

The cleanliness of the sealed package appeals to the daintiness of a woman.

She knows that it protects the contents from dust, dirt, odors and moisture.

She will be doubly pleased with our new waxed board package—which we have adopted after several years of testing—because it is stronger, more secure and more completely air-tight; altogether the best container for tea that has yet been devised.

Ask your grocer for Red Rose Tea in the sealed carton.

CHIEF OF MOSLEMS COMMENDS DRY LAW

Sheik-ul-Islam Says That Drink Brought Ruin to Turkish Empire

Constantinople, Nov. 27.—(Associated Press)—Gratification over the amendment to the United States constitution for bidding the sale of liquor was expressed by Abraham Effendi, Sheik-ul-Islam, spiritual head of the Moslem church, in a conversation with the correspondent.

"Drink is the mother of all evil," he said, "and lack of abstinence from it wrought our downfall. I am delighted to observe that America is realizing God's command as spoken to our prophet. It is strange that, after thirteen and a half centuries, a new nation should adopt prohibition, while we, whose prophet commanded it, should again begin an effort to enforce abstinence."

Abraham Effendi, who counts among his followers 300,000,000 in the Moslem world, received the correspondent in his palace in Siambul. The palace is built in two stories with hanging gardens, and overlooks the Golden Horn. He sat in a many-windowed and austere white room, his venerable, stern figure, gray beard, snow-white turban, and black gown making a striking picture.

"It is with pride that we observe America's adoption of prohibition, after trying drunkenness," he said. "It was somewhat so with us in the lifetime of our prophet, who first warned us against alcohol as the cause of financial ruin and the dethronement of reason, but when the conqueror of Egypt said his prayers drunkenly at Medina, then God cursed liquor and the prophet declared: 'Drinking is one of the devil's works, like gambling, and whosoever drinks loathes God's grace.'"

"Our law regards drink as the worst evil, because it breeds other evils, whereas other habits may not do this. It is a matter of history that so long as our people did not drink, they were of sound morality and order and were also prosperous."

"Sobriety was the secret of Islam's success as the builder of empires. But drinking brought ruin. It came from contact with Europe, whose other bad habits we acquired, at least in our cities, for the country still sober. Our women do not drink. If ever Islam recovers, it will be because prohibition is restored to make men strong, clean and intellectual."

"We are now launching a prohibition campaign throughout Islam to make God's wisdom respected."

WOULD SAFEGUARD WOMEN.

Labor Conference for Stricter Night Work Limitations.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Further to safeguard the health and well being of women workers, the International Labor Conference has gone on record as favoring a broader construction of the Berne convention of 1906, prohibiting night work for women. The conference recommended that the terms of the convention be made applicable to industries where less than ten women are employed and that under no conditions should factories be exempted from the prohibition of night work for this class of workers.

Consideration of pensions for the aged and incapacitated was suggested by J. Varela, delegate from Uruguay. He submitted with this proposal a copy of the law now in force in Uruguay which, he said, offered an ample and liberal solution of the question.

Medical Careers for Women.

According to reports from London, the number of women who choose the medical career is rapidly increasing. The London Medical School for Women had an entering class of 103 this year, all of the finest type. Three of the number came with V. A. D. scholarships awarded at the conclusion of the war by the Royal Red Cross Society, and many others had been engaged in some form of war work. The school has recently undertaken to provide a building for use as a research laboratory, in connection with obstetrical pathology, the Medical Research Committee having agreed to supply the necessary staff; another feature of the work this session will be the organization of a gynecology and obstetrics unit, which is to support some seventy beds in all, under the direction of a woman professor. Four medical women trained at this London school are now employed at the Ministry of Health headquarters helping to combat the present low health standards in the country, which had resulted in 270,000 persons in England receiving the national health insurance benefits.
