FROM THE FRONT.

Corporal Burrell and Trooper Peck Write Home.

The Former has Been Promoted—Trooper Peck Sees Lots of Fighting.

Henry Burrell, one of the young men from the Maple City, now in active service in South Africa, has received his promotion as corporal, and writes home to his parents from Bloemfontein under date of May 29. In the letter he says:—

"I have no stamps to post this with. There were some last week, but there was such a rush that they didn't last long. This war will teach me more than all the history I could read in the next ten years. Britain has now more troops in the field than she ever had before. The Boers hold very good positions, and if it were not for the ground flank movements which Lord Roberts conducts, they would put up quite a fight. But they can't stand flanking, so they retreat to another hill or mound, where they will make another stand for a little while and then go on again. I am looking forward to the time when the whole Transvaal will surrender. I would just as soon go home as I cannot get back to the front and secure any more honors. I suppose I had to get wounded, and hope I have done my share in our company."

FROM FRANK PECK.
Frank Peck, son of Frank C. Peck, Jeannette's Creek, who went with the second contingent, writes his father from Kroonstad, May 18—

"I suppose you are very anxious to hear from me, and I intended to write before. We have had some six battles between Bloemfontein and Kroonstad, which made the trip lively and interesting, although not any too pleasant at times, while passing through the Orange Free State. The Boers were routed out like grasshoppers, and it was a frightful sight to see the dead and wounded men and horses lying on the field. I have fired a number of shots in each engagement, but could not find a man for a target, as the Boers do not expose themselves and we are unable to see the enemy at all unless in close quarters. They are rather good shots themselves, too, and fire very rapidly, but they have not the sand to stand and fight like the British. If they did not doubt the war would soon be ended. We fare very well, and manage to get a few chickens occasionally. Each man makes his own tea or coffee. I am in good health, and well pleased with solitary so far."

MAY GO TO CHINA.
In a subsequent letter, Trooper Peck says: "We are still holding Kroonstad, waiting for further supplies. This is a little town 160 miles from Pretoria. We expect to soon have another battle. We had a lively time at the Vet River, the border of the Orange Free State, also the entrance to the Transvaal. The majority of the Canadians sent out with the second contingent may consider themselves very lucky and content, but very thankful that more of them have not been killed, as the bullets and sharp-nail shells were bursting right on our flanks. The men who fell were British Imperialists. As soon as we have in more supplies we will make a rush and fight our way into the Transvaal. When this war is over, as they are going to have a hot time in China, it is quite likely I may arrange to go out there."

MUST BE SUBDUED.

Not Until China Suffers With the Kaiser Rest.

Kiel, July 9.—The German East Asiatic squadron sailed this morning for China. Emperor William and Prince Henry of Prussia witnessed the departure of the warships. Addressing the first naval division prior to its departure for China to-day, Emperor William said:—
"You are the first division of armored ships which I send abroad. Remember, you will have to fight a cunning foe, provided with modern weapons, to avenge the German blood which has flowed. But, spare the women and children. I shall not rest till China is subdued and all the bloody deeds are avenged. You will fight together with the troops of various nationalities. See that you maintain good comradeship with them."

LITTLE SUCCESS

Is Attending the Boer Tactics in South Africa.

Afrikaner Leaders not Well Received in London—Paul Hange on the Gold.

London, Tuesday, July 10, 4 a. m.—As Lord Roberts' despatches reveal, the Boers are unusually active, both in the Orange Colony and the so-called pacified western Transvaal, but without producing any serious impression upon the British army. Passengers arriving at Lorenzo Marques on July 9 from Middleburg say there has been severe fighting between the latter place and Machadodorp, in which the Boers were defeated and demoralized. The Bondi leaders at the Cape are extending their boycott of British firms, and Dutch companies, with £200,000 capital, have been formed. The Lorenzo Marques correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says under date of July 9:—"I understand that Mr. Hollis, the American consul here, has been recalled. He is a well-known pro-Boer."

At a meeting of Afrikaner women at Cape Town Monday called to protest against the annexation of the Republics to the British Empire and the punishment of the rebels, Mrs. Olive Schreiner Crowright denounced the British policy. She said:—"If the Republics are annexed, if the Afrikaners are oppressed, peace is impossible." It is reported at Cape Town that President Kruger's retention of large amounts of gold at Machadodorp has created the utmost discontent among the officers and men. They expected substantial rewards for championing the Boer interests, but have received nothing. It is added that visiting foreigners who have subsequently advocated intervention are believed to have received substantial sums. Proofs, it is further asserted, have been discovered in Pretoria which promise startling developments.

The five Afrikaner leaders who arrived in London Saturday last seek to impress the idea upon the English that public opinion is favorable to Boer independence. They have been asked to leave the hotel at which they are stopping. Among them is Prof. Deyers, of the Stellenbosch theological seminary, and D. Dewet, formerly a member of the Cape Colony Cabinet. The Cape correspondent of the Standard says under date of July 9:—"The Post Office authorities have issued a notice that civil mails have been suspended for Johannesburg. This is the first time that telegrams from Pretoria are refused, causes uneasiness."

A PRIEST MARRIED.

Young Woman Traveled 800 Miles From Ontario to Meet Him.

Worcester, July 9.—Rev. M. Arthur Coutlee, a priest of the Roman Catholic church, and Miss Georgiana Perrier, formerly a school teacher in Western Ontario, Canada, who eluded her parents and came 800 miles, were married by Rev. Arthur St. James in the Beeson Street French Baptist church here. A surging crowd filled the streets and crowded the edifice during the ceremony.

IS IN CONTROL AGAIN

The Empress Dowager Once More has the Upper Hand in China.

Shanghai, Tuesday, July 10.—The Empress Dowager is again in control at Peking. She resumed the reigns of government June 30th, and at once pointed General Yung Lu as prime minister. News to this effect was received here from official sources at 10 last night. It was received with rejoicing by the foreigners. She sent a despatch thanking the viceroys of Tang and Kwang provinces for their loyalty, and commanding them to protect foreigners at any cost.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles and feel the result in loss of appetite, headache, nervousness, headache and tired, run-down feeling, but "Electric Bitters" are just the thing for a man," writes J. W. Gardner, of Indianapolis, Ind., "when he is all run-down and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease of life." Only 50c. Every bottle guaranteed by A. I. McCall & Co., druggists.

SEVERAL SNAGS.

Bishop McEvay Likely to Strike Them in Windsor

Before He Succeeds in Establishing Separate Schools There.

Detroit Free Press

Windsor Catholics are averse to discussing the contemplated change in the schools by Bishop McEvay, but one and all agree that they are perfectly satisfied with the way the schools are conducted at present, and do not wish a change for several reasons and, probably the main one is the financial side of the question. The Bishop has stated that he would retain the present teachers in St. Alphonsus' and St. Francis' schools, and if he does so it means an increase in the school rate for Catholic ratepayers. They appear to think that when the Bishop finds out he will have to raise more money than at present to run the schools, he will have the qualified teachers discharged and their places filled by the sisters of some convent.

A member of the Windsor school board, in speaking of the matter, said that the Bishop would run up against several snags before he had the change completed, and the separate schools in running order. The Catholics represent about one-third of the ratepayers of the city, and at present, their school assessment is about $2,000 less than the expense of running St. Francis' and St. Alphonsus' schools. If it is the bishop's intention to employ the same number of teachers at the same salaries at present, the supporters of the schools will have to make up this deficiency.

Then, again, there is the question of ownership of the schools. The building and site of St. Francis' were paid for with money from the public school board, and undoubtedly, it is declared, it belongs to the public schools. The St. Alphonsus school was also erected by the school board, and the only thing that the Bishop can lay claim to is the lot on which that school was built. This was deeded to the Catholic church some years ago by a man named Cuellette for school purposes. But the Bishop cannot expect that the public school supporters will be willing to surrender to the church the buildings and had purchased with their money, it is argued.

There is also some doubt about the Bishop being able to open his Separate school in the first part of next January, as there is a provision in the statutes that the clerk of the municipality must be notified some months previous to any change being made. The separate school trustees will have to be elected and possession of the buildings secured before the scheme comes into effect. There will be no funds available for the expenses of the schools until after the rate is struck next May, and the money for current expenses must be forthcoming from some source.
