PEKIN, To-day.
Premier Yuan Shi Kai's new cabinet has been named in an Imperial edict, but it is questionable whether it will stand. One of the members expressed amazement at his appointment. It is believed that few of the new ministers have been consulted and it is expected that a number of them will decline to serve. Several members of the new cabinet are known to be strong sympathizers with the revolutionary movement. The Organization Cabinet as it now stands, is evidently an attempt to include in it personal representation of all parties. Reports reach here of the murder of a German in Shen Si and of a French priest in Sze Chuen Province, but these are isolated instances of harm coming to foreigners.

BERLIN, To-day.
Sharp earthquakes occurred last night at Munich, Strasbourg, Mayence, Frankfurt, and Stuttgart. The shocks were felt quite severely at Stuttgart and Frankfurt. At Frankfurt several houses were badly shaken and half clad people rushed into the streets. Big cracks appeared in the walls of several buildings at Stuttgart. Household furniture was overturned and pictures fell from walls.

NEW YORK, To-day.
Smaller battleships and cruisers are advocated by Sir William White, the former Chief Constructor of the British Navy, in an address at a meeting of the Society of Naval Architects in regard to merchant ships. Sir William said the upper limit in size had been reached for Transatlantic service in the largest steamers already.

ST. PETERSBURG, To-day.
As no reply has been received from the Persian Government to the Russian ultimatum of Nov. 11th. It is officially announced that the Government has ordered the immediate despatch of troops to Persia. They will be concentrated for the present at Harbin, 90 miles N.W. of Teheran.

MONTREAL, To-day.
The waning of the power of the church in relation to the community as a whole was admitted by Rev. Mr. Campbell, pastor of the City Temple, London. His address was made at a luncheon at the Congregational Club.

LONDON, To-day.
Both Vienna and Constantinople report that Italy has consented to postpone naval operations in Turkish waters. This is the result of the protest of the Powers.

LONDON, To-day.
To render more efficacious the National War against consumption, the Local Government Board has issued an order making notification of the disease compulsory.

Religious Profession At St. Mary's.

The solemn and impressive ceremony of Religious Profession took place in the Parish School on Monday 13th inst. The two young ladies receiving the black veil and making their final vows were Miss Katie Doyle of St. John's West, in religion, Sister M. Cecilia. High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. S. O'Driscoll, P.P., assisted by Rev. W. O'Flaherty, P.P. Salomon. Rev. S. O'Driscoll preached eloquent and instructive discourse. The church was filled with a large congregation. Many from Holyrood, St. Mary's Bay, Point La Haze, etc., having come to St. Mary's for the ceremony. The singing of the choir was exceptionally good. The children of the convent schools were present attired in white. The altar and church was beautifully decorated. The clergy and friends of the new religious entertained to dinner at convent.

Clark-Urban Co.

The matinee given by the Clark-Urban Co. yesterday in aid of the city orphanage was largely attended, nearly all the seats in the hall being filled. At night the company staged "Sold Into Slavery" in presence of another full house. The different characters were cleverly taken, and rounds of applause greeted the performers. Tonight the company will produce "The Girl From Out Yonder," which is without doubt one of the best pieces in the repertoire. The farewell performance will be "His Last Dollar," which is also a very popular play and is certain to draw a full house.

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.
With all the dignity of a State ceremonial graced by an assemblage which, for brilliancy, has never been equaled in the history of similar functions, the first session of Canada's twelfth parliament was opened yesterday afternoon by the Duke of Connaught. For the first time on any such occasion, two Royal salutes were fired, it being the occasion of the arrival of His Royal Highness, The Lieutenant-Governors of all the neighbouring provinces, as well as a brilliant gathering of society leaders, were present. The appointment of a Tariff Commission, and Dominion co-operation with the provinces, with a view to securing better highways, were the two important items of constructive legislation in the Speech from the Throne.

LONDON, Nov. 16.
British delegates to the forthcoming Conference at the Hague, have been selected and officially appointed. A definite programme for the Conference, the necessity for which was pointed out by Britain some time ago, has not yet reached the British Government, and the Foreign Office explains that it is therefore not in a position to draw up the instructions necessary for the delegates.

PEKIN, Nov. 16.
Premier Yuan Shi Kai today picked his cabinet which has only Manchus included in it. Some of the ablest men in China are omitted, but under the circumstances the ministry is considered satisfactory. According to consular reports, 30,000 Imperial troops at Hang Chow, the capital of the Kiang Province, have joined the rebels, defeated the local troops from Nanking, and Ching Kiang combined forces and are now marching on Nanking, where a battle with the Manchus army is pending.

A Letter of Appreciation and a Timely Suggestion

FROM THE PREMIER OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

PRIME MINISTER'S OFFICE,

St. John's, Newfoundland,

November, 15th, 1911.

Cecil Weatherly, Esq.,

The Cambridge University Press,

Board of Trade Building, St. John's.

Dear Sir,

As one of the earliest possessors, in Newfoundland, of the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, I feel that it may not come amiss from me to express to you my sincere hope that many sets of the work may be distributed throughout this island either in private hands or in public or other institutions. I say this, because I am convinced, that if we wish to heighten our educational standards and to encourage progress in every direction, intellectual and material, we can find no better way than by providing ready access to books. In the absence of public libraries--this is one of the great needs of Newfoundland at the present time--the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica seems to me to supply that need in the most admirable way for, rightly considered, it is a collection of books, written by high authorities, and covering practically every subject.

I wish it were possible to place it within the reach of every student, whatever his future business in life is to be, should like every one who takes an interest in the public life of the island to grapple with the problems which face us at every turn, with subjects such as agriculture, or questions such as housing, sanitation, and the like, and with their relation to the ravages of tuberculosis and other disease.

It is by the experience of others, their success and failures that we can best guide our own footsteps in the path of progress.

Turning to the practical side of the book, I have been much struck, as a lawyer, with the value of the legal articles collected together they would form, I believe, an admirable manual of legal principles and practice. If the medical, the logical and other similar subjects are treated on the same scale, as they apparently are, I can conceive of no more valuable adjunct to a professional business, or tradesman's library than the Encyclopaedia. May I suggest to you that you should try to induce the various societies, unions, clubs, and other institutions in St. John's and elsewhere, to consider very carefully the possibility, by means of subscriptions or donations, of securing the work for their libraries. If indeed, they have a library, they could not, I am certain, do better than lay the foundation of one by acquiring the new Encyclopaedia.

Yours faithfully
E. H. Murdo
