BERTHA PEARSOLL, WITNESS IN MURDER CASE, FORGETS NAMES.

Minnie Turner Accused of Death of Woman Who Died in Her House.

Toronto, Sept. 20.-Whorwere the two mysterious visitors who visited Rose Winters, for whose murder, as the result of an illegal operation, Minnie Turner was charged before Colonel Denison yesterday? Quietly dressed in a black coat, skirf and hat, Bertha Pearsoll stepped into the box and related how she had resided with the prisoner at 44 Huntley street and at 248 Poplar (Plains road, It st the Huntley street house that first saw Rose Winters, and the told her that she was in trouble Mrs. Turner was going to get her of it. That conversation took but Mrs. Turner was going to get her out of it. That' conversation took place in the presence of Mrs. Turner, who said that nothing vould be done until they got to the new house. The girl said that she was to pay $25, and Mrs. Turner stated that $15 was for the doctor, but no name of any medical man was mentioned.

Witness then went on to tell how at the Huntley street house, when the door of the dead girl's room was open, she saw the prisoner operating. Afterwards witness assisted in attending to the girl. Before she operated Mrs. Turner was giving the girl medicine. Mrs. Turner told her that if the police came she must tell the same story prisoner must tell the same story prisoner

Col. Denison—Everything should be done in the light of day. If I have the court cleared I invariably ask the reporters to stay in order that the public may know what is going on. It would be wrong if justice were administered without being open to the public.

Mr. Bond (to the witness)—Will you tell me the names, but not now, of the people who wer ip the house?

After some further questions as to whether witness had proposed that Rose Winters should see a doctor, Mr. Bond returned to the question of the visitors, and asked if anyone saw the girl in Mrs. Turner's absence. The vitness (Pearsoll) again stated that two men called.

Mr. Bond—Were you present when they saw her? A.—Yes.

Colonel Denison (to the witness)—Do you know the names? A.—Yes.

Mr. Bond—No, their visit was on the Sunday, when Mrs. Turner was away.

Dr. Pollard gave his account of how he was called by Mrs. Turner to Poplar Plains road and saw Rose Winters. He concluded from what he saw, and Mrs. Turner having told him that the girl had had a m'scarriage, that she was suffering from blood-poisoning.

James Canty gave evidence, identifying the body exhumed as that of Rose Winters. Canty repeated the evidence given by him at the inquest. The hearing of the case was adjourned until this morning.

claimed a well-known authority. "The numerous cases of stomach trouble, kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the druking of water, nature's greatest medicines, has been neglected.

"Stop loading your system with patent medicines and cure-alls; but get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicines—plain, common vegetable treatment, which will not shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach."

When requested for such a prescription for the cure of rheumatism and kidney trouble the answer was: "You

They nust be made to strain out of the blood he waste matter and acids that cause rhematism; the urine must be neutralized so that it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and, most of all, you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions I would suggest the following prescription, which is composed of only vegetable ingredients, which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy. Anyone can mix them by shaking well in a bottle. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; rheumatism; the urine must be neutral tle. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. To be taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often." This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

JAPANESE TREATY.

Japanese Envoy Talks of His Visit to Premier Laurier—Government Would Like Restriction—Complaints of Vancouver Boardinghouse Keepers-Arrival of Another Shipload From

Ottawa, Sept. 20.-Mr. Ishii, Envoy of Japan, who has been in Ottawa since Sunday last to discuss with the Government the question of Japanese immigra-tion into Canada, left this morning for Chicago. He does not expect to return to Ottawa before leaving for Japan, where he will explain to the Mikado's Government the situation here as fully detailed to him during his stay in the capital. Mr. Ishii showed every desire to get the Canadian viewpoint on Orito get the Canadian viewpoint on Oriental immigration, and impressed the Ministers-here with his broadminded and rational grasp of the situation. The Government have good reason to believe that as a result of his report to Tokio the Japanese Govtrnment will accede to the Canadian Government's request that Japanese immigration to Canada be restricted to 600 per year. It may, however, he some months before a definite understanding is reached. The Government have no desire to abrogate the present treaty with Japan, giving unrestricted freedom of access to all Japanese subjects entering Canada, unless it is found that the present negotiations prove abortive. The abrogation of the treaty would forfeit the special tariff considerations Canada now has from Japan, and would seriously militariff considerations Canada now has from Japan, and would seriously militate against the continuance of the present rapid growth of Camadian trade with that country; and any cessation of the present favorable trade relations with Japan would be felt most seriously by British Columbia.

However, if it should become a question of choosing between a continuance of a large Japanese influx of immigrants into British Columbia and the abrogation of the treaty, the Governabrogation of the treaty, the Govern abrogation of the treaty, the Government will not hesitate to abrogate the treaty. As to the conditions under which the treaty can be abrogated there is possibly some room for doubt. In the Act passed last year the Canadian Parliament agreed, practically unanimously, that the provisions of Great Britain's treaty with Japan should apply also to Canada. Under the conditions of that treaty each power bound itself to observe the agreement for at least eleven years from the date of its ratification, namely, July, 1899. The treaty consequently has three years to run. In respect to the Canadian agreement, however, a clause was added stating that it should remain in force 'until the expiration of six months from the date on which one of the high contracting parties shall have announced the intention of terminating it." The two parts of the agreement seem to be anomalous in this respect. Want Scientific Temperance in the Schools.

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—The W. C. T. U. convention has been a big success, and many recruits were added to the organization. At the concluding session a paper was read by Mrs. McKee, advocating the curfew bell in Winnipeg. A resolution was passed asking the Dominion Government to appoint an inspector of prisons where women are confined. It was not decided where the next biennial convention will be held. A number of appropriations were made.

The most important matter was the resolution passed by the Executive, that an advisory board composed of eight gentlemen representing every Province be chosen to confer with the Dominion superintendent of scientific temperance instruction in regard to the best means of introducing this subject into the public schools.

In her closing remarks President Wright said no convention of the W. C. T. U. had tended more than this to weld the Provinces together. She leaves to-morrow on a western tour, and will visit a number of places previous to attending the Territorial convention in Edmonton in October.

tive position so long as the rods or ties C lie horizontally. Upon the upper ends of these arms, B B B B, are placed the beams D D, which simply rest on these arms. Any suitable superstructure as E E completes the bridge by forming a roadway.

It therefore is self-evident that the piers A A support the entire structure, and must be strong enough to withstand any crushing pressure; the parts B B must be rigid to prevent them from bending, though the rods C C have no strain upon them except an endwise pull and require no stiffness. Furthermore, that the material from which such a bridge is built must have relation to the combination of suspension, cantilever and arch. I have drawn a dotted line on the plan to indicate how the suspending cables would hang. Of course the bracing of the superstructure would have to be correspondingly changed and the extensions of the piers should be made extraordinarily strong.

ordinarily strong.

By making the incomplete arch continuous, which springs from the central piers (as I have marked on the designer's plan) the bridge would be enormously strengthened. Making these changes would not add to the weight of the bridge, as what is added in one place is taken from another.

I have refrained from using any technical terms, my purpose being to make plain what seems to be a mystery to the public.
