BE INVESTIGATED CITY, ON CAMPUS

The Brunswickan books for the publication year ending April 1954 are to be investigated by the financial committee of the Student's Representative Council to ascertain the whys and wherefores of a debt of approximately $800. The investigation was launched by the S.R.C. at last Wednesday's meeting after a request to cover the debt was made by the present Brunswicken manager Dick Hale. "The request is being presented", said Mr. Hale, "In order that last years books can be closed so as to ease the present unfavourable situation which exists between the Brunswickan and our printers and advertisers."

After a short discussion, the five man financial committee chaired by S.R.C. treasurer Greg. Hayton was mandated to request the books from 1953-54 Brunswickan business manager and carry out an audit. The reason for the S.R.C. interest is that the Brunswickan is operated on an S.R.C. sub-The S.R.C. claims the surpluses and is responsible for the debts of all organizations which the council financially supports.

At the S.R.C. Fall Budget meeting on October 20th, the Brunswickan budget of $1075.00 was passed and it is expected that under a new financial system which has been adopted this year, The Brunswickan will break even. This has been the case for the first three issues published.

PROVE AMUSING The University Debating Society met last Thursday night in the Forestry Building. The first item on the agenda was a report by secre-tary Jack Foote on the proceedings of the Maritime Intercollegiate Debating League Conference.

Following the business meeting two spontaneous debates were or-Beneficial to Mankind". The af-firmative was upheld by Mavin Meloche and Neill Mulvaney and the negative by Lyrdon Grey and Andrew Porter. This debate was favourably commented on by the judges, Dr. Alec Lucas and Prof. Lovell Clarke who awarded the decision to the affirmative team.

The second debate was resolved the Institution of Marriage should be abolished". The speakers for the affirmative were Hugh Peacock and Derek Gemmel, while Ellsworth Briggs and Dick Hale upheld the negative point of view. As might be expected, this debate humorous state ments and the judges awarded the affirmative side a split decision.

This programme was considered to have been very successful and it is hoped that at the next meeting which is scheduled for Thursday, November 18th in the Forestry Building, a larger number of stu-coloured slides. All students are dents will attend.

Fall Production Plans Announced

The Drama Society will present on November 23, 24 and 25 a mod-ern version of the Sophocles play "Antigone". This tragedy of the conflict between a woman's cons cience and the law of the state was first enacted on the Athenian stage some 2400 years ago. In 1943 Jean Anouilh's version of "Antigone" was successfully produced in German-occupied Paris, and in February, 1946 the Lewis Galantiere adaptation of the Anouilh play was given in New York.

The play has the timeless quality of great drama. In 1943 Anouilh's treatment made it a call to Frenchmen to reject surrender to the promises of material happiness and order held out by the occupying Germans. It required the skill of an Anouilh to create a Creon who could, with his reasoning, satisfy

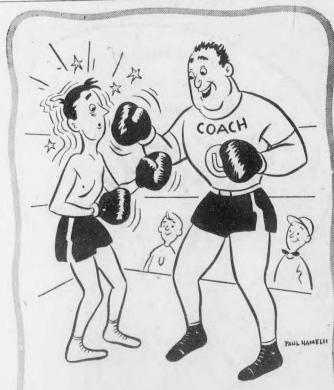

In the coming UNB production Alda Mair wil play Antigone and Iain Barr, Creon. Miss Mair will be remembered for her performance as Luba in last year's "Darkness at Noon", for which she won the award as best female actress in the Regional Drama Festival, Mr. Barr, the president of the Drama Society, played the prison commandant in "Darkness at Noon" and Beecham in the fall play "Chiltern Hundreds". He was last year's winner of the Bailey Trophy given annually to the best student actor at the university.

Several other members of the cast of eleven have been seen in previous UNB plays: Professor Alvin Shaw, who plays the Chorus, Mrs. Eleanor Boby, of the Library staff, who plays the nurse. Neale Hargrove and Ellsworth Briggs, Sophomore Arts students who will be guards, and Robert Hawkes, Junior Arts, who is the Messenger. Newcomers to the Fredericton stage are Esther Harrison of Vancouver, a post-graduate student in History, Jack Sheriff, post-graduate in English, and Walter Mac-Donald, a B.Ed student. One role has yet to be filled—that of a page and the director would be pleased to have a vounteer.
