THE SITUATION

Roumania has never made any bones about the fact that if she entered worker. the war that course would be taken for what she could get out of it. Moreover that it did not matter to her which side she espoused so long as her self interests were served. The victory of freedom over militarism, and the safe-guarding of the rights and against contagious diseases. liberties of the smaller nations were in the decision of the ruling powers. However, with this fact fully recognized, the Allies have cause to welcome their new comrade. His fighting force, although not large, is composed of veterans, and the circumstance that cool calculation has decided the King busy.

Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, has been a special mark for Globe venom. The scurrilous articles which the organ has written against him and the management of his department, would disgrace a backwoods weekly in an uncontrolled district. On what ground? There is not one solid charge to be brought against him and the recent attack upon his probity utterly and ignominiously failed. The truth is that his marvellous energy has achieved such notable results that the Globe seeks to pull him down, not caring one whit how how much it may incidentally damage recruiting in the process. What does the organ care about that so long as some munt may stick on his uniform?
