Langton and Hincks, in reference to our claims, he had not received a cent of public moneys since he was Secretary. The Sergeant-at-Arms was the only rela tive for whem he had asked office from the present Government. He had been offered any position he would take in the prospective Government, as the price for supporting the Opposition, but could not do it, as he felt if the latter got into power Sectarian Schools would be the creas result. Many of the opposition could not, because of their sectarian school views, support the Government. (Here Messrs. Hanington and Gillespie said they opposed the Government because it was corrupt.) Mr. Beckwith closed by reference to his long and honorable polltical career, and said he was to take a seat in the Upper House and would not, Silver Fillagree Jewelry. therefore, be a candidate again. Mr. Gillespie argued that the charge made against members during the supply debate were all proved. He produced a Cutlery and Plated Ware. copy of a receipt for $372 for covering the Little Falls Bridge, and said the signa ture, J. Tibbets & Sons, was in the handwriting of the member for Victoria, who must, therefore, be a member of that firm. He thought greater corruption existed in Crown Lands than in the Works Department, and cited the case that came under his own observation where landwas knocked down at eighty-five cents an acre while the records showed it as sold

Mr. Girouard explained that in com-Mr. Girouard explained that in com-pliance with the solicitation of the in-habitants of St. Mary's and Girouard settlements he obtained a special grant of $700 for building a road for their accommodation from the settlements to the Intercolonial. A special Commission expended the money, and after seeing that he built a good road he drew the money for him and his vouchers were duly fyled, though the contrary had been stated. He referred to ballot-box stuff-schr Adelia, 184, Huntley, New York, Luke stated. He referred to ballot-box stuffing in Kent, and said his opponents brought their ledgers under their arms to the polling places and compelled those indebted to them to vote against him. Before charging him with not carrying out the wishes of his constituents as expressed by petitions the Opposition had better ascertain what proportion of electors of Kent were parties to the petitions, and also what they power to give a position they made tempting offers for his support, but failed, and he hoped they would never have

Mr. O'Leary said only two years sinc the covernment had sold and deceived him in regard to a certain question.

Mr. Girouard said this was untrue. LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL. FREDERICTON, March 20.
