FINAL INCOME TAX PAYMENTS TROUBLE
 MANY AMERICANS

Tightness of Money Market and Business Depression
 Given As Reasons.

New York, Dec. 15.—Difficulty is being experienced by many United States citizens whose 1919 incomes require federal tax payments varying from $100,000 to more than $2,000,000, to meet the last quarterly payment, due today, William H. Edwards, collector of internal revenue, revealed last night. In that one instance the quarterly figure was $700,000. "These taxpayers," Collector Edwards said, "told me they simply could not pay—that they did not have the cash. They begged for an extension of time, which I was powerless to grant." The requests for more time have come from persons in every line of business, who Collector Edwards declared, "seem to have felt the pinch of the business depression and the tightness of money." Lines of business most seriously affected mentioned by the collector were the silk and textile trades and dealers in automobile tires. A score of big taxpayers have informed him, he said, they would have to bear the penalty of five per cent, and the interest charges of one per cent a month provided in the 1918 revenue act.
