The Evening Chit-Chat

By REED CAMERON

It is not raining rain to me, It's raining daffodils; In every dimpled drop I see Wild flowers on the hills.

The clouds of errand engulf the day, And overwhelm the town; It is not raining rain to me, It's raining roses down.

A health unto the happy, A fig for him who frets! It is not raining rain to me, It's raining violets.

—Robert Loveman.

It is pretty hard to see the daffodils in the rain, when that particular day on which you planned to go sky-larking turns out rainy, isn't it?

And yet the daffodils are so pretty sure to be there, and often many more of them than you realize.

This is a word for discouraged and rebellious people.

People to whom some wrench, some disappointment, some very unwelcome change in life has come.

Dear folks, it is hard for you to believe that in your particular change or disappointment there can be any preparation for future happiness, but truly there may be.

Again and again, even in my small individual experience, I have seen it happen that the sharp ungentle turn of the road that seemed so cruel and unnecessary, has been the very turn that led straight to the land of heart's desire.

And more than once I have seen the shock of sudden misfortune and suffering turn the trend of a life out of some unfortunate rut into which it had gotten.

Once on a time was a woman who went wrong, and because she thought it would be too hard to get back, and because she thought she was having a good time, stayed wrong. Continual merry-making and the possession of beautiful things, and admiration and the semblance of love, hid the horror and emptiness of her life from her, until one day what she considered a terrible misfortune came to her.

She became very ill of typhoid fever. Everyone deserted her. She was friendless and alone and in want. And, with all that had hid it from her stripped away, she saw the horror and emptiness of her life—saw it so plainly that she turned away from it forever. And to-day she is a good and happy woman with a home and children.

If she had known how to pray she would have surely prayed that the sickness should have been averted, and yet she would have been praying for destruction.

Out of the rain of disillusionment came the daffodils of peace and happiness.

The woman who repeated to me the quotation which follows probably knew as great a disappointment as any woman could, for, on what was to have been her wedding day, she found that her lover was unfaithful to her. As she quoted this, she said, "I have found it true."

"There is help in the still places of life, its retreats, its withdrawals for communion with God and one's own soul. Bereavement is one of the still places of life; disappointment is another; pain is another. We come out of deep bereavements, out of all the seriously arresting experiences of life, if we accept such experiences in the right spirit, with clarified wisdom, with renewed faith, with better adjustment to the Divine Plan. At first it may seem, when we are called aside into the still places, like a turning back of life upon itself, an undoing of all its hopes and purposes. But by and by we learn that the still place is instead a place where life gathers itself together, finds itself, heads with new power and usefulness in the direction which God indicates

Silence!

The instep of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as strictly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

Twitching of the Nerves

Wonderful cures brought about by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

It is only by watching the symptoms of nervous exhaustion and applying restorative treatment that you can ever hope to ward off locomotor ataxia and paralysis.

Mrs. E. J. Vanderburgh, of Eastern Welland Ave., St. Catharines, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, also twitching of the nerves and nervous headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was distressing and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.

"I tried a hundred remedies in vain. After having used half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my old trouble had entirely vanished, and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood."

Such cases as this prove the wonderful efficiency of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way by enriching the blood and its benefits are lasting. 50 cts. a box; all dealers of Edmanston, Latex & Co., Toronto.

Take a number of stoned cherries insert a peanut in each, pile them on lettuce leaves and cover with mayonnaise to make an attractive salad.

After scrubbing potatoes to bake, grease them with lard, and the outer skins will come off like so much charred paper when the potatoes are served.

Wet mildewed spots on white goods with sour buttermilk and place in the sun. If this is repeated several times the mildew will generally disappear.

To prevent preserves from moulding, place a disc of oiled paper on top of the fruit, and on this pour a tablespoonful of brandy. Then fasten on the top.

To prevent starch from sticking to the irons, and to gain a finer gloss add a tablespoonful of kerosene to a quart of starch when it is cooked, stirring well.

A tablespoonful of kerosene to a gallon of clear, warm water is excellent for washing windows and mirrors, as it cleans without leaving a streaked effect.

For a milk sherbet, turn a quart of milk and two cupfuls of sugar into the freezer and when nearly frozen add the juice of three lemons. Freeze it stiff.

Charles P. Knapp, Banker, Convicted.

Binghamton, N.Y., June 24.—Chas. P. Knapp, one of the firm of Knapp Brothers, private bankers of deposit, New York, which failed over a year ago, at the time the Binghamton Trust Company doors were closed, this morning was convicted of receiving a deposit in his bank on the day before it closed, knowing at the time that the bank was insolvent. The trial has been in progress since June 13th. The jury retired late yesterday afternoon and reconvened at the opening of the court this morning. Knapp was immediately sentenced to Auburn prison for not less than 15 months nor more than two years. The failure of Knapp Brothers was due to excessive and unsecured loans to the Outing Magazine publishers, and it was the crash of the banking firm that caused the suspension and subsequent liquidation of the Binghamton Trust Company. Chas. J. Knapp, an uncle of the man just convicted and a member of Knapp Brothers, as well as President of the Binghamton Trust Company, is indicted on a similar charge.

Trial by Rice.

They have peculiar methods of trying suspects in Bengal. One of these is called "trial by rice." Every person suspected was ordered to be present, and all turned up. First the people were made to sit in a semicircle, and a "plate" (a square of plantain leaf) was set before each. Then a priest walked up and down chanting and scattering flowers. This ceremony over, one of the clerks went to each man and gave him raw rice, and told him to chew it to a pulp. After about ten minutes they were told to stop and eject it into the plantain leaf. All did so easily, with the exception of three men. One of these promptly commenced to cry and begged for mercy, confessing everything and stating that another of the three was the chief instigator. It is a curious fact that fear, arising from an evil conscience, prevents saliva coming to the mouth, with the result described.—London Globe.
