ALSO REPORTS APPEARING IN OPPOSITION PAPERS EXPOSED WOODFORD AND JONES VICTORIES ALL ALONG THE LINE—BUMPER MEETINGS AT HARBOR MAIN, HOLYROOD, COLLIERIES AND SEAL COVE—DISTRICT IS SOLID FOR LIBERAL PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATES.

Special to Evening Telegram.

HARBOR MAIN, Oct. 21. Hon. W. Woodford, Minister of the Works, and his colleague, Dr. E. Jones, the popular candidates for the Liberal Progressive Party in Harbor Main District, have been in the past few days canvassing the district and have received the whole-hearted endorsement of the section visited by them. They have also been assured that an enthusiastic welcome awaits them in those places they have not yet reached, and as they proceed it is becoming more and more apparent that the contest will result in a record victory for them. Attempts have been made by the Opposition journals to discredit the overflow meetings of the popular Government candidates, and they have resorted to every means their power to deceive the public in this regard but their efforts have been fruitless for their lying reports have only served to show the people at little regard for truth the publishers of these journals have and as papers only indicate the general interests of the Party they are supporting and advertising they have further served to show the people how unreliable are the persons from whom reports have emanated and it is rightly realized that those persons are capable of greater misdeeds if entrusted with the handling of public affairs.

The hall at Mr. Main was filled to overflowing and the meeting was one of the best attended ever held in that thriving town, exceeding in fact those that took place in 1889 when Mr. Woodford and Judge Morris were colleagues and when the district went solid for them returning them with a record majority. Mr. Patrick Hannan was elected chairman of the meeting and expressed his satisfaction at the keen attention given the speakers and at the enthusiastic manner in which all present responded to the calls for their support in the coming election. Even the most pessimistic had to admit that the whole town is solid for Woodford and Jones and the Liberal Progressive Party and that another record straight ticket vote will be recorded there on polling day.

At Colliers the meeting was a most enthusiastic one and was attended by all within reach of the meeting place, some of those present coming quite a distance to assure the Government representatives of their support and to add their voices to the hearty acclamations. The meeting unanimously elected Mr. Charles Poole, chairman, and thus added further strength to the Government cause at the same time driving a nail in the Opposition coffin because Mr. J. T. Meaney and his supporters had been working overtime in an endeavour to induce Mr. Poole to support them. But Mr. Poole, who is much respected and highly esteemed teacher of Colliers, would have nothing to do with them, firmly adhering to his decision to support the Liberal Progressive candidates in the best interests of the district and the country. Here, too, the speaker was greeted with burst of cheering and had no difficulty in convincing the intelligent listeners that in Sir Michael Cashin they have a man in whom they can place the fullest trust and that those associated with him constitute and represent the best elements in our public life at the present time. Colliers has always been one of Mr. Woodford's strongholds and practically every resident took the opportunity to assure him and Dr. Jones that there is no change of sentiment there and they can count on a solid vote from this important section.

Another wonderful meeting was held at Seal Cove and the enthusiasm displayed by all who attended was a very pleasant surprise to the leader of the team as many of the people residing there were opposed to him at the last election. The sentiment of this section, however, has completely changed and the entire vote there will go in support of the Government candidates. Both speakers were greeted with prolonged outbursts of cheering and clapping and delivered the greatest attention when delivering their addresses. There could be no mistaking the determination of the meeting and the declarations of all present made it clear that the self-styled reformers will receive short shift at their hands.

At Holyrood on Monday night Messrs. Woodford and Jones held a meeting which for attendance and enthusiasm will not be equalled throughout the entire country. It has been thoroughly recognized all along that for six or seven years the district decided to vote the entire population was strong for the Liberal Progressive candidates and hence the fact that the spacious hall could not hold all those who were desirous of attending occasioned no very great surprise. Mr. Michael Dunphy was elected chairman to the great satisfaction and with the hearty support of all. Mr. Woodford spoke for over an hour, and dealt exhaustively with the many issues of the day. He paid particular attention to the description of the district and the fact that the Liberal Progressive team was endeavoring to make capital out of this by denouncing him throughout the district for supporting the measure, but he explained clearly the reasons which induced the Government to pass a Conspiracy Act, and so logical and convincing were his statements that the entire audience concurred in them and cheered him loud and long. There were many present whose sons had gone overseas to fight their Empire's battles for right and justice and who were proud of the fact and these deplored the introduction by Mr. Meaney of this most important matter into the fight for personal political purposes. Mr. Woodford also dealt with the various other public questions in a manner that earned the approval of all. Concluding he was cheered to the echo and it must have been very gratifying to him to have his whole political career endorsed in this enthusiastic and unmistakable manner and to be assured that he retains in such great measure the high regard and esteem of all. The oration of Dr. Jones who immediately followed his leader afforded the greatest pleasure to all who were fortunate enough to be present and who had an opportunity of hearing an able address in the initial stage of the campaign from one who is destined before long to make his mark in our Legislative halls. Dr. Jones spoke at length with an ease and grace that is all his own and he delighted his hearers by the comprehensive and logical manner in which he dealt with the many important public questions. He took the opportunity of refuting the charge made by his opponents that he had "killed" Mr. George Kennedy. He explained that he had assurances before entering the field from Mr. Kennedy himself that he (Mr. Kennedy) was not anxious to contest the district and intended to retire, and in making this statement he settled another of the empty falsehoods proffered by the opposition candidates. An interesting development was the statement by Dr. Jones that he had had three visits from Mr. Squire who was desperately anxious to secure his support and who offered him an Executive seat and his refusal of this is regarded by all as a proof of his honest endeavour to forward the interests of his constituents no matter in what capacity he may be placed. He also spoke on other matters of local and national importance and concluded with a pointed review of the manifesto of Sir Michael Cashin indicating his concurrence in the plans of the Liberal Progressive Party for the betterment of the country and its people. He was also approved by an outburst of cheering by the entire audience who were delighted with his graceful and forceful address and with the statesmanlike manner in which he delivered his remarks.

There can be no doubt about the outcome in the district of Harbor Main. A solid ticket vote is now assured from the entire section from Seal Cove to Turks Gut and there is every indication that Mr. Woodford and Dr. Jones are going to establish a record that will live forever in the district. The self-styled reformers may rave on, they may continue their desperate efforts to attract attention, but they cannot win the support or regard of the intelligent and right-minded electors of this important district who have already placed a correct valuation on the vain glorious and unscrupulous adventurers who compose the political aggregation which they have styled the Liberal Reform Party.

Romance of the Strong Room.

ASTONISHING FACTS ABOUT THE MODERN SAFE DEPOSIT AND ITS DEFIANCE OF THE BURGLAR'S ART.

In a Devonshire church visitors are shown a rough, oaken chest bound with clamps of iron, which is not less than six hundred years old, and which was originally made to hold the communion plate.

It is a curious evidence of how slowly invention moved during the Middle Ages, to find that the Bank of England a similar chest which was the only safe possessed by the Bank when it was incorporated in 1694. A seventeenth century burglar could have opened any safe of the day with a saw and a chisel, while such a thing as a fire-proof safe was not heard of until the year 1801.

It was a very long time before the iron-bound chest was superseded, but during the eighteenth century some of the more up-to-date banks—for instance, that of Mr. Thomas Coutts—built strong rooms of a kind.

These were constructed of brick. They were in fact, nothing but cellars built with stout red brick walls.

Finding that thieves were able to tunnel into these, blue Staffordshire bricks were used and were set in cement. The doors were made of cast-iron. These, though a vast improvement on their predecessors, were not burglar-proof, so then came rooms made entirely of iron.

In 1840 Mr. Milner, who was an inventor very much ahead of his time, patented a safe which was really fire-proof. The safe had double sides, and between them a layer of sawdust in which were embedded small tubes filled with alkaline salt. If a fire occurred the heat burst the tubes and the sawdust was soaked with moisture, while a heat resisting crust was formed on the inner plate.

Guarded by Water and Steam.

This principle holds good to-day. The safe that succeeded the cast-iron arrangement was made of steel. Special steel plates were employed, as tough and as hard as those used for armouring battleships.

No money was spared. Take for example, the Bank of England strong-room, which is one of the largest and strongest in the world. Its foundations are nearly seventy feet below the level of the street, and its bed of concrete is no less than twenty feet in thickness. Above this lies seven feet deep, so that anyone who did succeed in tunnelling through the concrete would infallibly be drowned. Next come tremendous plates of wrought-iron. Above, the protection is the same—concrete and water. The doors are incredibly massive, each weighing four tons. They are made of a compound of flint and iron, and no tool has been invented that could cut them.

The vault beneath one of the big New York banks goes a step or two further in the matter of defence, for here the ingenuity of the inventor has placed the strong-room itself upon concrete piers. A passage runs around three sides, and along it are mirrors so cleverly arranged that the watchman on duty can see every part of the vast safe—back, sides, and bottom—at once.

If an attack should take place, he has but to turn a tap, and jets of super-heated steam would make life impossible for the assailants.

This particular strong-room weighs 300 tons, its walls are of five different layers of steel, while it has double doors of which the outer weighs 12,000 pounds, and is opened and closed by hydraulic power.

In England electric alarms have been brought to a very high pitch of perfection, and are so arranged that the intending burglar cannot tell where the wires are, and indeed cannot possibly get at them to cut them.

Some Daring Raids.

To read the newspapers, one might well imagine that the United States was the home of the only criminal daring and scientific enough to attempt to burgle a strong-room.

This is by no means the case, and, as a matter of fact, one of the boldest yet most skillfully engineered of bank raids ever carried out in New York, was the work of an European gang, under the leadership of Harry Raymond, notorious for the theft of the famous Gainsborough picture.

The gang purchased a small tobacco-shop next the bank, and with the aid of miners' drills cut a shaft twelve feet square through the cement floor of the shop, and thence opened a tunnel under the bank. They could only work at night, and they had to carry away all the debris in handbags.

After two months' toil they reached the steel wall of the strong-room, spent all one Sunday drilling through it, and got away with £250,000 in notes, bullion, and jewels.

In May, 1906, a bank in St. James' Street, London, was tackled in a similar fashion and similar success. As an example of the patience of the modern crackmen, it would be difficult to beat the robbery committed at the Caps of Good Hope Bank at Kimberley.

The bank vault was built of stone and cement. The walls were three feet thick, and outside them were an outer wall 2 feet thick, and no few-

The Road to Health is Smooth and Clear If You Use Nujol

THE real Road to Health is an intestinal highway 50 feet long. When Constipation clogs this road, it's the same as when a landslide blocks a mountain pass. There is no difference, however. Constipation not only blocks the way, but breeds poisons which menace health.

The obstructive in the mountain pass can be blown out with dynamite, and the obstructions in the intestines CAN be blown out with powerful drugs—but any drug powerful enough to do this is bound to harm the body.

There is only one way to relieve Constipation without in the least imperiling the delicate mechanism of the human system.

That is the NUJOL way. NUJOL is a natural, harmless, it is NOT a drug. Not a particle of it is assimilated by the body. All it does is to soften the mass impured in the colon and lubricate the way to normal expulsion. NUJOL does this without causing any pain or discomfort. It does not in any way interfere with the digestive processes. It has no more effect on the delicate membranes and tissues than to smooth and soothe them.

It's a healing force which gently but effectively removes the intestinal obstruction, and performs this great service to health without in any way lessening Nature's provisions for protection. Its sole province is to help Nature help herself.

Nearly everyone is subject to Constipation at some time or other. Nearly everyone has proved the worthlessness of ordinary "remedies" as to lasting results. Now try Nujol—and learn that there is a lasting relief for this curse.

For valuable health booklet—"Thirty Feet of Danger"—free, write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) 50 Broadway, N.Y.

Warning: Nujol is sold only in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. All other prices, names or Nujol, is an easy way from deception.

LORD BERESFORD'S PREDE

As I watched Lord Beresford's service at St. Paul's there across my mind a prediction he made a year ago. He happened to the Central Hall, Westminster after the great meeting of the Liberal and Conservative Party. He launched the Coalition on the real Election voyage, as the said I did. "A very fine meeting," Beresford said. "Yes," said the door, in his throaty voice, "indeed; but there was one on the platform there who'll spend whole thing within a year. You may words. Wherever Churchill trouble is bound to follow his course Lord Beresford had an rigorous feud with Churchill; events have gone lately, he thought sometimes that his pre was coming true.

A FAMOUS COACHMAN

Alfred James Wright, coachman of Lord Mayors of London, the long period of 27 years, did an illness extending over three years. He was a famous London coachman and will be long remembered by crowds who during his long term of office were fascinated by the figure he made on the box seat of City State Coach on its annual tour from the Guildhall to the Law. The splendour of his livery, a panoply of civic state with which he was always surrounded made it of the most impressive coachman.
