Of Interest

Miss Marjorie Sancton was the occasion on Friday evening for a shower of handkerchiefs, presented in the form of an old-fashion nosegay, deftly arranged. Miss Winifred I. Blair was the hostess for the charming event, entertaining at her mother's residence, Duke street.

Mrs. G. Clayton Teed assisted Miss Blair in entertaining. Spring flowers made a fitting setting for the merry party of young people, who offered best wishes to Miss Sancton, who will shortly be the principal in an important event. Those enjoying the pleasant evening, which closed with delicious refreshments, served by the hostess, were Miss Gertrude Ewing, Miss Constance Ewing, Miss Saundon, Mrs. Hugh Gregory, Miss Christine Fenton, Miss Jean Fenton, Miss Alleen Morrison, Miss Hortense Maher, Mrs. Murety Sinclair, Miss Olive Golding, Miss Leslie Skinner, Miss Helen Skinner, Miss Edith Paterson, Miss Marion Brown, Miss Audrey Campbell and Miss Marion Belyea. A bridge was played and the prize winners were Miss Gertrude Ewing and Miss Marion Brown. Miss Edith Paterson was a hostess at a shower for Miss Sancton last week.

Miss Jean White entertained at her father's residence, Orange street, at a week-end tea to honor the occasion of a visit of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Duncan, of Vancouver, B. C., who are in the city. Mrs. Duncan was formerly Miss Phyllis Elliot, of this city and is being warmly welcomed. Spring flowers were prettily arranged on the tea table where Mrs. Frank S. White presided over the tea cups. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Elliot, the parents of Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. F. S. White, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bowman, Miss Gladys Edgecombe, Mr. Stuart White, Mr. J. Pope Barnes and Mr. G. Percy Leonard.

Dr. W. H. Griffith Thomas, D. D., M. A., is the guest during his stay here, of Rev. A. L. Fleming, rector of Stone church and Mrs. Fleming, Hazen street.

The fine weather made badminton not so popular as it had been all winter although a fair representation was at the Armory Saturday afternoon, and dropped in at tea time for the social hour. Mrs. Percy D. McAvilly, Mrs. David Ledingham presided over the tea cups. The usual time will be spent this week on the courts, Wednesday afternoon, Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon.

Miss Catherine Bates, who accompanied her father, Mr. Edward Bates, to Montreal, is with him a guest at the Windsor Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Goodspeed, of Manawagonish road, were guests of honor at a dinner Saturday evening in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pierce were host and hostess for the party, which was a farewell to Mr. Goodspeed, who leaves for Winnipeg on Thursday of this week.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert G. Fulton were pleased to welcome on Saturday their son, Mr. Fraser Fulton, who spent the week-end at the parsonage, returning today to Mount Allison University, where he is studying in the engineering department.

Among those assisting at the post nuptial reception of Mrs. H. C. Teifer, Jr., Montreal, last week, were Miss Muriel and Miss Hilbert Scott, of St. Stephen, and Miss Marjorie Robertson, of this city.

Mrs. Ian MacLaren, of Montreal, who has had her mother, Mrs. A. J. Gregory, with her for some time, returned with the latter to Fredericton last week, where she will spend some weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch Morrison, 109 South Bentinck street, of Sydney, N. S., left Wednesday to spend a month with their daughter, Mrs. R. H. Murdoch, Everett, Mass. On their way they will visit Mrs. Ernest Cunningham at St. John, for a week. It is 10 years since their last visit to the United States. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison are wonderful travelers, when it is considered that Mr. Morrison is in his 80th year, and Mrs. Morrison only some few years younger.

Capt. Peter Lawson, commandant of the S. S. Cabotia, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mackenzie, 28 Thorne avenue, and little daughter, Constance, to a dainty lunch given in their honor on board the S. S. Cabotia on Friday. Capt. Lawson was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mackenzie on Saturday. He sailed at 6 o'clock in the afternoon for Glasgow. This ends his trips to this port for this season; he will next sail from Glasgow to Montreal.

Four tablespoons stewed rhubarb, ½ cup cottage cheese, 1 head lettuce, 8 clams on half shell, broiled lamb kidneys, 1 cup new cooked cabbage, 1 whole canned pear, 1 slice bran toast, 2 slices gluten bread, 1 pint skimmed milk.
Total calories, 1,006. Protein, 32.3; fat, 12.1; carbohydrate, 480. Iron, 0.216 gram.

Broiled Lamb Kidneys.
Six lamb kidneys, 2 large onions, 2 tablespoons butter, salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.
Soak kidneys in cold salt water for two hours. Prepare, trim and cut in thin slices. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Melt butter in frying pan, add slices of kidney and brown quickly on one side and then on the other. Remove to a hot platter and keep hot. Peel and slice onions and cook in melted butter until tender. The pan should be covered to prevent the steam from escaping. This cooks the onions. Sprinkle lemon juice over kidneys and surround with onions. This recipe will serve four persons.

French Designer, Speaks in New York, Shows to the Women.

By MARIAN HALE.

New York—That famous trio of old friends, old books and old wine should be expanded into a quartette so as to accommodate old clothes, according to Madame Madeleine Vionnet, exclusive French designer, who has just arrived here to study the American woman.

French, "I shall wear this gown, made in 1918. It is still my favorite frock."

From its dissonant paper wrappings she carefully unfolded a gown of dull red crepe with bluish-purple beads—a "When I go to the opera," she said in English with slightly favored I might not like so much and would have no pleasant associations for me."

But not so Madame Vionnet.

Harmony in Dress.
"It's my color and it is beautiful," she maintained. "Why should I abandon it for something newer? I might not like so much and would have no pleasant associations for me?"

The gown she wore was of the same shade of red, with the same subtle purple tone worked in bands on the sleeves and skirt. A string of cloudy amber beads reached nearly to her waistline.

"This dress is three years old," she admitted when I admired it, "and my coat is the same age. If I made new ones they would only be duplicates of these. So why bother?"

"Women come to me in Paris and order a gown for a certain occasion when they wish particularly to shine. I always ask them why they select such a time to try out a new gown. How do they know how they will feel in it? How are they sure they will be comfortable everywhere?"

A Suggestion.
"Try out your gowns at unimportant occasions, I advise, so they will be familiar to you when you really need them—so you can forget them entirely and thus wear them with distinction. Make them so much a part of your personality, or rather co-ordinate them so with your real self that your costumes are a part of you, regulated no more by style than are your eyes or your smile. Beauty and art are superior to style, now and always."

We have this charming French-woman to thank for many things. She was practically the creator of the simple straight frock with the graceful, flowing lines. She was the first to make dresses without light linings. She helped out the corset. She has advocated always the conservative and the beautiful dress.

"Ten seasons' wear is not too much to expect from a good gown," she assured me. "And four gowns a year, carefully selected, should keep any woman well dressed."

SAYS TEMPERANCE HOPES RUN HIGH

The hopes for temperance legislation in Scotland are growing steadily more bright, in the opinion of Miss M. Ferguson, who was for ten years the national secretary for young people's work for the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Scotland and who is now in Canada on a visit to friends and in the interests of W. C. T. U. work. Miss Ferguson arrived on the Metagama yesterday and will spend a short time in St. John before continuing her journey in Canada.

Miss Ferguson is at present a member of the executive of the W. C. T. U. of Scotland and a member of the Scotch churches committee on temperance. While in St. John she is a guest at the Lansdowne House. She spoke at Centenary church last night and will address a meeting in the Y. W. C. A. recreation centre tonight.

BEGINS SERIES.

Rev. H. A. Goodwin, pastor of Portland Methodist church, began a series of special services last evening, speaking before a large congregation. The services will be continued throughout the week, being conducted by the pastor and led each evening by various members of the church. Rev. James Dunlop, of Central Baptist church was the preacher in Portland church yesterday morning. Ernest Till was the soloist in the morning, and Miss Elsie Spence in the evening.

What earthly reason remains for home washing?

Is it cleanliness? None make their clothes as immaculate as the New System Wet Wash.

Is it economy? Why home washing works out at four times as much when you count up.

Is it exercise? Surely no one calls washing anything but unhealthy hard work.

Take down your phone receiver and escape.

EXIT THE SUNDAY SUIT.

(Washington Cor. Bangor Commercial.)
In looking over the situation in the world today one is rather forcibly struck by the passing of an old American institution—the Sunday suit of clothes. Another epoch in our progress, or perhaps retrogression, is marked by this phenomenon. It is one of those vague events, the precise date of which can not be set down, like the passing of bead portieres, Gibson girls, pompadour hair and suburban houses in the Swiss chalet style. The observer, looking about him today, merely notes that these things are gone, but can not say where nor recall just when the momentous if vague exit took place.

But the fact remains that the Sunday suit is gone and its absence is a profound change in the habits of American life. To the vast preponderance of the people, the old-fashioned Sunday also is gone.

Undoubtedly there are families in some parts of the country in which the corduroy pants are still being handed down from generation to generation and Sunday suits still are to be found, but they are the exceptions. The Sunday suit no longer is a national institution; it is no more than a survival.

To be sure clothes do not make the man, although one can think of a few instances in which they almost did. Beau Brummel built up great influence with the social set of Great Britain because of the variety and gorgeousness of his raiment. But his glory did not endure. The last 20 years of his life were spent in poverty, part of them in a debtors' prison.
