FAVOR REFERENDUM ON HARBOR ISSUE

When the matter of harbor commission was brought up by the present common council, Mayor Schofield said it would be made the first business of the council until it was disposed of one way or another. On Tuesday last a further hearing into the matter was delayed until next Monday, when the mayor said he was waiting for a communication on the matter. Last night the mayor said he did not see any particular reason for discussing the matter on Monday. Both Mayor Schofield and Commissioner Thorndike have said that a plebiscite should be called, irrespective of the view of the council regarding harbor commission. An investigation of conditions at Montreal was made recently by Mayor Schofield and a report upon his trip will probably be presented to the council some time this week.
