"The Two Laws"

CLEAN IN THOUGHT AND WORD.

Editor Evening Times-Star:

Sir—Perhaps you will allow me to suggest that the horrors of that impure in imperio, the so-called "necessary evil," and worse, would be very greatly abated by a crusade against the lecherous, witless talk rampant among young and old, sometimes even among the "religious" class, grinning with ghoulish glee over the sins of others. What will physical chasteness avail before Heaven when mind and speech are foul as Hell, when the words of the "respectable" class vindictively urge her infant child to utter words of vile import. Surely that, by no means singular wretch, deserves less respect than many a good-hearted "unfortunate" of the street. I venture to submit a form of warning perhaps suitable to be placarded in public places, also in schools and to be read occasionally to the pupils.

EDWARD C. DURNFORD.

Fairville, N. B., May 22, 1918.

WARNING TO YOUNG AND OLD

One of the most dangerous sins in the whole world is "dirty talk." In the end it often leads to the poorhouse, jail, and the early grave. It may start you in mind and body. If anyone has had the misfortune to have learned vicious, dishonorable ways, then mercifully keep them to yourself and God will be merciful to you at the last day. But for all who witfully and meanly corrupt others, particularly the young, surely no punishment can be too great either in this world or in the next. For the soul's sake alone try to be clean in thought, word and deed, lest it die to live no more. In these days some persons say there is no such thing as sin nor future punishment. They even dare to speak against God. Say to them "you do not know." That is the downright truth. The very heathen feel that we are all subject, wholly or in part, to some mysterious, unseen power. We call it "God," a name about as expressive as can be for it implies all that is "good" for body and soul.

Fabric Value That Will Surprise The Most Critical In Made-To-Measure Garments

AFTER all it's fabric value you want for your clothes money. Our special line of Blue Serge, Cheviots and Unfinished Worsteds at $17 are of such extra good value as to provide a surprise for the most critical.

In your finished garment you get value here in materials, value in linings, value in workmanship, value in style, and value in wearing quality. Your Made-to-Measure garment will possess every distinction which you would expect to find in a garment costing $35 to $40. We would be proud of our $17 line of fabrics in normal times. Under present conditions we cannot help but enthuse over them.

Suit Or Topcoat Made-To-Your-Measure

EVERY feature of the tailoring of our Made-to-Measure garments is the work of experts in their line. Each garment is designed and cut by expert custom tailors. The men in our workrooms are chosen for their ability to produce the highest class custom work. It is our constant aim to make garments to measure which are absolutely the best that are produced. To know real value you must see our Special Lines at $17.

Trousers—We are showing exceptional value in our trousers from special trouser lengths, as many of these cloths are shown in very limited quantities, we will be obliged to ask customers for a second choice. $5 tives, while girls who have dared to fall in love with them have been publicly pilloried and then cast into prison like felons for periods of one to seven years. Although this typical Hunnishness has created something akin to horror in the Fatherland, only one newspaper apparently has had the courage to protest against it. This is the Volksstimme, of Mannheim, which prints the following noteworthy article:—

"A few days ago a young girl employed at Leuwxitz hanged herself because of the discovery of her relations with a French prisoner of war, with whom she had fallen in love. Is this not a sad reflection on our erroneous conception of patriotism?"

"Germany, who once supplied the whole of Europe with prizes and prizes, now feels herself constrained to visit the natural inclinations of our female citizens with severe penalties. Why? Is it feared that our people may deteriorate through the admixture of French or English blood? This is sheer nonsense. Our prisoners of war are no less sound and healthy than ourselves. Where would our ruling families be today if foreign blood were indeed inferior to our own? The Kaiser's mother was an English woman. His son-in-law (Duke Ernest August of Brunswick, formerly Duke of Cumberland) is English to this day. His cousin is the ex-Czar of Russia. There is not one distinguished family in our Fatherland that is not related to the enemy."

"The punishment meted out to these girls is denounced by the Volksstimme as shameful."

"Many years of imprisonment have only this month been passed on poor girls because they became friendly with prisoners of war. This is a shame, but the shame does not rest on the unhappy girls, but on those who condemned and sentenced them, and who choose to forget that unless Germany secures fresh and healthy blood her decay is certain."

"It will be said that the English and French are enemies, and that this makes all the difference. There could be no madder conclusion, for were it followed consistently a considerable portion of the German army, including its superior officers, would today be behind bolts and bars."

Affects The Jockeys.

Louisville, Ky., May 24.—Fifty per cent of the jockeys on Kentucky tracks are all employed of racing plants in the state will be affected by Provost Marshal General Crowder's order that all men of draft age must either "work or fight," according to figures compiled today.

ALARMING POSSIBILITY.

Two ladies were married to musicians. The one, a bride of a year, was pushing a baby carriage in which were three fine babies—triplets, all girls. The other lady had been in the bonds of matrimony a couple of weeks.

"What beautiful children!" exclaimed the newly married one.

"Yes," replied the proud mother, "let me tell you the funniest coincidence. At our wedding supper the boys who played with my husband in the orchestra serenaded him, and they played 'Three Little Maids' from the 'Milkmaid'! But that queer?"

At this the other bride turned pale.

"Mercy!" she gasped. "At our wedding supper Tom's friends serenaded him also and they rendered 'The Sextet' from Lullu."
