"GET A BOX OF MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS."

He says: "I have been ailing for about a year from deranged nerves, and very often weak spells would come over me and be so bad that I sometimes thought I would be unable to survive them. I have been treated by doctors and have taken numerous preparations but none of them helped me in the least. I finally got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before taking them I did not feel able to do any work, but now I can work as well as ever, thanks to one box of your pills. They have made a new man of me, and my advice to any person troubled as I was, is to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

LIVE STOCK AT ST. LOUIS.

Under the able direction of Chief F. D. Coburn, of this Department of the World's Fair of 1904, the most complete classification for cattle ever devised has been made. Over 35 acres, lying south of the agricultural and horticultural palaces and on a hill overlooking the grounds, will be devoted exclusively to live stock. A quarter of a million dollars are appropriated for prizes. The nearest approach to this was at the Chicago Exposition in 1893, when live-stock prizes amounted to $142,500.

There are forty-five buildings, including thirty-three barns to accommodate 80 to 100 horses or cattle each, four dairy barns of octagonal shape and 100 feet in diameter, with silos and feed barns. The largest building of this exhibit is the amphitheater for the ring shows, the dimensions being 500 feet in length by 250 feet in width. Here will be the largest show-ring ever constructed for an exposition. The Live-stock Congress Hall, 200 feet long and 100 feet wide, with a seating capacity of 2,500, contains a sale-ring, and also an abattoir laboratory for the work of the Government experimental stations. Lectures will be delivered in this hall treating on all branches of animal husbandry, and meetings held for various live-stock interests.

The quarter of a million dollars for prizes in the live-stock department has been apportioned as follows: Horses, $93,640; cattle, $64,370; sheep, $41,758; swine, $30,920; poultry, pigeons and cats, $16,625; dogs, $7,500. A contingent fund will increase the amount to $260,000. In addition the various breeders' associations will give prizes in liberal sums. All prizes for live stock will be awarded by individual judges, of the one-judge system, and by comparison, and their awards will be final. Only such animals as have been awarded first prizes in their respective classes will be eligible to championship awards, and the championships will in each instance be awarded by the judge who awarded the breed's class prizes. Judges are instructed to award in each instance only prizes of such grade as the merits of the individual animals justify, and absence of competition will not be accepted in any case as justification for awarding high-class prizes to animals of medium or inferior quality. No animal deemed unworthy shall be awarded a prize, nor shall a prize be withheld merely because of lack of competition. The cattle display begins September 12 and ends September 24. The following classes are provided: Shorthorn, Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus, Galloway, Red Polled, Devon, Polled Durham, Brown Swiss, Jersey, Holstein-Friesian, Ayrshire, Guernsey, Dutch Belted, French-Canadian, Norman, Simmenthal, Sussex, Highland, Buffalo and Catalo; and oxen. Additional provision is made for a "cow demonstration" to show the dairy and beef merits of the different breeds of cows. All sales must be within the period from September 12th to 24th, inclusive.

The strictly dairy breeds are given opportunities to make a large showing, while features not in the least conflicting with their privileges enable the dual-purpose breeds to demonstrate their value for both dairying and beef production. This means a demonstration rather than a competitive test, and will enable each breed participating to show its own peculiar advantages. Prizes will be awarded to herds and individual cows, and the same cows may compete for herd and individual prizes. There are already entered for the cow demonstration 25 Jerseys, 25 Shorthorns, 5 Brown Swiss, 5 Devons, and a number of Holstein-Friesians. The cows are fed 120 days for the butter test.
