IN MEMORIAM

JONES—In loving memory of Lizzie Jones, who departed this life Sept. 28, 1917.

Her soul is in heaven,
Her work on earth is over;
Now she is with her Saviour
For evermore.
MOTHER AND SISTER.

IRONS—In loving memory of Mrs. W. J. Irons, died Sept. 28, 1916.

Though she is gone for ever,
To a better land above;
Cruel death, it came and severed
From one we dearly loved;
Though our hearts are filled with sorrow,
It will fill again with joy,
For some day we hope to meet her
On that bright and shining shore.
HUSBAND AND FAMILY.

SEYMOUR—In loving memory of my dear husband, Sergt. Major W. J. Seymour, who was killed in action at the Battle of the Somme, Sept. 28, 1916.

Alone he lay in a foreign land,
While his life blood ebbed away;
Fair Britain's name he fought to shield
All through the bloody battle's fray.
Death's chilly pail stole over his cheek,
In his eye a deadly glaze,
He has done his bit for his country's Sake.
May his name be for ever praised,
Wife and sons William and Gregory.

McINTYRE—In loving memory of Rev. W. E. McIntyre, D. D., who died in Jesus at St. John, N. B., September 28, 1915.

"He was not, for God took him."

In a dark and lonely graveyard,
Where the trees and branches wave,
Lies our dear beloved husband and father,
In a cold and silent grave.
Friends may think we soon forget
And wounded hearts are healed,
Little do they know the sorrow
That within our hearts concealed.

LAST WORD FROM THE FRONT

French Still Advancing After Capturing Somme-Py — Airmen Give Enemy no Peace

Paris, Sept. 28.—General Gouraud's army in its offensive in the Champagne, after capturing the important railway point of Somme-Py, was reported this morning to be still advancing.

With the American Army, northwest of Verdun, Sept. 28.—In no previous engagement has the pursuit air machine displayed such great initiative and weather conditions. Night flying has become common, the airmen starting off in the darkness and landing by the light of flares. Their course is determined by flash signals.

Reprisals by the airmen heretofore have been confined almost wholly to the daylight hours in operations of this character. But now the airmen are attacking and opening on their troops with machine gun fire while the men were trying to get a period of rest.

U. S. MENNONITES HERE MUST SERVE

Not Exempt From Military Service by Coming to Canada — Pact Does Not Apply

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Mennonites who have recently come from the United States to western Canada will not by that change of residence escape liability for military service, it is stated. Recently a number of members of that sect, including those who purchased a tract of far land for $800,000, have migrated into the prairie provinces, and their arrival has been followed by allegations that they were seeking in Canada sanctuary from the operation of the United States draft law.

Hon. A. C. Meighen, minister of immigration, during his trip in the west, has been waiting upon by a number of delegations urging that the new settlers be permitted to evade service.

The view of departmental officials here, which Mr. Meighen has voiced, is that the agitation in the west is unnecessary. In 1917, when Canada began to seek immigrants, it was agreed that a group of Mennonites entering the country should be exempt from military service. That pledge has been kept with those people and also with their descendants, provided they have kept their faith. The recent arrivals from the United States, it is argued, are not entitled to claim exemption, as they are not coming to Canada under the same conditions as the United States, they have come to Canada to evade the military service law.

VICTORY PROMISES TO BE MOST NOTABLE OF ALL FOR CANADIANS

With the Canadian forces, Sept. 27.—(By J. P. B. Livesey, Canadian Press correspondent.)—A great and impressive victory and with relatively few casualties, that is the situation at this hour. Our troops are still pressing towards the gates of Cambrai.

The Canadian corps opened the battle for Bourlon Wood sharp at 2:30 this morning and before noon was reported to be in complete possession, whilst others of our troops were sweeping northeast, turning the enemy flank on Canal du Nord. A great concentration of artillery in which imperial heavies and the converging fire of British neighboring corps materially assisted, prepared the way for the infantry. They had a hard battle for the Canal du Nord, for although it is dry at present, it is a formidable obstacle, and it is a formidable obstacle, and it is a formidable obstacle.

By 11:30 a. m. the Canadian corps had taken the Canal du Nord, and the enemy was driven back to the east. The Canadian corps had taken the Canal du Nord, and the enemy was driven back to the east. The Canadian corps had taken the Canal du Nord, and the enemy was driven back to the east.

QUEBEC SCHOOL MATTERS

Quebec, Sept. 28.—The great severity of teachers for academics and moral schools under the Provisional Board of Education was brought to the attention of that body at their meeting here yesterday by Rev. Dr. Love.

The committee having already expressed in favor of compulsory education, it is possible that a discussion will take place at the next meeting as to whether it is expedient for the Provisional Board to petition the government for legislation, embodying compulsory school attendance, applicable only for the pupils of schools under the jurisdiction of the Protestant committee.

EVEN THE WELLS ARE BEING MINED

Germans Are Feverishly Developing a Deep Defensive System

On the British front, Sept. 27.—The enemy is feverishly developing the possession of the remaining positions on the high ground which the British have been gradually wresting from him in local actions in front of the Hindenburg line between St. Quentin and Cambrai.

These operations extended still further north to points near Oppy, above Seranno. Some places changed hands three or four times. There was sharp fighting yesterday morning, marked by increased activity in front of the Hindenburg line and even in the Ypres sector.

The Germans are agitated. This is clearly seen by their desperate efforts to stem even local British drives. Following Ludendorff's belief that "where there are too many trenches and entanglements for defensive battle," the enemy is feverishly developing a deep defensive system of which the Hindenburg line is the outward bulwark.

It is reported that the Germans are mining every stretch of the country in the hope of retaining any breakthrough drives. Occasionally one of these mines is set off by British artillery fire.

This mining is probably the enemy's most desperate effort to try to beat the tanks, for the tanks, above all things, have frayed his nerves most.

I have quoted numerous orders by Ludendorff showing this, and the latest order to fall into British hands says in this connection, "the utmost attention must be paid to combating the enemy's tanks."

Our early successes against the enemy's tanks led to a certain amount of contempt for this weapon of warfare. We must, however, now reckon with the thirty-two new tanks which are more mobile tanks which are more dangerous.
