which seems to be genuine.

People who have no personal interest in the campaign, however, are much at sea because they find innumerable cross currents all over the state, and no one seems to be able to estimate the strength of these opposing forces.

There is every reason to believe the Hearst organization is groping in the dark so far as the country counties are concerned. It either has no reports at all or the stories which are brought into it are manifestly unreliable and are prepared for publication purposes only.

The general trend of sentiment everywhere in New York City, where the better class of people circulate, in the theaters, in the subway cars, and in the retail stores of upper Broadway, is that Hughes is certain of election. On the other hand, everybody who makes a prediction of this kind invariably qualifies it by giving instances of strange lapses on the part of solid Republican candidates.

Party Lines Badly Shattered.

Hearst's undeniable possession of a large fraction of the Republican labor vote, and Hughes' sweeping capture of the silk stocking Democracy from Buffalo to the Battery, are now clearly established, but no man knows how far one will offset the other, and this is the uncertainty which has made the campaign the most remarkable in the history of New York politics.

On Broadway an hour or two ago I met a well-known and active Democrat. He has been associated in one way or another with the leaders of the party for years. He could not vote for Bryan in 1896, but he did in 1900. When asked for his opinion as to the likelihood of the silk stocking Democracy he said that leaders in whose confidence he was estimated that from 40,000 to 50,000 of the old line conservative Democrats in New York and Brooklyn would surely vote for Hughes. They would surely vote for Hughes, they did not even consider the possibility of bolting the ticket, because they took the ground that Hearst was not a Democrat, and that he had captured the Buffalo convention by methods which relieved regular Democrats of all obligation to vote for him. When Hearst ran as an independent against McClellan last year he alienated the old-time Democracy, and he completed the alienation by his use of his Independence League since then and his constant refusal in this campaign to make the slightest use of the regular Democratic organization.

Labor Men for Hearst.

On the other hand, an hour or two later in the lobby of the Hotel Victoria, where the deserted Democratic headquarters are nominally located, I met a Republican who has been associated with the party management in New York for twenty years or so. He said a friend of his had a factory up the country employing about 300 men. There had not been a strike or a lock-out there since the plant was put up fifteen or twenty years ago. The men were engaged in manufacturing a protected article and in one campaign after another they had gone to the polls and voted the Republican ticket almost unanimously. So well understood was this that the local party always lumped in the men of this factory in the Republican column. This year, because of the stories about the defection of Republican workmen, the head of the factory took a secret ballot in which the men were absolutely safeguarded. To his surprise he found that 167 out of 300 had recorded their intention to vote for Hearst.

Only yesterday this Republican leader met two or three unimportant precinct captains from Brooklyn and asked in a perfunctory way how things looked across the river. To his surprise they told him that all the workmen they knew were going to vote for Hearst. To cap the climax, they informed the leader that they intended to do the same thing, in spite of their affiliation with the Republican organization, and gave as their reason that "Hearst makes good on some things he starts out to do, even if he doesn't get them all."

This same story of Hearst influence among the workmen is told not only in New York and Brooklyn but in every factory town of any importance throughout the state. In Albany, Troy, Rochester, Schenectady and towns of that class, wherever there are large manufacturing interests or extensive railway yards, Hearst certainly has cut into the Republican labor vote.

In the lower wards of New York city, not only among the foreigners, but among the English-speaking laboring men, he has made great gains. It is more or less easy to trace these gains by the area of the circulation of the various newspapers, daily and weekly, English, German, Yiddish, and perhaps some other nationality, owned or controlled by Mr. Hearst.

In the real agricultural sections of the state, Hearst has not only made no headway, but has suffered a certain loss which is relatively as large as

WHO WILL LAND CHAIRMANSHIP?

Speculation Already as to Ex-Ald. Wyatt's Successor on Manufacturers.

City Clerk Baker today officially notified Mr. William Scarlett of the vacancy on the council caused by the resignation of Ald. Wyatt, and that if he desired to take the seat he would have to qualify within a week. It is supposed that Mr. Scarlett will do so in time to take his place at the council board on Monday evening next. Should he decline to qualify, the position will go to Mr. Alex. Stuart, K. C., who was fourteenth in the race for aldermanic honors in January last.

There was some speculation around the city hall today as to who will succeed ex-Ald. Wyatt as chairman of the manufacturers' committee. It is expected that Mr. Scarlett will be appointed by the council to act in ex-Ald. Wyatt's place on both the board of works and the manufacturers' committee, in which event the latter body will include the following members of the council: Mayor Judt, Ald. Saunders, Armstrong, Booth, Forristal, Stevenson, Cooper and Scarlett. The other members of the committee have no voice in the election of a chairman. It is said that Ald. Armstrong, who is a manufacturer, can have the chairmanship if he desires it, while it is also stated that Ald. Cooper would like the position.

A meeting of the committee may be called next week.

YORK LOAN AFFAIRS

Many of the Shareholders' Books Not Yet Handed In.

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Hundreds of shareholders of the York Loan and Savings Company are still withholding their stock certificates and books, and thereby hampering the efforts of the liquidators in endeavoring to get the affairs of the company straightened out. The staff of clerks who were taken over from the York Loan offices are still employed in the work.

The liquidators at first determined to withhold all statements of assets and liabilities until the shareholders' books were all in. In view of the difficulty experienced in collecting the books, however, it is not impossible that an interim statement may be presented for the shareholders in a few weeks.

In the meantime, the liquidators await the advent of a car line up Roncesvalles avenue before making a general effort to dispose of the vast areas of York Loan property in that district.

STARTLING STATEMENT

A Buckingham Striker Says Arms Were Gathered to Shoot Police.

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—The inquest on the dead strikers, Belanger and Theriault, was resumed at Buckingham today, when about fifteen witnesses were examined up to noon. The most startling evidence was given by Bernard E. Bourassa, a striker, who swore that the strikers had gathered firearms with the deliberate purpose of using them on the police. Witnesses who testified at the Warner inquest related that Mr. Alex. MacLaren fired the first shot.

LOSES $200,000 IN ASSESSMENT

The New Act Cuts That Much Off Rolls for 1907—Total for City, $22,747,112.

Unless the county court judge should allow any of the appeals that are to come before him on Tuesday next at the court house the assessment of the city for 1907 will total $22,747,112.

The assessment as originally made by Commissioner Grant and his assistants during the past few months amounted to $22,951,558, but some reductions have been made from this. The court of revision whittled off $61,948, but the greatest slice was taken off by the new act which increases the exemption on income from $400 to $600, and reduces the minimum business assessment from $250 to $100.

Before the amendment to the assessment act was enforced the assessors had completed their work in the first and second wards, but the amendment was taken into consideration when the assessment was being made in wards three and four. The result was that the rolls for the first and second wards had to be carefully gone over again, and the income and business taxes of the owners of taxpayers changed to conform with the provisions of the law.

The total amount knocked off business and income assessments in the two wards named was $142,503, which, with the $61,948 allowed by the court of revision, reduced the total assessment of the city to $22,747,112.

Assessment Commissioner Grant said today that Nos. 3 and 4 wards had been assessed on the old basis as regards income and business tax it would simply have meant that about $60,000 more would have been struck off. This, with $142,503 allowed in Nos. 1 and 2 wards in round numbers, the city loses under the new act on business and income tax.

"The net increase in the assessment for 1907 will be $1,000,000," said Mr. Grant.

A number of appeals have been carried to the county judge, but the assessment department does not feel that they will be successful.

JAP EDITORS TO ACT

Will Arouse Public Over Anti-Japanese Acts at San Francisco.

Tokio, Oct. 31.—A number of journalists had a meeting yesterday for the purpose of considering the anti-Japanese action of the San Francisco board of education which the city loses under the new act on business and income tax.

The following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, that the action of the San Francisco authorities in segregating school children is a great violation of the existing treaty, and an insult to Japan."

It was further resolved that the journalists combine in an effort to excite public opinion, and cause the authorities to effect a solution of the difficulty. It was agreed not to advocate anything of a violent nature."

A UNIVERSITY CLOSED.

Moscow, Oct. 31.—The University of Moscow was closed today by order of the rector, until Nov. 13, in consequence of violations of the rule against open political meetings being held in the university buildings.
