

A MASTERLY EXPOSITION OF AFFAIRS

not tell of the large increase in the expenditure on fish, forest and game protection. More was being spent on game protection now than ever before, and the game was not being protected. It was not his intention to discuss the water power bill introduced by the hon. Premier. When his hon. friend (Tilley) was discussing the subject he was told by the hon. Minister of Lands and Mines that the company which controlled the Grand Falls held in fee simple a deed signed by J. K. Fleming. He would point out that the Act turning Grand Falls over to a private company was passed in 1905, and that Act had compelled Mr. Fleming to sign the deed. Thinking men who realized the great value of water powers would agree with him that the word "ferme" was not strong enough to describe the Act passed by the Legislature in 1905.

His hon. friends opposite had complained in 1906 that the then Government was expending on agriculture less than the cost of executive government. The accounts for 1919 showed that they had not brought about an improvement, as expenditure on executive government had exceeded that on agriculture by $2,000. The hon. Minister of Agriculture had been given great credit for what he had done. He had found the department well organized and had not put forward a single policy which was not in force when the old Government gave up office in 1917. The hon. Minister of Public Works had quoted the Standard newspaper in an attempt to show that the Opposition was out of sympathy with agriculture. The Standard seemed to be a source of worry to his hon. friends.

Hon. Mr. Foster—It is a source of worry to the other side, too. Mr. Murray, continuing, said he did not know about that. But the hon. Premier seemed unable to address the House without referring to the Standard. He could take the eulogies of the Telegraph, but when the Standard was fit to criticize him he thought it was a scandalous thing. He (Murray) had been told that a report of the United Farmers' convention had been wired to the Telegraph, with the words paid, but that paper had refused to publish it as a news matter. That would indicate that one paper on the Premier's own side was out of sympathy with agriculture.

The hon. members opposite in 1916 had promised a vigorous immigration policy, but what had they done? The fact was that in no Province of Canada was there such absolute stagnation in regard to immigration as in New Brunswick. Other provinces were reaching out for immigration, but New Brunswick was doing nothing.

For the administration of justice there had been expended in 1919 the sum of $29,776.

Hon. members opposite used to complain that under the old government that the money went largely to lawyer friends of the administration.

Hon. Mr. Byrnes said that jury fees had been largely increased. Mr. Murray, continuing, said that the controller's report showed that a large portion of the money was still going to lawyer friends of the government. When a deputy attorney general was appointed they had been told of a great saving that would be made, but there had been no saving. The hon. Premier in a pamphlet issued in 1916 had complained of an expenditure of $45,572 on account of executive government. Last year that item totalled $59,249, an increase of $13,676 over 1916. That was what the people had to pay for the good looking men who sat in the seats of the mighty. The people would naturally ask if they were worth the difference in cost, and when the time arrived would say "no."

Hon. Mr. Foster—"They will say yes."

Hon. Mr. Murray continuing, said that his hon. friend might think that as he (Murray) did in 1917, but would get a surprise when the election returns came in as he did.

He wished to point out that they were now in the reconstruction period when prudence and economy were needed in the administration of the affairs of the province. The government should recognize the public needs, and grapple earnestly with the important questions which presented themselves. It was of great importance that there should be conservation of the public domain.

The hon. Premier had referred to the list of achievements of the present administration. He (Murray) would like to add a few. He believed it to be the most partisan administration the province had ever had. It was also the most extravagant; it had the largest revenue and the largest deficit on record; it had charged current expenses to capital account; it had raised the stumpage to $4, and had reduced it in response to the protests of the lumbermen; it had neglected the by-roads; it had increased the cost of executive government; it had failed to make adequate provision for the returned soldiers; and it had made no provision for immigration.

The debate was continued by Mr. LeBlanc and Mr. Peck, and was adjourned on motion of Mr. Dyar. This matter moved when the convalescence of Mr. Peck was discussed. Mr. Peck was referred back to the municipalities committee for a further expression of opinion.

Adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

AFTER EFFECTS OF INFLUENZA OFTEN SERIOUS

Victims Are Left Weak, Tired and Mentally Depressed — Tonic Treatment is Strongly Recommended.

No pestilence in years has caused more widespread suffering than the epidemic of influenza which swept over Canada in the fall and winter of 1918-19, and again this winter. The danger from this trouble is seldom over when the characteristic symptoms, the fever, headache and the depression of spirits have passed away. Influenza leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion, nervousness, and other ailments. Men and women who were robust before stricken with influenza find their bodies racked by pains previously unknown to them. This is the time when the convalescent from influenza should build up the blood with a reliable blood-making tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Weak blood means impoverished nerves, impaired digestion, a feeling of tiredness after even slight exertion, and sometimes even more serious symptoms. When the blood regains its rich red quality the nerves recover their strength and the organs of the body function naturally. In fact building up the blood will vitalize the whole system.

The experience of Mr. Andrew Marty, Bathurst, N. B., will prove of value to a host of influenza sufferers who still suffer from the effects of the disease. Mr. Marty says—"The new life and consequently new hope brought into my life through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is almost beyond my power of expression. Following a severe attack of influenza in 1918 I found myself rapidly failing in health, and was naturally much alarmed. I began to lose weight, could not eat, did not sleep well, and in a word I was reduced to a mere shadow. I was forced to discontinue work because of my weakened condition and things had a very blue outlook. I tried a number of suggested remedies, but without benefit. And then one day Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were suggested to me. I acted on my friend's advice, began taking these pills and soon felt an improvement. Ever since I seemed to grow stronger, and after four weeks' treatment I felt fully restored to my old-time health. From my own experience I feel that, if given a fair trial, there is no medicine superior to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in building up a run down system."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic, not a stimulant. They build up the blood, and not only the disastrous after effects of influenza but also troubles due to poor blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion and the generally worn-out feeling that affects so many people, disappear. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

REGULAR SAND STORM

Yesterday's bright sun and wind did much to dry up the damp streets. The wind did not stop there, however, but gathered up the dust and sent it twirling along the different thoroughfares until one was led to believe that they had stumbled into a sand storm. It was anything but pleasant to the pedestrians but they at least could move on out of its path. This was not the case with the traffic cops, they, poor chaps, had to face it whether or no.

PERMISSION WITHHELD

France Opposes German Troops in Occupied Zone.

Paris, March 29.—The Allies have not yet given the Germans permission to send troops into the Ruhr district. The French continue to insist that military occupation of the neutral zone by Germans would further endanger execution of the peace treaty, declaring that there would be no way of getting them out again except by force.

It is pointed out regarding possible guarantees that the Germans have proposed nothing explicit beyond vague supervision by the Allied commission, which is regarded in French official circles as totally inadequate. The proposed Allied occupation of Frankfurt and Darmstadt is also regarded by the French as ineffective and likely to result in nothing more than the engendering of hatred.

Montreal, March 20.—The Merchants Bank directors have declared dividend of 3 per cent for the current quarter, and a bonus of 1 per cent, payable May 1st to shareholders on record April 15th.

London, March 30.—The all-important need from an Imperial, sports point of view of sending a British soccer team to Canada during the summer season was today discovered to be impossible.

On Jones of Vancouver, who arrived here recently armed with the backing of the Canadian soccer authorities, approached a number of clubs for the purpose of arranging for a tour of the Dominion by a number of English and Scottish clubs, during which games with local clubs would be held, met with a final everywhere.

Among the clubs he sought to induce to visit the Dominion were the Newcastle United, Chelsea, Glasgow Rangers, Celtic and both Scottish and English leagues.

The reason given for the refusal is that the teams are only free to play and practice between May 15 and August 15, and that the ten weeks required by the proposed tour would leave too short a period for training before the next season opens.

TENNIS IS POPULAR SPORT IN ENGLAND

Lawn tennis throughout England may be said to have regained its pre-war position, and there is every evidence that the sport will experience a tremendous boom during the coming summer, especially with an Australian team playing in the Wimbledon championships. Reserved tickets for the tournament, which will not begin until June 21, had already been placed upon sale, and were sold in great quantities. It was the demand that they were allotted in part by ballot.

According to the latest announcements from abroad, it is expected the tournament will continue for close to two weeks, and will captivate spectators, both men and women, from all the European tennis playing countries as well as the United States, Australia, Japan and South Africa. Other plans include the revival of the famous London-Paris matches beginning April 6, and the inauguration of an English professional championship.

Veteran Sculler 35 Years In Game

James C. Rice Began His Competitive Career in 1885—Was Consistent Winner Until 1904—Most Successful Coach.

James C. Rice, coach of the Columbia crew, is one of the most notable men in the game. The veteran sculler, who hails from Canada, has been connected with rowing in some form or other for 35 years. He began his competitive career in 1885 while still in his teens. From 1885 until 1904 he competed in all the national regattas held in Canada, as well as many in the States, and was a consistent winner.

As early as 1892 Rice took up coaching along with his racing. His first pupils were the members of the Sunnyside Boat Club of Toronto, Canada. In 1895 he went to the Toronto Rowing club and the following year was signed by the Argonaut club, one of the biggest rowing clubs in Canada. He remained with the latter organization for four years, during which time he enjoyed unusual success.

In 1898 he received a call from the Brockville club of Ontario. The Detroit Boat Club, one of the most prominent in this country, then secured Rice's services. This was the first American crew the veteran coached. He was with the Detroit outfit until 1904, when he got his first chance to coach an American college navy.

Harvard university was the institution that sent for Rice and in his two years there he succeeded so well that Columbia, seeking a capable man, put its rowing affairs in ships, coasted the veteran Canadian from the Crimson. Rice has been with the New Yorkers ever since.

Among Rice's most notable victories while in competition was his winning of the world's double championship in company with Jake Gaudaur, over Ed. Duran and James Rodgers, two of the greatest scullers of all time, in addition to his coaching activities. Rice has trained many champion oarsmen, including Duran.

CHAMPIONS WILL NOT FIGHT THIS YEAR

There is no chance for a world's championship in 1920 between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, according to Tex Rickard, one of the foremost bidders for the contest. The French champion probably will not extend his present visit to the United States, Rickard said, and he must return to Paris for a bout scheduled in August.

This is sufficient to prevent his appearance against Dempsey this year. The promoter said, explaining that for the international bout to be a financial success it would have to be held in the open, and as Carpentier will be busy next July he would not have enough time to train before the arrival of cold weather.
