Queens 1, Clyde 0.
Partick 2, Falkirk 1. Word has been received in the city that Sergeant E. R. Ingraham, who served in the Canadian Postal Corps during the war, was mentioned in a dispatch from Field Marshall Sir Douglas Haig on March 16, 1919, "for gallant and distinguished service in the field." Sergeant Ingraham is a son of Thomas Ingraham of the New Brunswick Power Company staff, and he, himself, is now employed in the registration office of the local post office. He spent several years overseas in the Field Postal Corps, under Lieut. Colonel George Ross, now general superintendent of Postal Services, Ottawa.

at a meeting the baseball association was reorganized and the following officers elected: E. F. McGratton, president; Granville Cawley, vice-president; George E. Dow, secretary-treasurer; George E. Frawley, manager. They will open the season on May 24.

Representing the Red Cross, New Brunswick division, R. T. Hayes, M. P. P., president, F. A. Dykeman, chairman of the campaign committee, and Miss Ethel Hazen Jarvis, the secretary, waited upon the Women's Auxiliary delegates at luncheon at the Stone church yesterday and presented the cause of the society in a forceful manner. Support for and interest in the coming campaign for members was asked and was promised. Miss Jarvis extended a hearty invitation to the out-of-town delegates to visit the Red Cross depot in Prince William street this afternoon, where afternoon tea is to be served for their pleasure.

Havre de Grace, Md., April 27.—It has been decided to retire the good handleap horse Sir Barton to the stud. He is on the verge of a breakdown, and his trainer fears that if he attempts to work him fast he will bow. The first mare that Sir Barton will be bred to will be Constancy, which came out of her race the other day in bad shape. Pampas and Lion d'Or are also on the shelf, and Oriole has been thrown out of training. Sir Barton Retired.
