Kiss everyone in sight except the children and the merry
smack:
1 lecture forty minutes to the multitude and then
Total Riss everyone in sight except the children and the men
Grave girls, brave girls, girls who seem afraid;
Cold girls, old girls, whose teeth are tailor made;
Hired girls, tired girls, short girls and tall,
Tongued-tied and cross-eyed, I kiss 'em one and all. The editors are howling mad because I've got a snap,
'Tis envy stirs' em up and so I never care a rap;
And if the ones who howl the most and rant and rave
and scoff
Had half a show, why, don't you know, you couldn't choke 'em off,
Sly girls, shy girls, hasty girls and slow,
Some who cling like everything, and some who touch
and co: and go;
Giggling girls, wiggling girls, large girls and small,
Thick or thin, I wade right in and kiss 'em one and all I'm likely to be "fired" from the navy, so "they say," But what care I, since I may kiss five hundred girls a Jany, 11, paid Secy-Treas, and default list for '95 and '96 unpaid 23 44 com on 8120 @ 7%.

But what care I, since I may kiss five hundred girls a day?
So long as I may press their lips I think I'd be a dunce To long to face the cannon's mouth the way I did it. once.

Fat girls, flat girls, sour girls and sweet;
Girls with beaux and pigeon-toes and No. 11 feet;
Lithe girls, blithe girls, and girls whose looks appal,
But having faced a cannon's mouth I face 'em one and all.

A GREAT GREAT-GRANDMOTHER. LONDON, Feb. 8.-The likelihood of Her Majesty becoming a great-great-grandmother is causing no little sensation. She has already 32 great-grand-children, but if all goes well she will in May put another record to her wonderful career when the confinement of Princess Heinreich Reuss is expected. For a sovereign to have greatgreat-grandchildren is without parallel in
